IN THE LIMELIGHT

Rittmeister von Langen (on the right), who drives a motor for the crown prince of Germany, and an officer (on the left). A chauffeur of high degree.

[Press Dept. Eastman Kodak Co.]

Belle da Costa Greene, the young woman in charge of J. P. Morgan's private library. She gets more than $10,000 a year for knowing things. One of the world's most valuable collections of rare prints is entrusted to her care.

[Photo copyright by Paul Thompson.]

Dr. Helfferich, director of the German bank, now called to the position of secretary of the treasury, a big war responsibility.

[Bildercentrale des Deutschen Ueberseedienstes.]

The Hon. Clarissa Tennant, only daughter of Lord Glenconner and a niece of Mrs. Asquith, wife of the British premier. She is one of the organizers of the British Red Cross headquarters.

[Photo by International Publishing Bureau.]