

Labor Laws and Michigan Agriculture: 1984

By Allen E. Shapley

Farm Labor Specialist, Dept. of Agricultural Economics

All farm employers and employees should be aware of, and understand, the various laws pertaining to labor. This publication is an attempt to create such awareness, and then lists references where one can go for fuller understanding. There is a special section on page 4 on the laws as they apply to youth.

Federal Minimum Wage Law

Who Must Comply?

Any farmer employing enough workers to have 500 man-days of hired work performed on the farm during any quarter (calendar) of the preceding calendar year must comply. The 500 man-day test includes any employee who performs work for one hour or more during any day.

— Workers included in determining the 500 man-day test but who need not be paid the minimum wage include:

- a) Workers who care for range livestock and who must be available at all hours.
- b) Youths 16 or under employed with their parents in harvesting crops and traditionally paid on a piece-rate basis (such youths must be paid the same piece rate as the adults with whom they are working).
- c) Local workers who commute daily from their permanent residence, are traditionally paid on a piece-rate basis, and are employed less than 13 weeks per year. (However, workers 18 and over in this category must be paid at least the State minimum piece rate.)

— Workers in the employer's immediate family are excluded from both the 500 man-day test and the minimum wage requirement.

What Must Be Done?

—At least $3.35 per hour must be paid to all covered employees. Agricultural workers are exempt from the overtime pay provisions unless the worker is involved in handling produce taken in from other farmers.

—Records of hours worked and wages paid must be kept for each employee and a statement provided to each employee each pay period.

—Children under 12 must not be employed except when the employer is the parent or on farms too small to meet the "500 man-day" test.

—Twelve or 13-year-olds must not be employed unless: (a) the employer obtains written parental consent, (b) their parents are employed on the same farm, or (c) the farm is too small to meet the "500 man-day" test.

What May Be Done?

—A reasonable cost for goods and services traditionally supplied by the employer may be deducted from wages with written consent of the worker.

—Full-time students may be employed at 85% of minimum wage if approved by U.S. Department of Labor.

Federal and State Laws on Youth Employment

Many laws speak to the protection of children in employment. These are discussed below within the categories: age, school, wage, unemployment and safety.

Laws Pertaining to Age

—Youths of any age can be employed on farms with less than 500 man-days of hired labor in a calendar quarter.

—On farms with 500 or more man-days of hired labor, children under 12 cannot be hired. Twelve- and 13-year-olds can be employed with parents' written permission or on the same farm with parents.

Laws Pertaining to School

—Youths 16 or over or on a school co-op assignment can work any time.

—Youths under 16 can work any hours that the local school is not in session.

Laws Pertaining to Wage

—On farms with less than 500 man-days of hired labor in a calendar quarter, youths under 18 are exempt from state and federal minimum wage.

—On farms with 500 or more man-days of hired labor in a calendar quarter, full-time high school students may be paid 85% of the minimum wage with the approval of the U.S. Department of Labor, and youths 16 or under employed with their parents in harvesting crops and paid on a piece-rate basis must be paid the same piece rate as their parents but need not be guaranteed the minimum wage.

Laws Pertaining to Unemployment

—Youths under 18 attending school can be employed part-time during the school year or full-time during the summer and still be exempt from the state unemployment insurance law. However, a federal (FUTA) tax of 3.4% is charged on such youths.

Laws Pertaining to Safety

—A federal law includes standards for youths employed on farms. Youths under 16 can perform all tasks except those labeled as "hazardous" by the U.S. Department of Labor. The hazardous occupations include such things as operating tractors over 20 pto H.P., using dynamite, working on ladders over 20 ft. in the air or handling chemicals. Many of the hazardous occupations can be performed by youths 14 and over through a certification process by the County Cooperative Extension Service or Vocational Agriculture department in the local school (a complete list of the hazardous occupations and certification procedures are available from the County Cooperative Extension office, Agricultural Engineering Series Bulletin #315).

—There is no state law covering hazardous occupations for youth in agriculture.
