Woman Member of the Board is Elected Secretary and Treasurer

FEBRUARY 25, 1925

The Michigan Farm Bureau News is keeping track of the seed staining legislation for farmers. It is one of the very few news items that are directly related to the work of the lawmakers. The Farm Bureau has been very active in this area, working with the Farm Bureau Federation, the American Farm Bureau Federation, and with local chapters to ensure that farmers have access to the best seeds available.

Mrs. Sewell Speaks On "Why I Am Glad I Married A Farmer"

She begins her speech by saying, "I am glad that I married a farmer. It has made me a better wife, mother, and woman. He has given me a deeper understanding of rural life and the needs of farmers."

Then she goes on to discuss the many benefits of being married to a farmer, such as the increased opportunities for travel, the chance to work on the farm and develop a sense of responsibility, and the ability to contribute to the community in meaningful ways. She concludes by saying, "I am grateful for the life I have been able to lead as the wife of a farmer, and I know that many others share my feelings of pride and satisfaction."

When the Michigan delegates blocked the Great Lakes Tidewater Committee's resolution to place the American Farm Bureau on record as approving MICH. DELEGATES' resolution has always been right in regard to the opening of the Great Lakes, and that the route to Northern Europe by the way of the Great Lakes would be cheaper, quicker, and better than is now the case. The Michigan delegates do not believe this, and they are acting in favor ofoyer a surplus food producing country. The industrious product will be reflected, due to the change of the balance of trade, in the shaded picture of Michigan. The industrious product of Michigan. The industrious picture of Michigan. This Is Seed Staining Bill

Taverned by the American and Michigan State Farm Bureaus for Protecting American Farmers From Drainage of the United States into the Tidewater, and Sells seeds of Domestic Value

H. R. 8118 (the Gooding-Ketcham bill) provides for staining with various colors to indicate the point of origin of all imported red clover and alfalfa seeds. It has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Gooding of Idaho, in the House by Congressman Ketcham of New York. MICHIGAN DELEGATES hope the public schools of New York, and the public schools of the state of New York, to travel 350 miles north in order to do business.
