A NATION CANNOT ENDURE ON ITS MANUFACTURING ALONE

4,000 at Ninth Annual American Farm Bureau Convention Endorse M'Nary-Haugen Farm Relief Plan

Convention Demands for a Sound Farm Policy; Re-Elects Pres. Sam Thompson For Two Years, M. I. Noon of Michigan Continued as Director

Chicago, Dec. 8—Four thousand delegates and Farm Bureau members registered at the 9th annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation held here the past three days, and the greatest convention in the history of the organization.

The convention was unanimous in demanding a sound national agricultural policy which will place farming as an industry on an equal basis with business and industry. It stood solidly behind the McNary-Haugen sugar-restraint plan as the foundation for such a sound agricultural policy and asked Congress to pass again this session legislation containing McNary-Haugen principle.

Never had a convention been more in accord than this one. From the opening day, it was clear that delegates from the Pacific to the Great Lakes, and from the Gulf of Mexico to the Canadian line, and from all that vast territory within those lines, were as one in the matter of farm relief.

WAR TO FINISH IS PROMISED CO-OPS BY TRADE ASS'N

Detroit News Finds Big Group Is Preparing For Hostilities

Chicago Dec. 1—"War to finish is promised co-ops by trade ass'n," said the Detroit News.

Many high officials, including 500 representatives of industrial and agricultural organizations, who gathered here for the war aid campaign sponsored by the Commercial Club, declared to the News that they were preparing for hostilities.

Under the leadership of Edward O'Neal of Alabama, who was named as vice-president, and the following vice-presidents and secretary, a co-operative plan and knew that they were going to stand firm against the farmers' co-operative movement was declared yesterday by the meeting mentioned a $1,000,000 war fund to be raised for the purpose of fighting the co-operatives, but this we are receiving from the Government and the fertilizer and farm implementers, the cotton shippers, the fruit dealers, the railroads, together on it.

What Is Extension Policy Doing to Our Farm Bureau?

MRS. WAGAR STIRS

AMERICAN FARM BUREAU MEETING

Bureaus Pay Education Bills, But Ade Nehrburg, Where That's Done

When they do not know much about other things that are going on about them, then the situation is more dangerous than it would be otherwise, and the prospects are that we shall be less able to work for the maintenance and development of the agricultural enterprise as it is at present. The better farmers understand and work for the maintenance and development of the agricultural enterprise, the greater will be the chances of our success and the more likely will be the opportunities for their advancement.

The Government has given some money to the various bureaus which work on Extension. Now, there are many schools of thought which think that Extension work is not worth anything, but that is no reason why we should not try to get the best possible results from the money that has been spent. I believe that the Extension work is doing a great deal of good, and I think that we should be doing more to help it along.

The main reason Extension work has been successful is because it has been so closely connected with the people who are using it. The Extension men have been in close touch with the people they are serving, and they have been able to give them the help they need. The Extension men have been able to give the farmers the facts they need, and they have been able to help them to put those facts to use.

If I had a great deal of money to spend, I would try to get the Extension work to work in close touch with the people who are using it. I would try to get the Extension work to work in close touch with the people who are using it, and I would try to get the Extension work to work in close touch with the people who are using it. I would try to get the Extension work to work in close touch with the people who are using it, and I would try to get the Extension work to work in close touch with the people who are using it.

A Choice Must Be Made

The three-cent gas tax was large enough to make it necessary for the farm people to keep it. The farm people have always been able to keep it. The farm people have always been able to keep it. The farm people have always been able to keep it. The farm people have always been able to keep it.
