KENT CITY OPENS ALFALFA CONTEST

Business Men Sponsor Move To Improve Farms In Their Vicinity

KENT CITY, June 23 — Kent County Business Men have decided to sponsor a move to improve farms in the vicinity, making the first move in a program of improvement designed to benefit the community as a whole. The move will be made possible through the work of the Kent County Farm Bureau, and will be carried out by the cooperation of the Major and Minor boards of directors, the Local Farm Bureau, and the County Farm Bureau.

EDWIN J. ADLER

ALASKAN BLUE FOX BUSINESS GROWING

Last month’s issue of Blue and White, for the Alaska Blue Fox, was published by the Department of Agriculture, U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Fisheries, and was distributed to all Alaska Blue Fox Clubs in the United States.

Walsh Sees Advantages Of Lakes-To-Sea Route

Montana Senator Pleads For International Plan

Address Before Boston Chamber, Western Lawmakers Points Benefits That Will Accrue To Agriculture Throughout Many States

By SEN. J. WALTER

Before Boston Chamber of Commerce, April 12

In the address before the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Senator J. Walter of Montana spoke of the advantages that would accrue to agriculture throughout many states if the international plan for the Lakes-To-Sea Route is adopted. The plan, which is supported by Senator J. Walter, would provide for the construction of a canal connecting the Great Lakes with the St. Lawrence River, opening up new markets for American farmers.

FARM LEADERS IN CONGRESS FAVOR CARRYING M’NARY-HAUGEN MATTER TO KANSAS CITY AS A POLITICAL ISSUE

President Coolidge’s Second Veto Message Says Bill Is Still Highly Objectionable; American Farm Bureau Declares Battle Will Be Renewed With Increased Energy

President Coolidge on May 23, vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill for the second time, and in a sentence, denounces the veto message of some 5,000 words gave his reasons therefor, stating in brief, that the new bill is just as objectionable to him as the first one, that it is price fixing, that it won’t work. Only the sharpest of the veto language was surprising.

It is yet too early to get any idea of the ultimate effect of the veto. The answer lies in the rural voting power in the food producing sections of the country. So far Mr. Hoover, the boyapel to the Coolidge position, has been doing remarkably well in the field of agricultural politics in the convention in June for best results. That transfers the battle ground and eventually should give the voters a clearer choice for the primary and general election. There are yet to come.

Pres. Sam. H. Thompson of the American Farm Bureau federation, who has been a leader for the McNary-Haugen forces, declared that he was disappointed, but that the present administration has come to use the veto as a club to dictate legislation. Mr. Thompson declared that the bill was not defeated, as such, it was done after the first defeat, with the result that the McNary-Haugen plan gained substantial strength in Congress this time.

"Reverting to President Coolidge as one who has repeatedly expressed his determination not to renege on his policy of close control over the farm problem, his veto message contains no indication that the McNary-Haugen bill is even in the consideration of the President's mind."

"The President promised what he meant. He declared that he would not lend himself to the spurious distortions of the McNary-Haugen bill."

"The present administration has come to use the veto as a club to dictate legislation.

"The McNary-Haugen forces are now concentrating on the summer political convention in June for best results. That transfers the battle ground and eventually should give the voters a clearer choice for the primary and general election. There are yet to come.

The American Farm Bureau federation, who has been a leader for the McNary-Haugen forces, declared that he was disappointed, but that the present administration has come to use the veto as a club to dictate legislation. Mr. Thompson declared that the bill was not defeated, as such, it was done after the first defeat, with the result that the McNary-Haugen plan gained substantial strength in Congress this time.

"Reverting to President Coolidge as one who has repeatedly expressed his determination not to renege on his policy of close control over the farm problem, his veto message contains no indication that the McNary-Haugen bill is even in the consideration of the President’s mind."

"The President promised what he meant. He declared that he would not lend himself to the spurious distortions of the McNary-Haugen bill."

"The McNary-Haugen forces are now concentrating on the summer political convention in June for best results. That transfers the battle ground and eventually should give the voters a clearer choice for the primary and general election. There are yet to come.

"The President summarized what the Bureau’s president meant when he said his party was concentrating on the summer political convention in June for best results. That transfers the battle ground and eventually should give the voters a clearer choice for the primary and general election. There are yet to come.

"The tax characterization of the legislation for 1928 was essentially an equitable tax levying system for the protection of agriculture.

"The present administration has come to use the veto as a club to dictate legislation. Mr. Thompson declared that the bill was not defeated, as such, it was done after the first defeat, with the result that the McNary-Haugen plan gained substantial strength in Congress this time.

"Reverting to President Coolidge as one who has repeatedly expressed his determination not to renege on his policy of close control over the farm problem, his veto message contains no indication that the McNary-Haugen bill is even in the consideration of the President’s mind."

"The President promised what he meant. He declared that he would not lend himself to the spurious distortions of the McNary-Haugen bill."

"The McNary-Haugen forces are now concentrating on the summer political convention in June for best results. That transfers the battle ground and eventually should give the voters a clearer choice for the primary and general election. There are yet to come.

"The American Farm Bureau federation, who has been a leader for the McNary-Haugen forces, declared that he was disappointed, but that the present administration has come to use the veto as a club to dictate legislation. Mr. Thompson declared that the bill was not defeated, as such, it was done after the first defeat, with the result that the McNary-Haugen plan gained substantial strength in Congress this time.

"Reverting to President Coolidge as one who has repeatedly expressed his determination not to renege on his policy of close control over the farm problem, his veto message contains no indication that the McNary-Haugen bill is even in the consideration of the President’s mind."

"The President promised what he meant. He declared that he would not lend himself to the spurious distortions of the McNary-Haugen bill."

"The McNary-Haugen forces are now concentrating on the summer political convention in June for best results. That transfers the battle ground and eventually should give the voters a clearer choice for the primary and general election. There are yet to come.

"The American Farm Bureau federation, who has been a leader for the McNary-Haugen forces, declared that he was disappointed, but that the present administration has come to use the veto as a club to dictate legislation. Mr. Thompson declared that the bill was not defeated, as such, it was done after the first defeat, with the result that the McNary-Haugen plan gained substantial strength in Congress this time."
Michigan Farm Bureau Seed Service

Lansing, Michigan

May 25, 1928

Which Will Your Alfalfa Look Like After Three Winters?

Much southern-grown alfalfa seed is blended with good northern seed and sold to southern farmers. Southern-grown seed is not adapted to the rigors of this climate and is usually very susceptible to disease and winter killing. Where the weather is warm alfalfa stands well and is productive, but as soon as the weather gets cold the alfalfa shows signs of stress and disease and quickly dies. This makes it necessary to grow a blend of northern and southern-grown alfalfa seed to get good results.

The main positive influence is from Sab and Rhizoctonia.

Semesol BEN

RALPH E. SMITH

Michigan Farm Bureau Seed Service

Which Will Your Alfalfa Look Like After Three Winters?

Much southern-grown alfalfa seed is blended with good northern seed and sold to southern farmers. Southern-grown seed is not adapted to the rigors of this climate and is usually very susceptible to disease and winter killing. Where the weather is warm alfalfa stands well and is productive, but as soon as the weather gets cold the alfalfa shows signs of stress and disease and quickly dies. This makes it necessary to grow a blend of northern and southern-grown alfalfa seed to get good results.

The most positive influence is from Sab and Rhizoctonia.

Semesol BEN

RALPH E. SMITH

Michigan Farm Bureau Seed Service

Lansing, Michigan

May 25, 1928

Which Will Your Alfalfa Look Like After Three Winters?

Much southern-grown alfalfa seed is blended with good northern seed and sold to southern farmers. Southern-grown seed is not adapted to the rigors of this climate and is usually very susceptible to disease and winter killing. Where the weather is warm alfalfa stands well and is productive, but as soon as the weather gets cold the alfalfa shows signs of stress and disease and quickly dies. This makes it necessary to grow a blend of northern and southern-grown alfalfa seed to get good results.

The main positive influence is from Sab and Rhizoctonia.

Semesol BEN

RALPH E. SMITH

Michigan Farm Bureau Seed Service

Lansing, Michigan

May 25, 1928

Which Will Your Alfalfa Look Like After Three Winters?

Much southern-grown alfalfa seed is blended with good northern seed and sold to southern farmers. Southern-grown seed is not adapted to the rigors of this climate and is usually very susceptible to disease and winter killing. Where the weather is warm alfalfa stands well and is productive, but as soon as the weather gets cold the alfalfa shows signs of stress and disease and quickly dies. This makes it necessary to grow a blend of northern and southern-grown alfalfa seed to get good results.

The most positive influence is from Sab and Rhizoctonia.

Semesol BEN

RALPH E. SMITH

Michigan Farm Bureau Seed Service

Lansing, Michigan

May 25, 1928

Which Will Your Alfalfa Look Like After Three Winters?
Awakening of Public Mind
To Study of Modern Health Practices Becomes Beneficial

Modern Conveniences Help
Extend The Average Span of Life

By Mayne Alden

The marvel of that third year of the 20th century was the automobile, and the comment made by a friend was that you could 'spend all your time driving through the old neighborhood and see no one.' Yet it is true. From the time Massena was paved with red clay and from the time the first model of the automobile was turned out every time of day and night, it was fast and would not stop. It was so fast that some people were afraid to go out. The cars carried around 40 barrels of gas and a few a few gallons of oil. It was a great convenience for the baby was taken into the car, the proper Width, the car was small, and the baby was made to sit on the seat. The baby was made to sit on the seat and to be a part of the family. The baby was made to sit on the seat and to be comfortable. The baby was made to sit on the seat and to be happy.

Wash Plea for Inland Way

Cobalt, the largest town, has an 800-foot pier, but the city has not yet been connected with the island. This has been due to the difficulty of securing funds and the lack of proper roads. The pier and the town have been the subject of much discussion, and it was estimated that the cost of the pier would be about $150,000. The town has now decided to build a new pier and to extend the road to the pier. The town has also decided to build a new bridge over the river. The town has also decided to build a new bridge over the river.

Do Your Own Selling

When you have paid the stock to the stockholders or bankers. One product owner has as many possibilities as a farmer's wife. He is the one who has the greatest work. The product owner has the greatest work and must be sure to sell his product. He must be sure to sell his product. To be sure to sell his product, he must be sure to sell his product. He must be sure to sell his product.

CERTIFIED SEED FOR SALE

SOW MORE ALFAFRA THIS SUMMER!

Michigan can well afford to increase its alfalfa acreage. The Michigan State College recommends summer seeding in regions short in alfalfa.

We can supply you with hardy, dependable seed. A postcard will bring you information sent on request.
Coolidge Veto May Be

A Convention Issue

Since early in the year, the investigation act proposed by the House but not adopted by the Senate has been a serious issue of the fall campaign. It is a question which the House of Representatives and the Senate cannot agree upon. While President Coolidge, in his message to Congress, approved the act, the Senate to which it was referred, voted against it, and the President thereupon declared that he would not sign it as a law.

The President's action on the measure is an issue in the campaign. The party which advocates the act, the Republicans, wishes to see it passed, and the party which opposes it, the Democrats, wishes to see it defeated.

The act is designed to prohibit the sale of certain articles of food and drug in the United States, and to require that they be labeled with the name of the manufacturer and the place of manufacture.

It is a question of national policy, and the President has declared that he believes in the act, and that he will not sign it unless it be passed by both houses of Congress.

The act has been the subject of much discussion in the Senate, and the President has expressed his opinion on the measure.

It is a question of national importance, and the President has declared that he will not sign the act unless it be passed by both houses of Congress.

The act is designed to prevent the sale of certain articles of food and drug in the United States, and to require that they be labeled with the name of the manufacturer and the place of manufacture.

It is a question of national policy, and the President has declared that he believes in the act, and that he will not sign it unless it be passed by both houses of Congress.

The act has been the subject of much discussion in the Senate, and the President has expressed his opinion on the measure.

It is a question of national importance, and the President has declared that he will not sign the act unless it be passed by both houses of Congress.