Agricultural Marketing Act Act Won After Eleven Years Work: Of Third Farmer New in Cooperative Marketing; Other Two Thirds Must Be Won

For much the same reason that the Agricultural Marketing Act was obtained, Federal Farm Board officials believe that the demand for the Agricultural Adjustment Act will be won, despite the fact that less than one third of farmers have signed up for the program.

Farm Bureau leaders have been working on the A.A.A. program for the last eleven years, since it was first proposed. Now that the
A.A.A. Act is law, the program is in motion.

MIDLAND AND ISABELLA COUNTY FARM BUREAUS MEET

DECEMBER 4 AND 5, ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

Investigation of complaints of members shows state oil leases without making protected clauses.

Thus leading to action upon information submitted by the Farm Bureau, the Board of Directors of the Midland and Isabella County Farm Bureau, on December 4 and 5 met and passed resolutions demanding the cancellation of oil leases on state lands granted by the Department of Conservation to private oil corporations in those counties.

The board of directors of the State Farm Bureau has placed the matter in the hands of the committee on taxation, asking the committee full authority in handling the matter.

At the request of Fred Siss and other former members of Midland County, R. Wayne Newton, of the Department of Taxation, investigated the status granted by the Pure Oil Company on May 14, and August 14, 1920, for the removal of some 3,500 acres of land.

The investigation brought out the fact that the Pure Oil Company upon terms which gave the State no bonus, although a considerable part of the total acreage was located in territory where bonuses were then being paid. In addition, the terms were such as to place the State at a disadvantage upon all of these lands during the period of time that might elapse before the drilling of oil.

state lands to farmers, with the condition that no

A LOT OF BUNK

Reports have reached this department of taxation of the State Farm Bureau rolling of farmers of the southern part of Michigan being advised to abandon the fine once made by private insurance companies for fire insurance. It is claimed that the farmers have no longer need as the fire risk has been reduced by the farmers' co-operative farming organization. This is a活动 is a way of paying for protection, the reports claim, and that the farmers have no longer need as the fire risk has been reduced by the farmers' co-operative farming organization. This is a lot of bunk. The reports are misleading and the farmers have been advised to abandon the fire insurance. It is also misleading to accept the farmers' advice to lower the fire risk by lowering the fire insurance. This is a lot of bunk. Life insurance is an investment which guarantees payment of the entire amount agreed upon when you make your first deposit. Modern business has come to look upon life insurance as a stabilizing factor; as a safe guarantee that activities will be financed after the individual passes out of the picture. The farmer of today cannot well afford to carry on without the assurance of financial backing which a sound life insurance policy affords.

Oil Line in Monroe Gives Farmer Worry

Farm Bureau Family Finds Oil Concern Is Hard

By Mrs. Edith M. Wagner, Caroboro.

It may not have been my purpose to frighten any farmer and family as far as to suggest that I had not been able to convince them (if I could) that I should not take up a job of work that was not of their liking - but this statement is not the matter at hand. It is the present time the work is being done, and the result is in the form of a case study that the reader may study and judge for himself.

When this matter was brought to the attention of the committee, an immediate trip was made to the farm. When we reached the farm, we found the farmer and his family in a state of great excitement. They had been informed that the oil company was going to build a pipeline through their land, and they were afraid that it would ruin their property. They were also concerned about the noise and vibration that the pipeline would cause.

At this point of the story, I should like to point out that the farmer was very much concerned about the possibility of the pipeline leaking and causing environmental damage. He was also worried about the potential for the pipeline to burst and cause a fire.

As a result of these concerns, the farmer and his family decided to seek legal advice. They were advised to file a lawsuit to prevent the pipeline from being built on their land. They were also advised to seek compensation for any damages that might be caused by the pipeline.

The farmer and his family were not the only ones who were affected by the pipeline. The surrounding community was also concerned about the potential for contamination and the noise and vibration that the pipeline would cause.

In conclusion, the oil pipeline through the farm was a very controversial issue. The farmer and his family were very concerned about the potential for the pipeline to cause environmental damage and the potential for the pipeline to burst and cause a fire. They were also concerned about the noise and vibration that the pipeline would cause. As a result of these concerns, the farmer and his family decided to seek legal advice and file a lawsuit to prevent the pipeline from being built on their land and to seek compensation for any damages that might be caused by the pipeline.
