SCHOOL TAX RELIEF DISCUSSED BEFORE TAX COMMITTEE
State Should Equalize Cost
By Dr. Mort
LOCAL RELIEF NEEDED
Speakers Offer Means For Reducing Local School Taxes.

The State of Michigan has a reputation for high education, and it has a serious problem of paying for it. Two years of war have reduced tax revenues to the bare necessities of the state. The burden has fallen upon the property taxpayer, and the local school districts are being called upon to meet this emergency.

The need of relief from taxes is urgent. For, if the present taxes are maintained, the property taxpayers will be forced to raise their taxes to a point where they will meet the demands of the local school districts.

The proposed plans for local school tax relief are not only timely, but they are essential. It is necessary that the State of Michigan should assume a larger financial responsibility for the education of its children.

The first step is to have a state income tax. This tax will be a means of equalizing the cost of education and making it possible for all children to receive a good education.

Bureau Offers Third Of Income Tax Series
Will Income Tax Bring Cut In Farm Taxes?

By R. W. Newell

The Farm Bureau favors the plan of a 3 per cent state income tax. A study of farm income shows that a 3 per cent tax would bring a substantial reduction in farm taxes.

The study of farm income indicates that a 3 per cent tax would result in a reduction of farm taxes by approximately 30 per cent.

Experience Of Others

A number of states have adopted a 3 per cent income tax, and they report that it has been effective in reducing farm taxes.

The Michigan Farm Bureau has been promoting a 3 per cent income tax as a means of reducing farm taxes.

The plan of a 3 per cent income tax would be a fair and equitable way of sharing the burden of state and local government costs.

Will Income Tax Bring Cut In Farm Taxes?
The opinion of the St. Lawrence Ship Canal would be a good idea if the government could come up with the cash. However, the government has said it would only cost $271,000,000. This is a mere $4,500,000 less than what New York State would save if it were to build the canal. If all the states in the Atlantic Ocean were to build their own canals, the total cost would be around $271,000,000.

However, the St. Lawrence Ship Canal is not the only one being considered. The Panama Canal also has been under discussion for years. The Panama Canal cost only $271,000,000. This makes it a cheaper option than the St. Lawrence Ship Canal.

In conclusion, the St. Lawrence Ship Canal would be a good idea if the government could come up with the cash. However, the cost is much higher than the Panama Canal. Therefore, the Panama Canal is a more economical option.

How Farmers Control Shipping Costs

Controlling shipping costs is critical for farmers to remain profitable. One way farmers can control shipping costs is by using railroads rather than shipping by water. Railroads are generally cheaper and faster than water transport.

Another way farmers can control shipping costs is by using their own trucks. By using their own trucks, farmers can save on fuel costs and have more control over the shipping process.

Farmers can also control shipping costs by using packaging that is designed to reduce shipping costs. For example, using heavier packaging can reduce the amount of shipping space needed, which can save on shipping costs.

Farmers can also control shipping costs by using software that helps them track and manage their shipping costs. This can help farmers identify areas where they can save money.

In conclusion, controlling shipping costs is critical for farmers to remain profitable. By using railroads, own trucks, packaging that reduces shipping space, and software that helps manage shipping costs, farmers can control shipping costs and remain profitable.

Consumer Price Index

The Consumer Price Index (CPI) is a measure of the average change in prices paid by urban consumers for a market basket of consumer goods and services. It is published monthly by the Bureau of Labor Statistics and is used to track inflation.

The CPI covers a wide range of goods and services, including food, housing, transportation, and medical care. It is calculated using a basket of goods and services that is weighted by the spending of urban consumers.

The CPI is used by the Federal Reserve Board to set interest rates and by the government to adjust benefits and payments such as Social Security and Medicare.

In conclusion, the CPI is a valuable tool for tracking inflation and is used by the government to make important economic decisions.
WOOL PAQUE ADVANCE IS \TO CLOSE TO BUYERS' TOP

In our last, we reported that 15 cents net in the export market and probably more at the water's edge, had developed in the past week. This, in addition to the fact that there were no sales and no shipping, made it necessary for us to report that, as of now, the market was down another 3 cents, with no buying to be reported except in comparatively small quantities. The market now is quoted at 75 cents for 2's, 40 cents for 4's, and 25 cents for 6's.

Retailers are holding their goods and will wait for a higher market before making any movements. It is reported that the market will not recover until the next week, and that prices will be advanced to 90 cents, or more, for 2's.

Information supplied by the French Government discloses that there have been no sales of wool in France during the past week, and that the market is still very weak.

In conclusion, we would like to say that we believe the market will recover next week, and that prices will be advanced to 90 cents, or more, for 2's.
