Seven Farm Relief Bills Need Your Aid

The light of a great new day in farm taxation may burn upon the foreheads of the churchmen who now seem to perceive the Legislative chambers if the men who have been sent by the people are true to their trust.

Out of the welter of conflicting views and statements, there have emerged the following items of utmost importance:

1. The House has passed the Thomas personal income tax with an amendment introduced by Rep. Charles H. Reed that would devote $10,000,000 of the proceeds to school relief, most of it to return districts. This bill now represents the best piece of farm tax legislation that has come before the Legislature in decades. Its passage in the Senate with the Reed amendment in tact is of the utmost importance to the farmers interested in the welfare of agriculture or of education.

2. The Dykstra-McFie sales tax defeated in the House but now up for vote. It is provided for by the local school districts for the purpose of providing education. The tax is as desirable as the income tax, but it must pass the House. School tax relief should not be made dependent upon any one tax.

3. Efforts of Superintendent Webster H. Pease, Senator Turner of Bay City, and others have resulted in a resolution providing for the establishment of a State Agricultural Commission to investigate the present farm tax situation. This State Commission will do much toward the passage of a Bill for the collection of the farm tax. Some members of this committee are opposing this measure. Part of the opposition comes from those who want more state roads. Others object to using the auto taxes to relieve excessive taxes. These objections are not based on substance but on a wrong interpretation of the essential values of state roads and railroads. It is the duty of those who object to this measure to state their objections. The committees in charge of this measure should see to it that the funds are used for the purpose intended.

4. The McNutt-Holcomb road bill is in the hands of the Senate Committee on Highways. Some members of this committee are opposing this measure. Part of the opposition comes from those who want more state roads. Others object to using the auto taxes to relieve excessive taxes. These objections are not based on substance but on a wrong interpretation of the essential values of state roads and railroads. It is the duty of those who object to this measure to state their objections. The committees in charge of this measure should see to it that the funds are used for the purpose intended.

5. The Culver Bill embodying a variation of the Inland Waterways Act is now reported out of the House but can be revived. It also provides ample time for the consideration of the bill. The bill now represents the best piece of farm tax relief legislation that has come before the Legislature in decades. Its passage in the Senate is of the utmost importance to the farmers interested in the welfare of agriculture or of education.

ICZECREMA, ROAD A%ILS STILL IN COMMITTEES

Lansing—The legislative session is fast approaching its end and the roads are still in the minds of many farmers. The roads are important for the transportation of farm products and for the movement of farm equipment. The roads are also important for the movement of people and for the movement of goods. The roads are important for the movement of the economy and for the movement of the society.

RIST FIXING BILL NOW EXEMPTS NURSING MOTHER MILK

60% of Risks Live On Farms Or In Cities Of Less Than 10,000.

Lansing—Donaldson, a farm doctor, has proposed that the state of Michigan should adopt a policy of nursing mother milk on farms to increase the number of live born, farm-born infants. The proposal is based on the following facts:

1. The mother's milk is the best source of nutrition for the infant.
2. The mother's milk is the best source of immunity for the infant.
3. The mother's milk is the best source of protection for the infant.

In the proposal, Donaldson suggests that the state of Michigan should set up a program to provide nursing mother milk on farms. The program would include the following:

1. The program would provide milk to all farmers who want it.
2. The program would provide milk to all farmers who can't get it.
3. The program would provide milk to all farmers who don't know about it.

The proposal is supported by a large number of farmers and doctors. It is supported by the American Medical Association, the American Academy of Pediatrics, and the American Dairy Association. It is supported by the American Farmers Association, the American Farmers Union, and the American Farmers Congress. It is supported by the American Farmers Political Party, the American Farmers Democratic Party, and the American Farmers Republican Party.

CHICK QUALITY TELLS
J. A. Davidson Tells How Best Chicks Are Produced.

BY J. A. DAVIDSON
Farm Manager, Michigan Poultry Improvement Association

The best chick is really a feeder in the making. In one case I know of a certain yard in Michigan where two brothers started raising chickens and had a business of raising and marketing fed birds, the brothers had a struggle for several years, but their first step was to decide on the kind of chickens to raise, and on this they set the whole business. They started by raising the best types of chickens and then went on to raise them in quantity. They had a good market for their birds and were able to pay their expenses and make a profit.

A Good Installment Buy

The only commodity that one can buy which will steadily increase in value while installment payments are being made is Life Insurance.

The man who offers $1,000 or $5,000 worth of life insurance upon his life knows that the first payment guarantees that much to the family in case of his death.

Each year as partial payments are made, the guaranty continues in full amount. Each year the assured's policy grows in value as a cash reserve fund. Each year his contract advantage or interest rate becomes more valuable from the standpoint of savings made than it would be if he were to buy insurance on a year to year basis. Each year as the responsibility of the growing family grows less, the assured adds more to his insurance fund for his later years.

Life insurance is not only a second investment, but it is one that the family doesn't have to finish paying for; it can be passed on to a dependent or any other financial need.

State Farm Life Insurance policy plans are especially adapted to farmers' needs. You should know what you are taking before you take a policy anywhere. We are glad to explain, without obligation.

Brush and Paint Pot Helps

Avoid paint brushes that dry out easily. There is a method to keep them fresh. A flat paint brush, in most cases can be washed in water, soaped and hung up to air dry. When the paint is dry, it can be put away and the brush stored in a dry place. When the brush is to be used again, it can be washed in water, soaped and hung up to dry.

Michigan Plan Looks Pretty Good When Compared To Some Others.

Of course, I have been in the Detroit markets, in special connection and I have been horrified with the great amount of rancid butter, eggs, or other articles of food which are sold. This is not only a question of the butter being bad, but also the fact that the eggs are not good in the Detroit markets.
