Events Forcing Us Toward Dropping of Gold Standard

So Says C. V. Gregory, Editor Of the Prarie Farmer, in Article

BY C. V. GREGORY

Two years ago there was a discussion of the gold standard. The last few years have witnessed a struggle of the variously named propositions which is being pushed with unprecedented vehemence. The pendulum may now begin to take effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.

The pendulum may now be taking effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.

The pendulum may now be taking effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.

The pendulum may now be taking effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.

The pendulum may now be taking effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.

The pendulum may now be taking effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.

The pendulum may now be taking effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.

The pendulum may now be taking effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.

The pendulum may now be taking effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.

The pendulum may now be taking effect, and many who were on one side yesterday will be on the other today. Others who were unalterable in their choice of the gold standard, regardless of the conditions, may now be inclined to change their views. If they see the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, or that they are being pushed against their will, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to shift their position. They will then see that the pendulum has turned, and that they have not been able to change it. If they see that the pendulum is not going to turn in the direction of the gold standard, it is not unlikely that they will be inclined to change their position.
BURBRE SAY'S GOVT IN BUSINESS PROBE UNFAIR TO CO-OPS

2% of Gov't in Business Is in Agr., Which Gets 97% of Attack

Chicago—Appealed by the victims of government intrusion into the heart of the marketing of farm products, the National Farmers Union formally denounced the Federal Administration for a practice it termed "injustice and a mockery of democracy." The attack was made by Frederick C. Mcllgroth, a director of the Farmers Union, at a meeting of the Farmers Union at the Odeon Theater in Chicago.

Another portion of the same bill provides $150,000,000 for emergency construction of the federal highway system. This is another blow to the farmers, said Mr. McGroth, because it will mean $75,000,000 for the nation's big cities, and $150,000,000 for the nation's state highways. The farmers are not content to have their money spent elsewhere, he said.

The farmers, said Mr. McGroth, are joining in the purchase of these states and are enabled to materially increase the volume and influence of the four or five key states. They have been reduced to the status of a minor player, he said, because they have been unable to influence the federal government in the way that the big cities have been able to do.

Mr. McGroth said that the farmers do not want to be treated as second-class citizens. They want to be treated as equals. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's economy. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's future. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's past.

The farmers, said Mr. McGroth, are not content to be treated as second-class citizens. They want to be treated as equals. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's economy. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's future. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's past.

The farmers, said Mr. McGroth, are not content to be treated as second-class citizens. They want to be treated as equals. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's economy. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's future. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's past.

The farmers, said Mr. McGroth, are not content to be treated as second-class citizens. They want to be treated as equals. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's economy. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's future. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's past.

The farmers, said Mr. McGroth, are not content to be treated as second-class citizens. They want to be treated as equals. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's economy. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's future. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's past.

The farmers, said Mr. McGroth, are not content to be treated as second-class citizens. They want to be treated as equals. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's economy. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's future. They want to be treated as partners in the nation's past.
Mrs. Wagacer Calls A Spade A Spade and Worse This Time

FOICES OF FARM CO-OPERATIVES Mailed by Faye Groups

Mrs. Ethel M. Wagacer, Adams, Madison, Wis., says,

"This is to inform all men about all kinds of farm cooperatives where they are needed.

I am writing to you personally because I know you are interested in the welfare of our farmers, and I want to make sure you understand the importance of forming cooperatives.

The time is ripe for us to form cooperatives, and I believe we can do it if we work together.

We have seen the success of cooperatives in other parts of the country, and I think we can do the same in Wisconsin.

I am enclosing a list of the cooperatives I have heard of, and I hope you will take a look at it.

Please let me know if you have any questions or if you would like to discuss this further.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Ethel M. Wagacer"
FERTILIZED GRAIN PAYS TWICE!

1—Greater Grain Yield

FARM TESTS PROVE IT

Five years of farm tests throughout Michigan by the State College of Agriculture and Applied Science have shown that the use of Farm Bureau fertilizers and lime will increase the yield of wheat, oats, corn and other grains.

Farm Bureau fertilizers and lime pay the fertilizer cost and a good profit. As the yield per acre is increased, the net profit per acre is increased. The following is a statement of some of the tests which have been made by the Department of Agriculture of the State College of Agriculture and Applied Science:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grain</th>
<th>Yield per Acre</th>
<th>Profit per Acre</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Wheat</td>
<td>105 bushels</td>
<td>$50.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oats</td>
<td>85 bushels</td>
<td>$42.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Corn</td>
<td>70 bushels</td>
<td>$35.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Mermash Makes Good Pullets

These are the weeks in which to produce large, heavy-bodied pullets that produce eggs cheaply and efficiently when eggs are needed most. Give your pullets on range free access to Mermash and you will have heavy-boned pullets that lay well and are ready to go into production. Give your pullets on range free access to Mermash and you will have heavy-boned pullets that lay well and are ready to go into production.

Farm Bureau Oil For Plowing

Farm Bureau Oil is a product of the Farm Bureau Oil Company, a division of the Farm Bureau Cooperative Union. It is a special strain of oil that has been developed for use in the plow. It is a good source of energy for the plow and it helps to loosen the soil. It is also a good source of protein for the plow horse.

Bald Rock--A New Wheat!

We offer a limited quantity of Bald Rock, the Bearless, soft, red winter wheat developed from old reliable hard-red Bock wheat by the State College of Agriculture and Applied Science. This is a new variety that makes it easier to grow a good yield of wheat. It is a hard, red winter wheat that is very easy to grow and that makes a good yield of wheat. It is a hard, red winter wheat that is very easy to grow and that makes a good yield of wheat.

Order From Your Farm Bureau Dealer Soon

GOOD TIME TO APPLY LIME

"Frequently, lime may be applied advantageously while the soil is being fitted for wheat in which all yields will be needed next spring. Adult plants will do as well on lime deficient in lime," says Dr. C. E. Miller, head of the State College of Agriculture and Applied Science.

For best results with lime, apply it several months to a year in advance of the growing season for which it is intended. It may be applied on a red rise to be burned under a cut threshold crop. Lime needs time to sweeten soil. There must be no fear of losing its effectiveness, for it cannot come into action unless the soil is sweetened. Lime is a good source of protein for the plow horse.

Order From Your Farm Bureau Dealer Soon

For Farm Bureau Products

SEE YOUR CO-OP OR FARM BUREAU DEALER

Write Us If You Have No Dealer