Those Ideas Make Sense

Last week we heard Governor Fitzgerald give an informal talk on the tax reduction bill and he told us that the State should reduce the rate at which it levies taxes, and this was a statement that people would be hard put to disagree with. The Governor made it very plain that he was not opposing the reduction of taxes, but merely raising the question of the rate at which they are levied. He suggested that the value of a property should be distributed at the rates that are assessed to it, and that this would be a fairer method of taxing property.

The Governor made it very plain that a rate tax is based on the value of a property only once, whereas an assessment tax is based on the value of a property at every rate. He suggested that an assessment tax would result in a fairer method of taxation, and that it would be a more equitable method of distributing the burden of taxation.

State School Aid Is Coming

Michigan parents of school age children may expect an increase in the state aid to local school districts in the near future. The state has taken an interest in the education of our young people, and the legislature has passed a law providing for an increase in the state aid to local school districts.

The state aid to local school districts is to be increased by a certain amount, and this will result in a more equitable distribution of the burden of education among the different school districts in the state.

Compulsory Organization of Labor

If the bill for compulsory organization of labor comes before the legislature, it will be voted down, it is generally agreed, and this will be the last of the labor movement in the state. A Factory Accident

Last week a young man of our acquaintance was severely and possibly fatally injured in an accident in a Lansing machine shop. The accident occurred while the man was operating a machine, and it is feared that he may not survive.

Produces Two Incomes

Two hundred and thirty million pounds of home-grown potatoes are produced each year, and of this amount about fifteen million pounds are sold. The potato is a hardy and productive crop, and it is the most important commercial crop in the state. New Ballhead Cabbage

Resistant to Yellows

A new variety of cabbage is Wisconsin, which is resistant to cabbage yellows. Its separation of its parent, Brussels Squab, and had been discovered, some years ago, by the Michigan Station of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station. The new variety, called the Wisconsin Ballhead Cabbage, has been produced in several states, and is now available for distribution. The Wisconsin Ballhead Cabbage is a hybrid between the common cabbage and a variety of the field, and is free from the usual defects of the common cabbage. It is resistant to cabbage yellows, and is also free from the usual defects of the common cabbage.

New York Times

The Heart of the Community

The yellow moon drops below the horizon. One by one the houses darken; an abrupt settle over the countryside. It is a time of rest, of shadow, of peace.

But there is one building where rest does not exist, where the windows never darken, for the week of the telephone exchange, like the week of a sleeper's heart, must go on by night no less than by day.

Here trained operators, alert and skilful, sit at the junction of many wires. Here are linked all those who would speak across the miles of darkness.

Somewhere an anxious mother is wakened by a childlike, fretful cry... somewhere furtive footsteps betray the presence of a prowler... somewhere, in a cellar, unnoticed noises send warning smoke drifting through a house... at some lonely corner two ears clash and over

In these emergencies, help is as close as the nearest telephone. For a waiting wire speeds the call for aid—to the doctor, police, fire department, ambulance. And if that wire were not waiting, these would be harrowing memories of grief and loss; help, at times, would arrive too late to be of use. Faddishly rendering a vital service day and night, the telephone exchange plays a part which makes it known that is very real, the heart of the community.
