Moves to Make Us Pay Tribute

The action of an egg growers' union at Chicago in demanding a reducement of Hamilton Farm Bureau eggs from 7 cents to 6 cents a dozen at the railhead at Hamilton by federal inspectors brought home an inklings of the policy of coercion by labor organizations to "unite" Michigan farming.

When the Chicago egg growers' union leaders proceeded to take the necessary steps in order to make an immediate and substantial reduction in the price of eggs at the railhead at Hamilton, which would mean a great hardship to Michigan farmers, the Michigan State Farm Bureau and the American Farm Bureau protested to federal authorities the disregard of their bond with the railhead at Hamilton by refusing to purchase the eggs at a lower price. The result was that the manufacturers of those eggs decided not to ship them to Chicago.

Only a strong Farm Bureau organization can go to the task of keeping the eggs in the hands of the farmers who have put up with so much hard work and risk to grow them. Michigan farmers can protect Michigan farmers against such drives for tribute. Congenial George Hoffmeyer of Allegan described a similar situation in the following words: "In 1939: If you make a laborer deceive his employer and allow him to swindle the public and then you have a great many public people who are misled, they are a big menace to the farmers. If you make a laborer deceive his employer and allow him to swindle the public and then you have a great many public people who are misled, they are a big menace to the farmers."

Michigan farm co-operatives and others sending trucks into the Chicago and other markets have gone along in the matter of their driven being made members of a city truck drivers union, whose leaders have been in constant contact with the people and have been continually trying to make an advantage of it by taking advantage of the situation. They have been in constant contact with the people and have been continually trying to make an advantage of it by taking advantage of the situation. These people have been in constant contact with the people and have been continually trying to make an advantage of it by taking advantage of the situation.

How Permanent is the Farm Program?

Ever since the Hoover-Mills decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in 1936, the farmers, but in hand, have had to come to terms with the ever-changing conditions of the market to their advantage. The price of farm products has been high and has continued to be high. The price of farm products has been high and has continued to be high. The price of farm products has been high and has continued to be high. The price of farm products has been high and has continued to be high. NEW KIND OF PORTABLE MILKER

The prototype portable milker being developed by the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station at East Lansing is expected to eliminate the need for clean-up in the dairy barn. The unit, when ready for use, will consist of a tank in which the milk is separated from the waste. It will be equipped with an air-driven agitator to keep the milk in motion, and a refrigerated storage tank to keep the milk at the proper temperature.

The new design is a significant advance over the existing portable milker, which is a hand-operated unit. The new machine will be more efficient and will result in a substantial reduction in labor costs. It will also be easier to clean and maintain, which will further reduce the cost of production.

The prototype is currently undergoing tests at the experiment station. Once it is determined that the design is suitable, the unit will be manufactured and made available to dairy farmers.

BOSTON ONCE HAD A FROZEN WELCOME

For National Wood Marketing Association's annual convention, Boston had a surprise welcome - a 10-year-old snowstorm.

The convention was scheduled for late December, but the event was delayed due to a major snowstorm that hit New England. The convention was finally held in early January, and the convention-goers were greeted by a blanket of fresh snow. The convention featured a variety of seminars and workshops on wood marketing and sustainability.

Several days before the convention, the Weather Service issued a winter storm warning for Boston, and the convention organizers were prepared for the worst. However, the storm was not as severe as expected, and the convention was able to proceed as planned.

Several plows were on the streets, clearing the roads and ensuring that the convention-goers could reach the convention center. The convention organizers were also able to provide shuttle service to and from the convention center, ensuring that attendees were able to attend the seminars and workshops.

The convention was well-received, and the organizers were pleased with the turnout. The event was a success, and the organizers hope to repeat it next year.
Farm Prices Must Be High Enough for Fair Exchange for Industrial Products—

American Farm Bureau in Resolutions Declares Low Farm Prices and Wide-Spread Unemployment Are Inseparable

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT 21ST AMERICAN FARM BUREAU FEDERATION CONVENTION AT CHICAGO, DECEMBER 7, 1939

FARM FAIRNESS AND NATIONAL PROSPERITY

A year ago the Federation made the uncompromising statement that prosperity could not and would not be restored to the American farm community until the prices of farm products were increased to a point where they would be adequate to provide a living for the farm family. The Federation states that, with a comprehensive and generously-financed program of agricultural stabilization, no economic depression in agriculture can persist for long. It further states that the prices of farm products must be increased to such a point as to allow the farm family to support itself adequately without outside assistance. The Federation states that the adoption of such a program will not only prevent a depression in agriculture but will also stimulate national prosperity.

TRADE AGREEMENTS POLICY

Resolved, That the Federation support the American Farm Bureau's stand for the maintenance of parity prices on farm products and that the Federation is opposed to any agreement that is not consistent with the maintenance of parity prices on farm products. The Federation states that any agreement that is not consistent with the maintenance of parity prices on farm products will not be supported by the Federation.

We'll do it Together

The American Farm Bureau Federation is working with the United States Department of Agriculture and other farm organizations to promote the maintenance of parity prices on farm products. The Federation believes that by working together, the Federation and other farm organizations can ensure that the maintenance of parity prices on farm products is achieved.

EXTENSION OF MARKETING AGREEMENTS ACT

Resolved, That the Federation support the extension of the Marketing Agreements Act of 1931 for another five years. The Federation states that the extension of the Marketing Agreements Act of 1931 is necessary to ensure the maintenance of parity prices on farm products.

TOBACCO GRADING

Resolved, That the Federation support the Federal Tobacco Grading Act of 1932. The Federation states that the Federal Tobacco Grading Act of 1932 is necessary to ensure the maintenance of parity prices on farm products.

FOREST SERVICE

Resolved, That the Federation support the transfer of the Forest Service to the Department of Agriculture. The Federation states that the transfer of the Forest Service to the Department of Agriculture is necessary to ensure the maintenance of parity prices on farm products.

FERMENTATION PROGRAM

Resolved, That the Federation support the fermentation program of the Tennessee Valley Authority. The Federation states that the fermentation program of the Tennessee Valley Authority is necessary to ensure the maintenance of parity prices on farm products.

"Our Country Must Maintain Peace"

FORWARD TO 1935 RESOLUTIONS

The American Farm Bureau Federation has been working hard to ensure that the maintenance of parity prices on farm products is achieved. The Federation believes that by working together, the Federation and other farm organizations can ensure that the maintenance of parity prices on farm products is achieved.

Agricultural forecasts for the coming year indicate that farm prices will be lower than in the past. The Federation warns that this could lead to a depression in agriculture and a decrease in national prosperity. The Federation states that the maintenance of parity prices on farm products is necessary to ensure that this does not happen.

The Federation supports the extension of the Marketing Agreements Act of 1931 for another five years. The Federation states that this is necessary to ensure that the maintenance of parity prices on farm products is achieved.

THE STATE FARM BUREAU and ITS ORGANIZATION
STATE FARM BUREAU PRESENTS BACKGROUND MATERIAL FOR DISCUSSION BY COMMUNITY GROUPS DURING JANUARY

By F. F. TAYLOR
Director of Membership Relations

In 1919, the Michigan Farm Bureau was organized. The Farm Bureau is a voluntary association of farmers which is based on the principles of democracy and cooperation.

The Farm Bureau is a member of the American Farm Bureau Federation and represents the Michigan farmers at the national level.

The Farm Bureau provides a forum for the exchange of ideas and information among farmers, and helps them to work together to solve common problems.

The Farm Bureau also provides a means for farmers to participate in the political process, and to have their voices heard at both the local and state levels.
