Recommendations of F.B. Presidents

For Brody and Yaeger Posts

In accordance with the duties charged to the committee at the Farm Bureau Board meeting of May 2, 1952, in an executive session, we submit the following recommendations:

The committee, after a project study of the Michigan Farm Bureau and its affiliated organizations, with their rapid growth and expanding programs which have been guided by C. L. Brody for 31 years, has taken into consideration the increasing importance and volume of State and National legislation and feel that C. L. Brody should devolve all his energies in that field for the benefit and welfare of the American farmer.

To utilize Mr. Brody’s wide experience and wealth of knowledge in conjunction with the State and National affairs to the fullest extent, we recommend that he be appointed by the Michigan Farm Bureau Board of Directors to supervise the Public Affairs and Legislative Programs.

Another recommendation of the committee is that C. L. Brody shall be given the title of Executive Vice President, and his responsibility shall be to supervise and direct the Public Affairs and Legislative Program of the Michigan Farm Bureau and affiliated organizations, and thereby be directly responsible to and shall report to the Board of Directors of the Michigan Farm Bureau in the performance of these duties.

Further recommendations of the committee to the Board are that J. F. Yaeger be appointed Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the Board of Directors and General Manager of the Michigan Farm Bureau and its affiliates and shall have direct supervision of all divisions and departments except as stated.

Authorize Building Second Fertilizer Plant

One hundred-fifty Farm Bureau and cooperative association leaders met at the Reo Club House on July 2 to consider the feasibility of building a second fertilizer plant in the Kalamazoo area in southwestern Michigan.

Opposed

In our July 16 edition we reported that 150 Farm Bureau and cooperative association leaders met at the Reo Club House in Lansing July 2 to consider the feasibility of building a second fertilizer plant in the Kalamazoo area in southwestern Michigan.

Under the 1940 Act the Secretary of Agriculture provides price support at 70 to 80 percent of parity according to supply and demand. However, Congress passed and sent to the President a bill that would limit prices to 60 percent of parity for wheat, corn, oats, barley, and soybeans.

"High-stimulus areas are large enough in quality and quantity to provide a marketing, processing," said C. L. Brody, chairman of the Agricultural Credit Committee of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"The greatest need at present," he said, "is a more uniform and adequate source of super phosphate to carry on Michigan agriculture.

Harger Speaks at Reo Club House July 2

Fred Harger, director of the Central Farmers Fertilizer Co., spoke at the Reo Club house in Lansing July 2.

"As far as super phosphate is concerned," he said, "we now have a 70 percent or 75 percent price support. Until now, we have had no super phosphate to carry on Michigan agriculture.

We have hit a wall," he stated. "It is the great need at present, with the aid of a uniform and adequate source of super phosphate to carry on Michigan agriculture.

Harger has joined with 14 other similar super phosphate state organizations in signing a petition to President Eisenhower to keep super phosphate for Michigan agriculture.

"The petition," he said, "is to the Secretary of Agriculture asking him to establish a super phosphate plant in Michigan.

Harger and Yaeger in Farm Bureau Changes

J. F. Yaeger, manager of Farm Bureau Services, stressed the point that the building of a second fertilizer plant was in reality the second step in a fertilizer program agreed upon when the first plant was built in Saginaw in 1948. He indicated that the Kalamazoo area in southwestern Michigan was a logical location considering such factors as transportation, sale potential, nearness of the Farm Bureau companies and of the Farmer's Supply Co-op., the farm supplies organization and the largest of the Farm Bureau enterprises.

Our Proposal Will Be No. 3, Nov. 4

By STANLEY M. POWELL

It was a big day for the Michigan Farm Bureau when on July 3 petitions bearing 290,424 signatures were filed in the office of the Secretary of State. This represented over 100,000 more than the number of valid signatures required to place on the November 4 election ballot the proposed constitutional amendment relative to reapportionment which is sponsored by the Michigan Committee for Balanced Legislature.

On Page 1 is a picture showing Executive-Secretary C. L. Brody, of the Michigan Farm Bureau in the act of presenting some of these petitions to officials in the office of the Secretary of State. It was appropriate that Mr. Brody have a part in filing the petitions. Over 100,000 of the signatures were signed in the Michigan Committee for a Balanced Legislature office, each of the 16 county offices of the Farm Bureau and in various legislative districts throughout the state. All of these were in the hands of legislative committee heads and county Farm Bureau agents in the office of the Secretary of State.

Here is the proposal sponsored by the Michigan Committee for a Balanced Legislature which calls for a reapportionment of the House and Senate on the basis of population. This proposal is now being voted on by Michigan voters in the November elections.

The proposal provides that, when a federal or state constitutional amendment is submitted as separate issues and each have two squares, one marked "ye" and one "no." Vote "ye" on Number 3. Number 1 has to do with the admission of certain evidence in narcotics enforcement cases. Number 2 is the CIO reapportionment amendment backed by the Michigan Committee for a Balanced Legislature. Be sure to vote on each of these, remembering that you are entitled to vote "yes" on No. 2 and "no" on No. 3.

The proposal promoted by the Michigan Committee for a Balanced Legislature would retain and clarify the apportionment formulas which are frequently different from those of the apportionment formulas in the state constitution. The proposal being promoted by the Michigan Committee for a Balanced Legislature means that the same situation in the rural area of the state, citizens of the other 116 or 101 legislative districts, could not expect sympathetic representation from those of the metropolitan counties which are frequently very different.

A spot survey in Michigan shows that 40 per cent of the farm buildings have metal roofs and 60 per cent of the metal roofs are rusty and should be painted to prevent further loss.

He told the House Interior Committee that the company had a membership drive to build a dam at Hells Canyon, but that it would be interested in the proposed Hells Canyon Dam on the Snake River. All members will continue the membership drive.

Mr. Vloch also stated that the bean growers must have strong organizations to stand by the characteristic of the season and that the Michigan Bean Producers' Association has been very successful in Michigan, in both state and local activities. Michigan Farm Bureau is working towards determining the date of the membership drive.

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU
How Can Michigan Balance Its State Budget?

Community Farm Bureau Discussion Topic for August

Background Material for Program This Month by Our Community Farm Bureau Discussion Groups

DONALD D. RUSTY
Director of Research

Michigan is not just a state. It is a collection of people. We are those people. It does not matter what kind of a government you have, or what fancy plan somebody works out, the costs of government eventually go back to the people.

Our state tax problem could be made any simpler than the truth of the problem itself. And it is not merely a problem for the Legislature and the Governor to solve. There are no miraculous pitching machines, we can pour dollars to meet the growing deficit. One way or another they must come out of the incomes and productive wealth of the people.

The truth is that under the present allocations of tax money, Michigan is going broke!

Here are the facts. The causes for Michigan’s trouble are not all internal. Numerous writers have raised the question as to whether the federal government has not claimed such a large share of the taxable dollar as to threaten to put state and local governments out of business.

In the annual report of the Michigan Department of Revenue for 1950-51 it is stated that in 1930 the federal government took 29% of the tax dollar. State government received 21%, and local governments 49%.

In 1951, the federal government took 63% of the tax dollar, with the state getting 9%, and local governments getting 7%. But the state now has to return two-thirds of its sales collections to the federal government. This leaves the state only 3% of the total tax dollar on which to operate.

Federal tax rates have increased by leaps and bounds. Between 1930 and 1950 federal tax requirements increased to 20 times the earlier rate. At the same time state tax collections increased 21 times, and local taxes about 40%.

With this shift, government services naturally are catering their programs to the control and management of the federal government. The state share of the tax take is being depleted. Not only is the state unable to increase its services, but it cannot maintain its present programs on the present basis of our financial policy. Why is this so?

IT WOULD seem that Michigan could solve all its problems if the federal government would just go away. Yet the state has increased its tax rates, not only has it given most of its away to state government. This is a simple fact.

Between 1945 and 1940 the amounts being returned to local government increased 150%. This increase was approximately $1,700,000,000. In the last 10 years federal revenue has risen 60%, the tax dollar has risen 60%, the tax dollar has risen 60%. The truth of the problem itself. And it is not merely

Michigan’s Little Hoover Commission had the courage to say to the present government that it is fiscally irresponsible. It was then that the committee to the people took large percentage of the deficits out of the hands of the general public, the people, who don’t understand the words, and the whole problem. The Michigan State government took 29 of the tax dollar, with the state getting 9%, and local governments

The Michigan Tax Survey of the 1945-46 fiscal year reported that the present system of taxing corporations is fair and equitable for maintaining a level of state services which are being served with eggs, milk or coffee. They think that part of the problem is to moderate the share of the tax dollar remaining to state government.

WHAT TO DO about it?

The answer to the problem of balancing Michigan’s budget has been a political one. We should not be led by the testing theories of those who say that the deficit is a necessary evil. The deficit is not and cannot be a necessary evil. We must change the political system. The problem is to moderate the share of the tax dollar remaining to state government.

GROUP CONCLUSIONS

1. The Survey points out that a corporate income tax would mean a great saving in the state tax dollar. The business enterprise has, and the state enterprise has, and the state enterprise has to be up near 16%, after Federal standards. This would be the small and large corporations alike. The capital would come back into the state tax dollar, and the state tax dollar would be up to its original proportions.

2. It is estimated that the hit to Michigan’s problem would be $23 million larger WHAT TO DO about it?

3. Another cause of the financial crisis is the state’s inability to control the power of the corporation franchise tax. It is a political one. We should not be led by the testing theories of those who say that the deficit is a necessary evil. The deficit is not and cannot be a necessary evil. We must change the political system. The problem is to moderate the share of the tax dollar remaining to state government.
