If we are able to educate the general public about the bacteria, we could prevent many cases of this disease.

Barley Can Replace Corn in Feeds

"Maybe farmers in your area have given barley this year. If so, encourage them to see in a feed store," said Andy of Farm Bureau Services Food Dept. to test the facts. "Barley feeds most dairies to improve milk production. It does not hurt milk production. Barley feeds better to cows eating a low-grain diet. It helps to control the corn problems of the dairy feed."

MFB Board Approves Commodity Committees

They Will Serve As Advisory Group

Hundreds of Farm Bureau Members Will Serve on County, Regional, & State Commodity Advisory Groups

The board of directors of the Michigan Farm Bureau at its meeting in May approved the organization of Commodity Advisory Committees. The committees will serve in legislation, marketing, or other problems concerning their commodity—livestock, for example.

The committees will function purely in an advisory capacity and are not action committees. They do not take over the policy-making responsibility of the board of directors of the Michigan Farm Bureau. Their job is to get information, to advise, and to make suggestions to the board of directors who are elected by the members of the county Farm Bureau to serve the entire membership. The committees will serve in the same manner that the Resolutions Committees have served in the past.

The commodity committees can also be of considerable assistance to the state Farm Bureau Resolutions Committee, if the Resolutions Committee so desires. The Resolutions Committee may assist in the screening, rewriting, clarifying and coordinating of commodity resolutions brought in by County Farm Bureau Committees. It will serve in the same manner that the Resolutions Committee has served in the past.

Isabella Juniors Sponsor Poultry Day

The Isabella County Juniors Farm Bureau again sponsored a Chicken Dinner and Poultry Day at the Isabella County Fair, July 15. The Fair is an annual event and is sponsored by the Isabella County Junior Farm Bureau. It is a good project to give the Junior Farm Bureau a chance to stretch its wings and encourage its members to attend the annual Commodity Advisory Committee meetings, the annual Commodity Advisory Group meetings, and the annual Commodity Advisory Committee meetings.

Farm Inheritance - Should Farmer Make a Will?

Community Farm Bureau Discussion Topic for August

Background Material for Program for August by 1399 Community Farm Bureau Discussion Groups

J. D. McDONALD

Coordinator of Education and Research for MFB

Mr. MacDonald had a farm. He also had a wife and twin sons. He was forty and had been married for five years. He had three children, a boy and two girls. He had been working on the farm since he was a boy. He was the oldest of six children. He had no brothers or sisters. His parents had died when he was a young man.

Community Farm Bureau Doris E. Brown

During her visit with the Alderson family, she laid on the table a copy of the Farm Inheritance Handbook which has been prepared by the Michigan Farm Bureau.

She asked Mr. Alderson to take it home and discuss it with his wife. She explained that this was part of the series of programs being conducted by the Farm Bureau which is designed to help farmers understand the problems of inheritance.

She further explained that the handbook was written to help farmers understand the problems of inheritance and to help them make a will. She pointed out that the handbook could be a valuable tool for farmers who are starting a farm or who are thinking of starting a farm.

Mr. Alderson thanked her for her visit and said that he would look over the handbook with his wife. He added that he had always been interested in the problems of inheritance and that he would be happy to have a copy of the handbook.

Mr. Alderson also asked if there was anything else that he could do. Ms. Brown replied that there was not. She added that she would be happy to come back and see them again if they had any questions.

Ms. Brown then left the Alderson home and continued on her way. She was very pleased with the visit and felt that the handbook had been well received by the Alderson family.
