Farm Bureau’s 1956 Goal is 70,000 Families

What MFB Did at 36th Convention

The 36th annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau was held November 10-11 at the Statler Hotel, Detroit. Over 600 voting delegates from 64 county Farm Bureaus attended the meeting. They represented the membership of 65,830 farmers.

This is a summary of what the convention did:

1. Delegates approved the annual report of J. F. Ryder, executive secretary, and the management and agricultural committee, and the report of C. E. Brody, executive vice-president in charge of public affairs.

2. The convention made recommendations to the American Farm Bureau convention at Chicago in December on the national farm program. The MFB resolutions included full support for flexible price supports and firm opposition to a restoration of rigid 90% of parity payments and direct production payments.

3. The Michigan Farm Bureau made recommendations to sales and export programs to dispose of farm production surplus and served as a basis of the proposed land rental and soil fertility bank programs as methods for bringing farm production more into line with consumption. The national farm policy resolutions are published on page 3 of this edition.

4. The delegates adopted resolutions of policy and program on highways, schools, taxation and many other matters of interest within the state. See page 5 for the resolutions of policy and program.

5. Seven directors of a board of 15 were elected for two years, as follows:

   District 1—In this district Moe K. Nord of Fowl Paw, Benzie county, was elected, in a close contest with the veteran Russell Hazel of Richland, Calhoun county.

   District 3—Allen F. Rush of Lake Orion, Oakland county, will represent this district. He succeeds Herman Houtz of Clinton, Washtenaw county. Mr. Houtz was not a candidate.

   District 5—Dale Dunckel of Williamston, Ingham county, was elected to succeed Marten Gam of Charlotte, Eaton county, long a member of the board.

   District 7—William Huber of Grand Rapids, Kent county, was re-elected.

   District 8—A. D. Reutter of McBain, Mecosta county, was re-elected.

   District 9—Walter W. Humble of Fennville, Allegan county, was elected, succeeding the retiring veteran, Walter F. Newland.

   District 10—Women's Farm Bureau—Maxx Carroll of Alton, Calhoun county, was elected, succeeding the retiring member, Mrs. C. E. Longley.

   District 11—The board of directors will organize by selecting a president, vice-president and secretary at the next regular meeting. The present officers are: President, Wurl G. King of South Haven,一秒 vice-president, Elza McShane of Quincy, Branch county.

   The board re-elected J. F. Ryder as executive secretary, treasurer, and general manager. C. E. Brody was re-elected as executive vice-president in charge of public affairs.

Since the first of September, 31 new groups have been organized.
Both Delta and Menominee counties are making real progress.
The advisory committee is doing a first class job. The New Policy is a real winner.

The new Delta County Farm Bureau is now in place. We wish to welcome to the Delta County Farm Bureau family all those members who have joined the organization.

The county farm bureau meetings held in November featured a variety of programs and topics of interest to today's farmers. The meetings included discussions on agricultural economics, crop management, marketing, and community organization.

Many of the discussions focused on the importance of community organization in agriculture. It was emphasized that working together, farmers can better address the challenges they face.

The meetings also featured guest speakers who shared their expertise on various agricultural topics. These speakers included extension agents, university professors, and local farmers who had successful experiences in the field.

The upcoming meeting in December will continue to feature similar programs and discussions. Farmers are encouraged to attend and participate in these meetings to stay informed and connected with their local agricultural community.
Our Stand on U.S. & World Affairs

The situation. Political expediency and unwise pautnatic government farm programs have carried our economy for too long. It is time for a new development of policies that will reverse this trend and eventually restore the freedom of the farmer is the objective of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Subsidized agricultural production of basic and other crops has stimulated the growing of great surpluses and largely defeated the efforts of farmers to adjust their operations to mounting costs of farm equipment, supplies and other expenses. This is done in other industries, has precipitated a cost-price squeeze or other inflationary trends.

Federal Farm Loan Act, Corn Commodity Exports from the United States, and Agricultural Adjustment Act are among the policies that have contributed to the mounting costs of farm operations. These policies have been opposed by the farmers themselves and are without justification. They are three examples of policies that have been responsible for the mounting costs of farm operations.

The situation is further complicated by the continued trend toward larger farms, necessitated by the increased commercial farm management. This is resulting in growing competition and increasing difficulty for small or marginal farmers. It is becoming increasingly impractical for small or marginal farmers to compete with larger, more capitalized farm enterprises.

Constructive efforts to bring about the production of surplus crops at reasonable prices have been and are being made by the farmers themselves and are without justification. They are three examples of policies that have been responsible for the mounting costs of farm operations.

We are strongly opposed to any further legislation that would place further restrictions upon the freedom of the farmer to adjust his operations and prices. We support the farmers in their efforts to adjust their operations and prices to the market conditions in which they are forced to operate.

We believe that the government farm programs are responsible for the policies and operations of the farmers themselves. The farmers themselves are responsible for their own operations and prices. They are responsible for their own welfare. They are responsible for their own decisions.

In every instance the farmers themselves should be allowed to operate and to control their own operations and prices. They should be allowed to operate and to control their own policies and operations without interference from the government. They should be allowed to operate and to control their own decisions and policies.

We urge the government to cease and desist from any further interference with the farmers and their operations. We urge the government to cease and desist from any further interference with the farmers and their operations.

We believe that the farmers themselves are capable of making their own decisions and policies. They are capable of making their own decisions and policies. They are capable of making their own decisions and policies.

We believe that the farmers themselves are capable of making their own decisions and policies. They are capable of making their own decisions and policies. They are capable of making their own decisions and policies.
