Support For Farm Bureau's Wheat Program

Bi-Partisan Drive On Wheat Surplus

Congress is the Only Body That Can Do Anything About Wheat Surplus

The American Farm Bureau program for dealing with the breadbasket farm crop problem promised to reach the floor of both houses of Congress before the recess. There are 1.4 billion bushels of wheat in government storage.

Farm Bureau's recommendations on the farm surplus production problem are contained in bills introduced by Representative Harlan E. Mathias (Ill.) (H.R. 10640) and Senator John J. Pastore (D.R.I.) (S. 3339). These bills have been introduced in the Senate by Senators Brooks Hinkley (Iowa) of Iowa, Frank Lausche (Ohio) and Everett M. Dirksen (R.) of Illinois.

Farm Bureau's program provides for an expanded Conservation Reserve which will "moot bulk" 60 million acres for future use when growing populations, growing markets, or national emergency require it.

Higher per family income will result from Farm Bureau's proposal for a gradual return to the market price thesis. This plan would provide for orderly disposal of the wheat surplus and encourage farmers to make the needed adjustments, while at the same time providing increased opportunity.

In Michigan, several hundred members of 72 County Farm Bureau Commodity Relations Committees and Legislatice Committees met in ten regional meetings in April. They were writing their Congressmen and U. S. Senators asking for support of the Farm Bureau program. They urged all Farm Bureau members to write to their Congressman and U. S. Senators immediately.

Wall Cooper, Coordinator of Commodity Relations for Michigan Farm Bureau, said the Michigan Farm Bureau program to stop wheat surpluses would permit each wheat grower to determine for himself the acreage of wheat that would make the most efficient use of his land, labor and machinery.

Farm Bureau is now awaiting action in the House and Senate agriculture committees. Congress must act before the expected adjournment in July.

At less than 10% of the effective support price, the wheat surplus problem is unsolvable. There are 1.4 billion bushels of wheat in government storage. A poor program on the support floor for wheat would permit each wheat grower to determine for himself the size of wheat acreage which would make the most efficient use of his land, labor and machinery. This is the job which we have in mind when we say that we are the moving force behind the Farm Bureau program to stop wheat surpluses.

This is a proposed constitutional amendment which will permit the states to raise the income tax when necessary to meet the rising cost of living, but which will not interfere with federal income tax payments.

Michigan Farm Bureau's Expanded Program Under Way

CLARENCE E. PRESTICE
Secretary-Manager of Michigan Farm Bureau

The Michigan Farm Bureau Board of Delegates, at a special meeting February 24, 1959, indicated that the Farm Bureau should become more active in certain fields. In order to make it possible to have an expanded program of activities, the delegates increased the dues from $10 to $12.

The increase in dues was intended not only to cover increasing costs of existing programs, but also to enable the Board of Directors to increase the activities of the Farm Bureau. The increase of 2 to 4 ounces are usually necessary for a complete program.

Michigan's Factories, Farms and Stores Depend on Trucks

Manufacturing, farming, the retail business—all have one thing in common: each needs transportation facilities.

And since the motor truck provides fast, direct service unsupplied by any other form of transportation, more trucks are shipped by train in Michigan each year. (Nationally trucks haul 3 times as much freight as all other systems combined.)

Even today you can use the word is working—working to help keep Michigan's economy humming, to keep employment and sales high. There's no cruise of the future that can't be sold daily by trucks. And fantastic shopping centers can be shipped anywhere and at speed, keeping the truck service busy as they've ever been!

You see how vital trucks are to Michigan.

Coordinator of Education and Research
Will Rogers, the humorist philosopher of 25 years ago, said, "A majority of folks lie and declare that they are either Democrat or Republican don’t amount to shocks as either one. They never did a thing for either one.

America is, and has been, a Land of Political Opportunity for its citizens. But only the OPPORTUNITY EXISTS. The Constitution cannot guarantee us the FACT of self-government. If Americans are to govern themselves, they must work at it, or the opportunity knocks—and is gone.

You—or Who Else? Just lots of folks who vote regularly are merely puppets being pulled by strings. They chance to someone else’s tune. To have any real political "punch" at all, citizens must possess the "know how" of party politics. You must be willing to put elbow grease into it. Good intentions don't go far. You must work for the ACT of self-government. If Americans wait for others and wait for inflation? They must work before the future of the American government.

The balance of the American farm population is the strongest political material for Program in May by Our
