Federal School Subsidy Bill Before House

DAN E. REED
Associate Legislative Counsel

Committee action on this draft school subsidy bill has been held up to avoid a conflict of meeting schedules. House Bill 991 has passed the Senate, and House action continues after report by the Committee on Education and Labor.

It was expected that the House would act favorably on this bill and then the conference committee. House action is expected to be quickly followed. The Senate has passed this bill, and attempts are now being made to work out a compromise agreement on the Senate version. Senate action will be taken early next week.

Today in Farm Bureau

ROGER FOERCH
Manager, Organization Michigan Farm Bureau

July has arrived, and still there is no rest from Farm Bureau activity. I thought things might slacken off a bit during the summer but no such luck. After all, I guess it’s best this way.

I’m sure you have all heard the song “June is Bustin’ Out All Over.” Well, that’s just about what happened — from the looks of the activities this past month.

First, let’s take a look at membership — 69,368 as of July 1. That’s the wonderful thing about Farm Bureau with Len Warner as our membership campaign manager. There have been some meetings this month — one at Clear Lake and one at Camp Kett. That’s the empty house and feeling alone and one. Attorney for Farm Bureau with Len Warner as our membership campaign manager. There have been some meetings this month — one at Clear Lake and one at Camp Kett. The package is yours...open it today and have profits tomorrow!

READ WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT...

"I have been in the poultry business for the past 15 years and in all this time I have never had a market that represented the farmers such as this one does."

"I would encourage all producers that qualify to join this program so we can gain greater security in the poultry industry."

"It is my belief that this is the only way the poultry producers can gain bargaining power that is greatly needed."

"As a member of Farm Bureau Egg Marketing Division since it started, I feel this program has improved the prices paid to the producer for eggs in Michigan. I would encourage more Michigan producers to join this program so we, as farmers, can gain more marketing power, through this farmer owned organization."

"I have been using Farm Bureau feeds for the past 12 years. I have occasionally tried other feeds but have always gone back to Farm Bureau."

HERE'S YOUR PACKAGE...

BUILDINGS... Warranted pole-type buildings for any size flock...engineered to allow for expansion...erected by trained Farm Bureau crews.

EQUIPMENT... Your building is completely outfitted with the finest quality nests, fountains, feeders, etc...everything you need.

Granary insects by adopting a program to (1) sell old grain or (2) insects and (3) chemical control. Avoid more than 75 million bushels of contamination which occurs during storage. In the marketing system, studies show that 9 out of 10 cases began on the farm. The principal causes of unclean grain in this nation may happen at any stage — harvest, transportation, storage or marketing. Usually they rank in order of importance as follows:

1. Moisture and temperature
2. Insects
3. Rodents
4. Microorganisms
5. Foreign material
6. Molds
7. Fungi
8. Fertilizers
9. Chemicals
10. Irrigation

Fertilizer is Good Investment

DON COOK
Manager of Fertilizer Distribution

Would you turn down a chance to make $100-200 a month for nothing? Some of us are losing out on thousands of dollars a year. For example, a farmer with 50 acres of oats and no fertilizer, who returns to the field with a bottle of advertising material that says, "FERTILIZER can boost your crop yield," may be missing a valuable opportunity to improve his crop yields. Our land is not fertile enough for maximum production. A small investment in fertilizers can result in increased yields and profits. The cost of fertilizers is relatively low compared to the value of the increased crop yields. By applying fertilizers at the right time and in the correct amounts, farmers can achieve optimal crop performance and increased yields. This investment in fertilizers pays off in the long run, leading to higher profits and increased sustainability. Don't miss out on this valuable opportunity to improve your crop yields and profitability.

Citizenship Thoughts For The Month

J. DELBERT WELLS
Family Producer Division

The National Program Officers of the National FFA Organization recently announced that Michigan FFA members have been selected to present a program at the 4-H Club Congress in Washington, D.C. These members will have the opportunity to share their experience and knowledge with others from across the country. The program will be an important part of the congress and will provide a platform for Michigan FFA members to showcase their achievements and leadership qualities. In addition, this event will allow the members to network with other 4-H Club Congress participants, learn from their experiences, and develop new ideas for their own programs. This is an excellent opportunity for Michigan FFA members to represent their organization and gain valuable insights and connections. Congratulations to all the selected members and best of luck for their presentation at the congress.

significant than the Equal Rights Amendment. This is true because whoever wins the nomination on the ticket of the party which is dominant in that district would be well suited for the race on the road to ultimate election, and would have more than a fighting chance of being elected on September 11.

The drafting of a new or revised draft of the Equal Rights Amendment by a convention is one of the basic rights of our government. Any law which is the interpretation of a constitutional provision must be interpreted and applied as per the plain words of the Constitution. The Constitution is the supreme law of the nation, and any law which is the interpretation of a constitutional provision must be interpreted and applied as per the plain words of the Constitution. Resolution Will Authorize Study Of Water Problems

At the meeting of the regular session of the 191st Legislature, the Senate adopted a resolution authorizing an intensive study of the problems of water pollution in the state. The resolution authorizes the creation of a committee to study the water pollution problems in the state and to make recommendations for their solution. The committee will be composed of state officials and representatives of various affected groups, and will work with other organizations and agencies to develop effective solutions to the water pollution problems.

Our 5 paved feedlots do so well, we're going to concrete 100%!

(Camden, AR) The mayor of our town, Mr. Joe Smith, recently announced that the town will be converting all of its feedlots to concrete surfaces. The decision was made after a thorough analysis of the existing feedlots, which revealed that they were not up to standard. The new concrete feedlots will provide a safer and healthier environment for the animals, as well as improve the appearance of the town. The mayor believes that this is a positive step towards improving the quality of life for the residents of our town. We commend Mr. Smith for his leadership in this matter and look forward to the positive outcomes of this decision.

In ordinary times the constitution and the federal government are the custodians of the public welfare. Under the emergency of war and the battles of the world we have learned that the right of the nation to govern and to direct is as essential to the peace and safety of the nation as the right of the individual to govern himself.

We are all interested in the welfare of the nation and it is our duty to do our best to help bring about the peace and prosperity of the world. The American Farm Bureau Federation has been chosen by the farmers of the United States to represent their interests in the world. They have been given the responsibility of representing the farmers of the United States before the world and the farmers of the world before the United States. They have been given the responsibility of representing the farmers of the United States in the world and the farmers of the world in the United States.

Community Farm Bureau Discussion Topic for July

DOROTHY KINLEY
Coordinator of Education and Research

Background Material for Program in July by Our 126th Community Farm Bureau Discussion Group.

Abraham Lincoln declared, "He who makes public opinion gains more power over the people than he who makes the laws."

Public opinion is plastic — just like putty. It is capable of being shaped and molded by the impact of ideas developed in the mind of a person or group which then become known through the mass media of public opinion. Citizens, forever under the brunt of planned campaigns to make us think and act as certain people want us to do. And we readily fall into the design set for us.

Modern tools for shaping public opinion match the spectacular developments of our atomic age. Today, any person with money or influence enough can enter the homes of 50 million Americans without opening the door. He is seen and heard. He can tell his story insistently and repeatedly.

The day of political soap boxes, and the corner haranguing a crowd in the park, is largely gone. The politician, or the farmer, must now sit quietly at home, sipping his tea, while having its thoughts cut to a planned pattern by advertisers or speakers for someone else. The TV screen or the radio has done much to replace the political rally — in impact, at least.

Mr. Public may snap off his TV set, pick up his newspaper, or turn down the radio button, but no man has ever succeeded in shaping his mind to fit the views of those who "speak with authority." The media of modern communications are the means of setting the course of public opinion. They can mould the destiny of a nation to suit the purposes of whichever controls them.

The Farmer On the Spot

In recent years, the farmer has been hit on the head with an invisible hammer. There are those who have made the farmer a pawn in the political chess game of national life, and he has often been difficult to bring into line with those who want to build a political schema that will not only suit, but will make his life and work a part of the strategic political ploy.

The impact of the public opinion in this "leaderless" era is powerful and effective, to the extent to which the farmer is able to understand the form and function of the forces that influence him. Mr. Public, yet at the same time, the public is in a position to have more voters in its favor than ever before.

Mixing Ignorance with Influence...

The average citizen today is a citizen of the second degree — because of the absence of the financial, industrial, and political interests of the nation. To the average consumer the Supermarket is the smog, and he will probably spend millions of dollars through the power of his emotional "constructive hydraulic mining" on products and services of no importance to him. So far as the farmer is concerned, this is a terrible situation.

But farmers should do this job just as well. The farmer understands the basic problem of our national life, and he is in a position to work about the rising tide of "good and bad" to the benefits of the people.

Farmers have been using a public opinion back - hand, because they have been in a position to do so. Are they ever analyzing the situation and doing the things they ought to do to help themselves?
