Africana Libraries Newsletter (ALN) is published quarterly by the Michigan State University Libraries and African Studies Center (East Lansing, MI 48824). Those copying contents are asked to cite ALN as their source. ALN is produced to support the work of the Archives-Libraries Committee (ALC) of the African Studies Association. It carries the meeting minutes of ALC, CAMP (Cooperative Africana Microform Project) and other relevant groups. It also reports other items of interest to Africana librarians and those concerned about information resources in or about Africa.

EDITOR'S COMMENTS

This issue includes the schedule for the December meeting in Boston and the CAMP minutes (shortened by the editor) from the May meeting in East Lansing. Agendas for the fall meetings were not available as of late October. Other highlights include a review of a reference book (but no editorial policy on this issue) and a note on cataloging policy. There is also the usual listing of some of the new books and journals and articles that have come to the attention of the editor.

Once again, this issue would not have been possible without contributions from many sources. Contributors include: Jim Armstrong, Helene Baumann, Phyllis Bischof, Joe Caruso, Moore Crossey, Beverly Gray, Karen Fung, John Howell, Al Kagan, Nancy Schmidt, and Gretchen Walsh.

COOPERATIVE AFRICANA MICROFORM PROJECT (CAMP)

Guests: Charles B. Sherrill (City Colleges of Chicago), Dane Ward (Lawrenceburg, Indiana).

1. Chair John Howell opened the meeting with a tribute to Ray Boylan's work for CAMP.
2. The Fall 1992 meeting minutes were approved. [See ALN, April 1993.]

The Chair appointed a Nominating Committee of Walsh and Easterbrook to prepare the Summer/Fall ballot for three positions: Member-at-Large, Secretary, Faculty Representative.

SPECIAL PROJECTS

3. SENEGAL COURT RECORDS PROPOSAL. Dennis Galvan (graduate student at the U. of California, Berkeley) in consultation with Saliou Mbaye (Directeur, Direction des Archives du Sénégal) had prepared a "Proposal for Preservation of Unclassified Court Records in Regional Capitals of Senegal." The costs were $36,700 for equipment, plus $2240 for microfilming an initial batch in Kaolack of 8000 pages.

After discussion, it was agreed that CAMP would broaden coverage of the proposal. Howell, Britz, Meseratch Zecharias, and Fung will work on the grant proposal.

4. HEALTH/MEDICAL GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS. Proposal was for CAMP and its members to coordinate and sponsor the purchase, loan and microfilming of all official health and medical reports from 1980-1994 into a corpus that might be duplicated and used elsewhere. This could be a subset for the subscription and microfilming of all Sub-Saharan African government documents.

A committee of Finnegan and Crossey will determine what documents we have and decide on priorities.

5. CRL REPORT. [The CAMP Financial Statement, CAMP Material on Order, CAMP Commitments and CAMP Materials Received are attached at end of minutes.]

Marlys Rudeen distributed the new CAMP brochure; 2000 were printed. CAMP's balance is over $26,000 and will receive $4,000 more from CRL.

Comments on commitments:

U.S. National Archives films: CAMP has received 90 reels and is awaiting another small item.

Drum magazine: CAMP cannot buy the film since we did not own original issues, as required by South African law.

Items received from Yale:

1. National Union of Mineworkers material acquired by Cheadle, Thompson, Haysom (Johannesburg attorneys) 11 reels;
2. Two reels of the Kwandebele Commission on police violence; report was generated by the Legal Resources Center;
3. Simons Papers.

OLD BUSINESS

6. KESTELOOT PROJECT. The dissertations are being filmed in Paris at est. cost of $2,500-2,700.

7. HILDA KUPER PAPERS. CAMP has received the 6 reels of the field notebooks.

Cost for a positive print from the negative at UCLA is about $125.

8. CAMP NEGATIVE MASTERS. Rudeen distributed a sample printout of 41 titles from the negative masters list. After further checking against two paper files, they plan to produce a fairly comprehensive list of negative masters that could also be used as a sales catalog.

9. JUDGES' NOTEBOOKS OF CIVIL & CRIMINAL CASES OF THE COLONIAL LAGOS SUPREME COURT, 1876-1915. CAMP received permission to film and needs to find a microfilmer in Lagos.

10. NEWSPAPERS ON FILM. [Members received a list of all British Library microfilm titles (excluding those for Mauritius, South Africa and Northern Africa) not held by CAMP; plus a list of 12 Nigerian newspapers held by LC but not in CAMP.]

Agreed to buy all the British Library titles identified as priority by the Chair: Standard (Kenya), Daily Times (Blantyre), Beira News, Daily Times (Lagos), Seychelles Govt. Bull., Daily Mail (Freetown), Sudan Daily Herald, Nile Mirror (Juba), Habari za Leo, Maarifa, Mambo Leo, Mwongozi, Zanzibar Voice, and Bulawayo Chronicle.

Agreed to buy the Nigerian newspapers filmed by LC.

A decision on the Eastern Province Herald, 1970-74, was deferred, while Rudeen checks with the Pretoria State Library concerning number of reels and price.

11. UNIV. OF LONDON, INSTITUTE OF COMMONWEALTH STUDIES, POLITICAL EPHEMERA, PART 1, SOUTH AFRICA. CAMP will buy. CAMP already has Parts 2-4 on Central, East and West Africa.

12. MONDLANE COLLECTION. CAMP filmed the first part of the collection many years ago, but it is still restricted. Herbert Shore (U. of Southern California) was contacted to see if Janet Mondlane could set a date for opening this section.

Bell-Gam will consult with Shore on filming the rest of the collection, excluding the Mondlane letters.

NEW BUSINESS

13. COLLECTION ON THE ISMAILIS IN EAST AFRICA. Walsh reviewed the papers which are currently privately held in the Boston area. Crossey is following up possible acquisition by Yale, with subsequent potential filming by CAMP.

14. GOVERNMENT GAZETTES. Two lists were distributed. CRL's "Foreign Official Gazette Union List: Africa" (March 1993) includes some information from NYPL, Harvard Law and the University of Michigan. LC's "Sources of Legal Material: A Preliminary List of Foreign Official Gazettes," edited by Terrel D. Hale (Feb. 1992) covers LC's Law Library, NYPL, Los Angeles County Law, Harvard Law, and 2 German libraries.

16. ERITREAN NEWSPAPERS AND DOCUMENTS. M. Zecharias was in Eritrean (summer 1992) and found that most of the archives are in bad shape. The Eritrean resources office at Grambling is closed but the collection is still there. She plans to bring a proposal to the Fall meeting for CAMP to film these resources.

Syracuse will catalog the titles listed in "Catalog of Materials Filmed by Cooperative Microfilm Project, Haile Sellassie I University and Syracuse University" (Addis Ababa, 1974; introd. by Cyril A. Hromnik). [CRL was given a copy of this 73-leaves document.] The negatives are in Ethiopia. The positive copies at Syracuse may only be used within the Library.

17. SUGGESTED FALL 1993 BOSTON MEETING TOPICS. Electronic serials and how to archive them; Publications about Somalia.

18. YALE REPORT. The "Official SWAPO Archives" of Peter Katjavivi is now at Yale. There are 24 boxes with over 4 boxes of newsletters, press releases and 3 boxes of conference papers, covering the mid-1970s to late-1980s. Included are the research papers acquired for Katjavivi's dissertation on the Herero uprising. Crossey will get an estimate for filming.

South African Institute of Race Relations materials which could be filmed: Delmas Treason Trial material for which the Univ. of the Witwatersrand produced an inventory. Yale will receive a print copy of the trial record. There were many documents produced as evidence as well. There are additions to the SAIRR collection for which Yale has a preliminary hand-written inventory. Queens University is interested in filming.

A second group of J.D. Rheinallt Jones Papers is in the SAIRR archive at the Univ. of the Witwatersrand Library. Crossey thinks it would cost $4-5,000 to film and would not duplicate other CAMP holdings.

The collection of the late Harold Gunn is at Yale. Gunn worked on the Ethnographic Survey of Africa volumes dealing with Northern Nigeria. The RLIN AMC [Archives-Manuscripts] file has a record.

The meeting adjourned at 11:24 pm.

Staff from LC will give instructions on NACO practice for the establishment of corporate bodies, emphasizing Arabic names of Egyptian government agencies. Participants will be encouraged to join the MELA/LC cooperative project to establish Arabic government corporate names. ### IFLA

The Government Information and Official Publications Section (of the IFLA Division of Collections and Services) met in Barcelona (August 21, 1993, 2-5pm, and August 26, 3-6pm), with Siegfried Detemple as chair and Al Kagan as secretary. In addition to reports on publications, seminars and finances, the following officers were elected for 1993-1995: Chair, Al Kagan; secretary, Nina Leneman; treasurer, Celine Walker.

An Anglophone Africa training seminar is planned at the University of Zimbabwe during the last week of November 1994, with support from IFLA and other groups. The Francophone Summit will fund a seminar in Bordeaux (1994 or 1995) for secretaries of governments, on the production, management and dissemination of government information. There will be a later conference for librarians. Additional training seminars are planned for Latin America and Eastern Europe.

At Havana in 1994, the Section and the Women's Interest Group will co-sponsor the program "Government Programs and Publications on Women." Proposals for the Istanbul meeting in 1995 included a panel on grey literature or fugitive documents and a panel on the 50th anniversary of the United Nations. The 1997 conference will focus on national bibliographic services. The Section suggested the following issues for discussion: UBCIM corporate headings and authority lists for government bodies, inclusion of government publications in national bibliographies, timely production and distribution, standards for bibliographic control of electronic datafiles, and standards for locators of electronic information.

There was also a program "Online Access to Government Information" (August 25, 1993, 4:45-7:15pm) that included presentations on online access to US, UN and Spanish government information. For further details, contact Al Kagan (U. of Illinois Library, Urbana, IL 61801).

INET 93

The International Networking Conference sponsored by the Internet Society (August 17-20, 1993; San Francisco) was organized into six tracks: network technology, network engineering, application technology, user applications, policy issues, and regional issues. Concerning Africa's connectivity, there is a great deal of activity in Africa and a number of talented and resourceful people working in the field. But the continuing image is that of low levels of development and consequently continuing need for foreign assistance.

The sessions dealing with Africa included the main regional panel, with papers on network building in Africa (Lishan Adam, PADIS) and networking in Tunisia and Egypt. A session on "empowering new users" had considerable African content. Gary Gariott (VITA) discussed VITA's appropriate technology or "Africanized" approach, emphasizing training rather than the installation of hardware. A paper by Seymour Goodman (Univ. of Arizona) looked at the situation in formerly Socialist countries, including some African examples.

The Proceedings (papers received in advance) were published and papers will be available electronically from the Internet Society (Suite 100, 1895 Preston White Dr., Reston, VA 22091; isoc@nri.reston.va.us).

—Based on notes from Gretchen Walsh (Boston U.).

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS LANGUAGE & GEOGRAPHIC CODES

The revised list of the national language code standard, Z39.53 (Codes for the Representation of Languages for Information Interchange), will include new codes for Southeast Asian, African and Pacific languages. These were requested by various groups and reviewed by ALA's Committee on Cataloging: Asian and African Materials. The languages have been mainly assigned to collective codes in the current language code standard. For those languages having a significant body of literature (a total of at least 50 bibliographic works), individual codes are being added. For Africa, there are 6 new codes for individual languages, while 23 languages are to be covered by new collective code. The revised standard will be distributed for ballot in late 1993. Once approved, a new edition of the USMARC CODE LIST FOR LANGUAGES will be prepared.—LC Cataloging Newslines, Oct. 1993.

Geographic Area Code Change: The new code for Eritrea is f-ea. MARC records reflecting this change will appear not earlier than Nov. 15, 1993. [Editor failed in October attempt to add to an OCLC record.] Questions to: Cataloging Policy and Support Office, LC, Washington, DC 20540-4305.

RESOURCES AT LIBRARIES AND RESEARCH CENTERS

Britain-Zimbabwe Society is planning an Archive to store leaflets, newspapers, clippings, discussion papers, personal letters, etc. relating to the struggle for Zimbabwe. The Material will be held at 66 Woodstock Rd., Oxford, which is part of St. Antony's College, and will eventually be fully catalogued.

—BZS Newsletter, April 1993

Indiana University's Lilly Library has acquired the archives of South African novelist and short-story writer Nadine Gordimer. The collection includes manuscripts of her novels and stories, notebooks in which she recorded her background research, television scripts she wrote, and about 4,000 letters received from 1949 through 1976 along with copies of her letters for the same period. Her more recent correspondence will join the collection at a later date.

The papers now in the Lilly Library are rich not only in the various drafts and versions of her writings but also for the wealth of research notes she compiled in preparing her novels. These show the great care Gordimer takes to be accurate in even the smallest details in her writing. Her letters, of which there are retained copies, tend to be long and informative — more like those of writers in the pre-telephone era. The collection will be ready for use this fall.

The Mayibuye Centre for History and Culture (at the University of the Western Cape) is the archive for many ANC materials, most notably 100,000 photographs and a huge collection of film, both documentary and commercial, in which the ANC figures. It also houses Albie Sachs' magnificent collection of Mozambiquan art, and a collection of superb poster art which documents the struggle. Mayibuye is a popular slogan meaning "Let it return." The Mayibuye Centre was established to provide a physical resource for the acquisition, research, production, publication and distribution of material relating to the history of apartheid and resistance to it. Among the Centre's many projects is the maintenance of several barefoot agents whose mission it is to carry publications out into the townships. At present the major portion of the records of the ANC are planned to be located at Fort Hare because of its connection with Nelson Mandela and Govan Mbeki.

GRANTS

PROPOSED TITLE VI
JOINT ACQUISITIONS TRIP TO SENEGAL

The Title VI African Studies centers plan to apply to the US Department of Education for support of an acquisitions trip to Senegal in 1994-95 to acquire materials for CAMP. The primary goal of this trip will be to survey and make arrangements for microfilming materials in IFAN (Institut Fondamental d'Afrique Noire) and in other government and historical archives. Materials of interest include theses and manuscripts. A second goal will be to collect or subscribe to newspapers, newsletters and other ephemera produced by political parties and interest groups. Materials at CAMP will be fully cataloged and accessible via OCLC, with a copy of any archival materials being deposited in the institution where filmed. This proposal was developed by Title VI librarians in response to the USDE designation of library cooperation as a priority area for project funding and a followup request from center directors to the ALC chair.

FOREIGN PERIODICALS PROGRAM

A source with good connections says that funding for this U.S. Dept. of Education has been restored. Details in a future issue.

YALE DIVINITY SCHOOL LIBRARY MICROFILMING

Yale Divinity School Library has been awarded a grant of $185,000 to preserve 3,000 serials volumes from its Day Missions Collection. This project (GCMP IV of RLG) will result in the filming of 22,636 volumes from 15 RLG institutions between March 1993 and February 1995.

HISTORICAL DICTIONARY OF MALAWI: A REVIEW

by Joseph Caruso (Columbia Univ.)

Crosby, Cynthia A. Historical Dictionary of Malawi. 2nd ed. Metuchen, N.J.: Scarecrow Press, 1993. xxxv, 202 p. (African Historical Dictionaries, 54) ISBN 0810826283 $30.00.

For those new to research on 20th century Malawi, the revised Historical Dictionary of Malawi is a useful reference. The entry titles in the dictionary are arranged alphabetically and are both general and historically specific. The 202-page dictionary includes a 65-page bibliography and is accompanied by a 14-page concise and informative historical introduction and an 8-page chronology. However, there is no index. There are three maps, but they are not listed in the table of contents and the first map that appears (with the introduction) is poor. As with the other dictionaries in the Scarecrow series, there are general entries. Some readers may initially find these entries cumbersome, but such entries do enable the author to provide important information that might not fit under any other entry titles.

African historians and specialists on Malawi may be pleased with the many entries for prominent Malawian women in the dictionary; but not with the bias towards 20th century Malawian history. However, they may find some of the passages, the choice of entry titles, and the general arrangement of information a bit disconcerting. Examples: The entry for "Prehistory" seems to encompass developments in technology and ceramics from the "early Stone Age" through the late 18th century! Under the entry for "Federation", a misleading passage (p. 48) reads: "When the post-war Labour Party opposed an amalgamation of the Rhodesias, Stewart Gore-Browne, a Legco member and settler in Zambia, suggested a federation among the three territories [Northern & Southern Rhodesia, & Nyasaland] that OSTENSIBLY WOULD PRESERVE AFRICAN RIGHTS." (My emphasis.) Anyone searching for the origins of the word "Nyasa" will be disappointed, although there is an entry for "Malawi". There is an entry for the M'bona cult, but not for "Mwari". The entry for "Slave trade" is too short and probably gives too much credit to the British for ending the slave trade and too little attention to European (and American) slave and ivory trading interests in the region for the period before abolition.

In general, there is a lot of good information in the dictionary but some of it is buried in the entries. For example, national population figures have to be distilled from the entry under the title "Birthrate". Information about the impact of RENAMO, the rebel army operating in Mozambique, is under the entry title "Mozambique" but not under the entry title "Refugees". As a result, the connection between the war in Mozambique and refugees in Malawi is obscured.

Aside from these shortcomings, the dictionary can be used critically to a researcher's advantage.

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS: THE 1994 CONOVER-PORTER AWARD FOR AFRICANA BIBLIOGRAPHY OR REFERENCE WORK

The Africana Librarians Council (formerly called Archives-Libraries Committee) of ASA seeks nominations for the eighth biennial Conover-Porter Award for excellence in Africana bibliography or reference work. Any Africa-related reference work, bibliography or bibliographic essay published separately or as a part of a larger work during 1991, 1992, or 1993 can be nominated for the 1994 award, which includes a prize of $300 that will be presented during the 1992 annual meeting of the African Studies Association in Toronto, Canada. Nominations must be received before the end of January 1994. Please include a brief justification and at least one review.

Helen Conover was senior bibliographer in the African Section of LC, serving thirty-two years before her retirement in 1963.

Dorothy Porter Wesley was librarian of the Moorland-Spingarn Research Center, Howard University, retiring after forty-five years of service in 1973.

The first award in 1980 was presented to Julian Witherell for his The United States and Africa: Guide to U.S. Official Documents and Government-Sponsored Publications on Africa, 1785-1975 (Washington: LC, 1978). Recent winners include the 1988 award shared by Daniel P. Biebuyck's The Arts of Central Africa: An Annotated Bibliography (Boston: G.K. Hall, 1987) and Jean E. Meeh Gosebrink's African Studies Information Resources Directory (New York: H. Zell, 1986). The 1990 winner was Yvette Scheven's Bibliographies for African Studies 1970-1986 (H. Zell, 1988). In 1992 Carol Sicherman's two works Ngugi wa Thiong'o: A Bibliography of Primary and Secondary Sources, 1957-1987 (New York: H. Zell, 1989) and Ngugi wa Thiong'o, the Making of a Rebel: A Source Book in Kenyan Literature and Resistance (New York: H. Zell, 1990) received the award.

Please send nominations to: Helene Baumann, International and Area Studies, Box 90195, Perkins Library, Duke University, Durham NC 27708 (tel: 919-660-5847; fax 919-684-2855; hsb@mail.lib.duke.edu). ## LETTERS & OPINIONS

AFRICA & SUB-SAHARAN AFRICA IN CUTTERS, GACS & LCSH

by Joe Lauer

This note proposes that the distinction between AFRICA and AFRICA, SUB-SAHARAN should be modified or dropped in LC Subject Headings and elsewhere. There are several reasons for abandoning this distinction. First, "Africa" or "African" usually (but not always) is used to refer to the area south of the Sahara. Second, the distinction is not consistently applied. Third, similar distinctions in Asian or European studies are not made. And finally (if you accept the preceding arguments), it creates an unnecessary and annoying division in the shelflist and in lists sorted by subject headings or Geographical Area Codes.

The case for Africa(n) as usually equal to Sub-Saharan Africa in current usage could be more thoroughly documented. A start would be to review titles with the word "Africa(n)" that cover the continent and determine if they include Northern Africa (North Africa and Egypt) in the coverage. This coverage should be more than token (i.e., 1-5 percent of the total), since Northern Africa has 20-25 percent of the continent's total population. My working hypothesis is that the efforts of the early 1960s to cover (more-or-less equally) the entire continent when writing about Africa have been abandoned by most authors and editors. Further, most specialists on Northern Africa define themselves as Middle Eastern and not African specialists (judging from the joint program in New Orleans). And librarians in ALA got the name of the Asian and African Section (of ACRL) changed to Asian, African, and Middle Eastern Section, presumably because some of these specialists felt outside of both Africa and Asia.

A quick survey using keyword searches of 043 and subject fields shows generally accurate application of the current rules, but inconsistencies or errors do occur. The problem for catalogers is that it is not always easy to determine if a book is limited to Sub-Saharan Africa. There are very few errors when the distinction is made in the title and relatively few if it is acknowledged in a brief preface (e.g., Scheven, Bibliographies for African studies). But errors are more common if the distinction is buried (e.g., p. xxiv of McIlwaine, Africa: a guide to reference material) or never explicitly made.

The approach used for materials about (Western) Europe or Asia (minus Western Asia) should be applied to (Sub-Saharan) Africa. (See codes and headings below.) There is no distinction between Asia (entire continent) and Asia east of the Indus (or Asia from Pakistan to the Pacific; i.e., without the Middle East or Western Asia) in GAC, LCSH or Cuttering. For Western Europe, there is a separate GAC, but subject headings and Cutter numbers treat as identical to the continent of Europe. In contrast, Sub-Saharan Africa is treated as distinct from the continent of Africa in GAC, subject headings and Cuttering. Africa, Asia and Europe are parallel cases both in the changing patterns of usage and in the relative size of the subunit that has come to represent the whole. They deserve parallel treatment.

Region	Cutter	GAC	LCSH
Africa	A35	f	Africa
Sub-Saharan Africa	A357	fb	Africa, Sub-Saharan
Asia	A78	a	Asia
Europe	E85	e	Europe
Western Europe	E85	ew	Europe

Other issues with regional names:

1. No heading for Northern Africa (including Egypt and maybe the Sudan). (Egypt is correctly excluded from both AFRICA, NORTHEAST, and AFRICA, NORTH).
2. Sahel (as the region south of North Africa) is assigned a GAC of f rather than fw (Africa, West), despite the presence of other Sahels in Tunisia and elsewhere and the fact that the Sahelian country of Chad is excluded from Africa, Central.
3. Should there be a note that "Central Africa" and other regions in the older travel literature meant something different? Given changing usage, is consistency in our catalogs feasible?

INFORMATION DISSEMINATION WITHOUT LIBRARIES

"Hitherto, a hindrance to economic policy and capacity building in southern Africa has been the fragmentation of the economic community and poor access to, and knowledge of, the available literature. The Centre has an important role in overcoming these difficulties by building networks of economic analysts and disseminating knowledge. This will be achieved through promoting conferences, joint projects, and visits and exchanges between scholars and students from southern African universities and SOAS." —1993 brochure from CEPISA (Centre for Economic Policy for Southern Africa), Department of Economics, School of Oriental & African Studies, University of London (Thornhaugh St., Russell Sq., London WC1H 0XG), p. 6.
