Africana Libraries Newsletter (ALN) is published quarterly by the Michigan State University Libraries and the MSU African Studies Center. Those copying contents are asked to cite ALN as their source. ALN is produced to support the work of the Africana Librarians Council (ALC) of the African Studies Association. It carries reports on meetings of ALC, CAMP (Cooperative Africana Microform Project) and other relevant groups. It also reports other items of interest to Africana librarians and those concerned about information resources about or in Africa.

EDITOR’S COMMENTS

This issue was compiled in late July; rather than late March, as would have been appropriate for an April 1996 issue. Matters relating to the May meeting of ALC/CAMP and the July meeting of ALA are being deferred to the next issue. In order to get back on schedule, I am planning a combined no. 87/88 (July/October) issue.

Contributions came from many sources, including Helene Baumann, Moore Crossey, David Easterbrook, Nancy Schmidt, and Hans Zell.

Several readers reported errors in the January ALN. The prize for careful reading goes to Muyoyeta Simui (Zambia) who noticed that I gave 1986 deadlines for nos. 86 and 87.

PROVIDING THE MOVING PICTURES

ALC-Sponsored Roundtable in Orlando (November 3, 1995)
Report by Helene Baumann

The aim of the Roundtable at the ASA Annual Meeting was to discuss issues relating to the making of films, videos and documentaries in Africa, and their availability in the U.S. We also introduced two new multi-media projects being developed at Harvard University. The session was well attended (standing room only) and the informal discussion lasted long into the intermission.

We had hoped to cover issues such as performance copyright, distribution, networking, interlibrary loan and cataloging. Due to the lack of volunteers and time, we only provided relevant articles as handouts. A future roundtable might also include an African filmmaker and someone to talk about preservation issues.

Valerie Mwalilino (African/Middle Eastern Section, LC) detailed LC’s efforts in her paper: Building an African Film and Video Collection. The LC collection includes about 1,500 titles, and a list of selected West African titles is available from the Reference Librarian, Motion Picture, Broadcasting & Recorded Sound Division, LC, Washington, DC 29540-4690. Her paper was read by Joanne Zellers (Africa Section, LC), who also reported on her just completed acquisitions trip to West Africa, where she was able to visit the offices and film archives of FESPACO (Festival Panafricain de Cinéma et de Télévision de Ouagadougou).

Miki Goral (Reference Dept., UCLA) talked about her experiences as Director for Research for the Pan African Film Festival in Los Angeles in a presentation entitled: Film Festivals and the Education of the American Public. The Los Angeles festival is affiliated with FESPACO, and she was able to answer many questions from the audience.

Cornelius Moore (Library of African Cinema, California Newsreel) presented: The Challenges of Releasing African Films in the United States. He discussed his experiences in finding films overseas, deciding what is suitable and appealing for the American market (mostly educational, not theatrical), attending African film festivals world-wide, and dealing with technical problems such as translations and visible subtitles.

Carol Lem-Dworkin, a musician, independent scholar and author of an annotated bibliography on African music, talked about her new work: Videos of African and African-related Performance: An Annotated Bibliography, which will be published in late summer 1996. It includes videos featuring African music, dance, drama, ritual, women’s studies, etc. It will be available for $57 from Carol Lem-Dworkin Publishers, PO Box 1646, Evanston, IL 60204-1646. See also http://users.aol.com/lemsdworkn

The second half of the Roundtable was devoted to the presentation of two multi-media, interactive, and very sophisticated projects being developed at Harvard University. Kwame Anthony Appiah (W.E.B. du Bois Institute and Philosophy Dept., Harvard) introduced a demonstration version of the electronic “Encyclopaedia Africana” which he is co-editing with Henry Louis Gates. The website (http://web-dubois.fas.harvard.edu/DuBois/Research/EA/EA.HTML) features a brief, experimental prototype of the encyclopedia, as does Brown University’s Scholarly Technology Group. Suzanne Preston Blier (Dept. of Fine Arts, Harvard University) is the editor-in-chief of “Baobab: Sources and Studies in African Visual Culture.” Founded in 1994, it features Narratives covering a wide variety of topics in African Art History; an Imagebase of 17,000 images drawn from Harvard’s visual collection; and an Ethnobase containing data for over 900 African cultures. A geographic information system locates cultures, sites and historical movements.

RESOURCES AT LIBRARIES AND RESEARCH CENTERS

Centre Aequatoria (Bamanya, Zaire) has produced a “Catalogue des Archives Aequatoria” on diskette (Word 6.0). Copies can be obtained by sending a formatted disk to MSU.

Most documents listed in the catalog were microfilmed in 1993-1995 and are available from: Aequatoria, Te Boelaerlei 11, B-2140 Borgerhout, Belgium. The price per fiche is 33FB. A complete set of 2458 microfiche is already held by CAMP, the University of Wisconsin-Madison, IPrA Research Center (Univ. Antwerpen), and Aequatoria.

New York University’s Elmer Holmes Bobst Library has the University Place Bookshop collection. The 80,000 books, periodicals, and pamphlets cover a wide range of subjects related to Africans and the African Diaspora.—C&RL News, 1996, p.454.

PERSONNEL CHANGES & VACANCIES

Maidel K. Cason retired at the end of July 1996, after 9 years at the University of Delaware as personnel librarian, acting assistant director for public services, and assistant director for library administrative services. She worked previously at Northwestern University as African documents librarian and as cataloger and reference librarian in their Transportation Library. She was very active in ALC, serving as chair in 1982/83, and compiled several bibliographies.

Dorothy Niekamp died on July 12, 1996. See ALN, Jan. 1986, for more details on her career at Indiana University.

Francoise Sorieul, formerly of Centre Sahel, is now Chef, Section du pret et bibilothèque de premier cycle, Bibliothèque de l’Université Laval, Pavillon Bonenfant, Quebec G1K 7P4. Tel: 418-656-3224; francoise.sorieul@bibl.ulaval.ca; fax: -3048.

Yale University Library seeks a Librarian II or III to perform cataloging for the Social Science Library and Information Services and the Economic Growth Center Collection. Almost half of this position will be involved with African economic and statistical materials. Librarian will also participate in collection development and management, reference and research services, and instruction. Requires MLS and at least 2 years professional experience; reading knowledge of 1 or more European languages; previous online cataloging experience. Advance degree in psychology, sociology or anthropology desirable. Contact: Diane Y. Turner, Director, Library Human Resources, POB 208240, New Haven, CT 06520-8240.
RESEARCH ON LIBRARIES AND INFORMATION SCIENCE

REVIEW
by Carl K. Eicher (Michigan State Univ.)

Since two out of three people in Africa directly or indirectly derive their livelihood from agriculture, it follows that information about agriculture and rural development has a vital role to play in improving the knowledge base on how to accelerate development. This book is written by 14 African information specialists with an aim of contributing to the training and education of agricultural information specialists in Africa. The 15 chapters focus on Anglophone Africa and the role of two international agricultural research centers and the CTA (Technical Centre for Agricultural and Rural Co-operation) in disseminating information throughout the continent. Because of the potential of CD-ROM in opening a window to the world of information, it would have been helpful if one chapter had been devoted to CD-ROM and other types of modern and cost-effective information technology that can be operated and sustained. The editors suggest that the two international agricultural research centers in Africa could serve as "model agricultural libraries that could be replicated throughout the continent." But in this age of severe budget constraints, this prescription seems out of touch with reality. Nevertheless this volume is a valuable contribution to networking in Africa, and it should be useful in training courses on the continent.

BOOK AWARDS

Noma Award for Publishing in Africa
Marlene van Niekerk’s novel Triomf (Prentoria: Queillerie, 1994) was named the winner of the 1995 Noma Award. The Noma Award jury cited the book as “describing the ways in which poor white Afrikaaners, too, were victims of oppression, and thus ushers in a wholly new way of addressing the past as a prelude to the new.”

The five-member jury, chaired by Walter Bgoya, reviewed 110 titles from 49 African publishers, in 14 countries. In addition to the winner, State of the Environment in Southern Africa, edited by Munyaradzi Chejne & Phyllis Johnson (Harare: Southern African Research & Documentation Centre, 1994) was awarded “Special Commendation.” Titles receiving Honourable Mention:

- Maqabane (Poetry), by Tatemkhulu Afrika (Mayibuye, 1994);
- Flowering Plant Families of East Africa, by John O. Kokwaro (East African Educational Publishers, 1994);
- Lifeline out of Africa: the Art of Ernest Mancoba, by Elza Miles (Human & Rousseau, 1994);
- Nigerian Conveyancing Practice, Drafting and Precedents, by P.A.O. Oluyede (Heinemann Educational Books (Nigeria), 1994);
- Don’t Panic, Mechanic [teenage fiction], by Jenny Robson (Tafelberg, 1994).

SURVEY OF ACQUISITIONS PRACTICES

“African Serials Acquisitions by Libraries in the North: A Survey”, by Hans M. Zell. This 5-page report, dated 24 May 1996, summarized the results of a questionnaire mailed on 29 March 1996 to a total of 35 African studies libraries. A total of 20 librarians responded; 8 of 19 from the US, 13 of 16 from elsewhere. Some of the responses to specific questions: libraries make heavy use of subscription agents; recommendations from library users were most significant in the purchasing decision, followed by favorable reviews; irregular publication was a factor in decisions to not subscribe; most US librarians were prepared to rely on inter-library loan as a substitute for subscriptions, while most non-US librarians were not. Further details available from Hans Zell, 11 Richmond Rd., PO Box 56, Oxford OX1 2SJ England.
