The Farmer is of More Consequence Than the Farm, and Should Be牙齿

Improved.

FRIENDS: I wish we had a change of operators in railroading, but I have no hopes of it. In this age of science we should expect to see this kind of work performed by machines, with the least damage to the farmer and the least expense in the world. I have no doubt that this will be done in time, but we must be content with what we have now.

SOUTH JEFFERSON GRANGE, NO. 18—J. H. Piatt, Secretary, reports that at the recent meeting, speaking on the benefits of the Agricultural College from its educational, social, and financial aspects, the discussion was in favor of keeping the Secretary's records. There was no motion, but all expressed a very favorable opinion of its advantages.

AUNT KATE.

We will initiate two new members at the meeting. We will keep increasing our Grange work. We have a good program, which is generally well received, and the result is usually very favorable to the Order.

THE MORTGAGE LAW.

County roads are paid for by the whole county. Thus the cities might come in for their share of the tax.

The county cannot go in debt for roads but upon a vote of the county commissioners.

If the people wished, instead of a tax, to bond the county and should pay the principal and interest at once, they could do so, but the debt must be limited to 3 per cent on the county assessment.

This amendment would be to abolish the road districts as so present and make the township the district.

The amendment was thus balanced so carefully that it is impossible to see any error.

If a county does not choose to vote for the county system the only effect of the amendment would be to abolish the road dis-

HARVESTING AND FILLING.

The great wash away. You have seen the north wind and the flood "rolling in the sand of the sea." The land is covered with water, and the crops are ruined.
