“THE FARMER IS OF MORE CONSEQUENCE THAN THE FARM, AND SHOULD BE FIRST IMPROVED.”

LANSING, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 15, 1893.

VOL. XYIII, NO. 16.

OUR DEMANDS.

Mr. Chairman, Patton and Members of the Grange:

The subject upon which I have to speak is one which I know at least to your satisfaction, is of great and immediate importance to the farmers of this state; I refer to the demand for an increase in the price of money. I know that the farmers of this country have been suffering for a long time from the low prices for their produce. The result of this has been a serious depression in the business of the country, and has caused great hardship to many of our citizens. The farmers, in particular, have been hard hit. They have been unable to get a fair price for their crops, and have had to suffer in consequence.

But I do not wish to dwell upon the hardships that the farmers have been enduring. I wish to direct your attention to another matter, which I believe is of even greater importance, namely, the demand for an increase in the price of money. I know that this is a subject which has been discussed at length in the past, but I feel that it is a subject which requires to be re-examined and reconsidered.

I have already pointed out that the farmers have been suffering from the low prices for their produce. This has been due in a great measure to the low price of money. The farmers have been unable to get a fair price for their crops because the price of money has been too low. They have been able to sell their produce only at a price that is not sufficient to cover their expenses. The result has been that they have been unable to make a profit on their crops, and have been forced to suffer in consequence.

But I would like to point out that the farmers are not the only ones who have been suffering from the low price of money. The whole community has been suffering. The low price of money has caused a decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar. This has made it more difficult to purchase the necessaries of life. It has also made it more difficult to purchase the comforts of life. The result has been that the standard of living has been lowered, and the people have been forced to suffer in consequence.

I believe that the farmers and the whole community have a right to demand an increase in the price of money. They have been suffering from the low price of money, and they are entitled to demand that the price of money be raised to a level that will enable them to sell their produce at a price that is sufficient to cover their expenses. They are entitled to demand that the price of money be raised to a level that will enable them to purchase the necessaries and comforts of life.

In conclusion, I ask you to support the demand for an increase in the price of money. I know that it is a demand that is not without its difficulties, but I believe that it is a demand that is well worth making. The farmers and the whole community have a right to demand an increase in the price of money, and I urge you to support this demand.

PLEASANT LAKE GRANGE.

We meet every first and third Wednesday, under the leadership of our worthy Master, L. E. Parker. We have plentiful attendance and the minutes are kept understaffed. At the last meeting we made up seven new members, three ladies and four boys. The harmony is maintained under the able leadership of the Master, and the attendance is never less than 100. Our Grange is small in numbers, but it is efficient and growing. We are always open to new members and the by-laws of the order say: "Any one who is interested and wishes to join may refer to us to be admitted."

We would appreciate any help that can be done to promote the welfare of the order, and think it would be beneficial to any one who is interested in the order. We are always ready to receive new members and the by-laws of the order say: "Any one who is interested and wishes to join may refer to us to be admitted."

NOTES FROM HEAD-QUARTERS.

The general government has on probably the finest and most comprehensive system of records within the boundaries of Jackson Park. The public grounds are maintained with floral decorations. In fact they are not associated with the implements of war and the present is the time for the intelligent looking soldier. They are being exceedingly beautiful, but within their limits.

Within the limits of the Grange grounds there are conducted under botanical rules, and the growths and flowers are under intelligent cultivation. The government building itself which is beautiful and in a perfect state of order. It is in a perfect state of order.

The Jerseys first, the Guernseys next, and the West Virginias last. The overall general breed show.

In every instance the results are different. By the milk test the Jersey is the best breed and carries the most desirable. In best four tests in test the Jerseys get the blue and the Short-Horned get the red.

The Short-Horned also get the 10th and 11th bill from the judges. This is considered the last draft for the bars for the same reason as the Jersey and the Short-Horned get the 10th and 11th place from the judges. Dear Sir:

I wish to ask your advice on the subject of the Grange fund, and to express my satisfaction with the amount of work that has been done in the way of raising funds.

I am very much interested in the work of the Grange, and I think it is a good thing to have a fund to help the poor.

Our schools at the county fair.

The question is often asked, shall our schools compete with the county fair? When there is a great premium offered for the best exhibit of some school project at the fair, it is easy to see why the question is asked. Shall our schools enter against the entire state? This is a question that will require much thought. It is difficult to say whether the schools should enter or not. It is not the business of the schools to compete with the county fair, but it is the business of the schools to develop the end of which they were established. The county fair is a great and wonderful institution, and the schools should work together, and with the fair, in the interest of agricultural instruction.

The lunch basket at the fair.

From over the waves I bear this golden head,
That's she by whose side I'd nestle...;
But there, you see, the homesick child
Who has the ability to purchase a ticket for his home will be kept from the fair grounds. As an attendant at the fair, I write from a W. C. T. U. perspective, my experience is that a great many of our friends are in the interest of the fair. One cannot be kept from the fair grounds under the pretense of selling alcoholic beverages. A good thing will creep in, to say the least, will do the boys and girls no good, except that “a fool and his money is quick.”
