CONDENSED MILK.

The New York Condensed Milk Co. would call attention of the public to the above Brand of Condensed Milk, which for purity and excellence has maintained its high reputation for the past 30 years.

It is simply pure milk of the best quality, from which a large percentage of the water has been evaporated, combined with the finest grades of refined sugar.

As a food for infants, it has no equal.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.

Four to five parts water to one of Condensed Milk, will make rich milk. For coffee and tea use undiluted, for which purpose it surpasses cream. For ice cream, sauces, &c., add one to two parts water to one of Condensed Milk.

FOR INFANTS.—While it would be impossible to give exact directions for the mixing of Condensed Milk for infants' use, as the amount of dilution necessary for a weak or sickly child would not be required for one of ordinary health or strength, experience enables us to give the following general directions, which will be found sufficient for most cases:

1st Month, add 14 to 16 parts water to 1 part of Eagle Brand Condensed Milk
2d Month, 12 to 14
3d Month, 10 to 12

Continue to decrease gradually the amount of water as the child grows older, so that at the age of ten to twelve months, six to seven parts of water to one part of Condensed Milk may be used. After the twelfth month other food may be used in connection with the Gail Borden Eagle Brand Condensed Milk, but until that age no other food is required.

The water in all cases should be boiled before using, and only such quantities should be mixed at a time as is intended for immediate use.
