DON'T confuse Larro-feed with the class of rations that stimulate the cow—increasing her milk flow, perhaps, but at the expense of her health. You yourself could easily concoct a ration, high in protein, that would make a cow give more milk—for a while—than she ever gave before. But you know that such a feed would soon wear her out.

Larro-feed, on the other hand, produces a greater milk flow by building up the health of the cow. It supplies the food elements she needs to bring all the functions of her body up to the highest natural efficiency, and supplies them in forms that she can easily and fully digest.

That's why your cows, when fed on Larro-feed, will soon begin to show a healthier condition. Their coats will look more sleek, their eyes brighter, their appetites and tempers better.

Try Larro-feed and see for yourself! Put it to the most decisive test you can think of—you get your money back instantly if Larro-feed doesn't make good.
YOU’LL find that your cows will take to Larro-feed very readily. It is the kind of a ration they like—succulent, bulky, and very palatable.

Larro-feed doesn’t ball up in the cow’s stomach. It is thoroughly digested. For proof of this, examine the manure of a Larro-fed cow.

You’re probably getting good results from your present ration—but you’ll get better results from Larro-feed! If you don’t, the test won’t cost you a cent.
