POWDER DAYS ARE GONE - CONG. IS STILL PIONEERING
(March 10, 1926)

For 10 million State college students and more than 100,000 high school students throughout the United States, April 16th marks the end of the era of powdered snow.

In the days of the powdered snow, the Yearling was considered the champion. The basket of the Powderman was the symbol of the new era of winter sports. The Powderman was the one who could make the best snow turn.

Now, with the advent of the new powderless snow, the Yearling must be content with being second best.

The Powderman is no more. The Yearling is the new champion.

The Powderman, who used to be the one to have the best snow turn, is now the one who can make the best powderless snow turn.

The Powderman is a thing of the past. The Yearling is the champion of today.

The Powderman is no more.

The Yearling is the new
champion.

The Powderman is a thing of the past. The Yearling is the
champion of today.

The Powderman is no more.

champion.
