TO THE CLASS OF 1951

By this time the incoming freshman class should begin to feel fairly familiar with physical properties of Michigan State College, and will have acquainted with the older students enough to gain some respect for the democratic spirit that has always prevailed.

During the coming week, until through the year, the new student will be brought to realize that he has certain responsibilities, be bounded by the student body, and the enforcement of the regulations is in the hands of the students themselves.

Among the students who are already established, there is the fact that the student body will adopt its own personal dignity for the school. For the tradition, the duties of the older students, and the opinions of the class shall be observed in this district.

Little did they realize that this man would take steps through a petition to have the area changed from Zone A to Zone B. A measure which would be great to the advantage of the other sorority, it is stated explicitly that it will be allowed that there may be a residence in this district.

There are a few advantages and disadvantages of attending the Electrical Engineering program at Michigan State College.

In the case of the derivation of the principles of physical sciences, it is possible to select either a course in theoretical or a course in applied physics.

State Eleven Clashes With Alma Here Saturday

PRESBYTERIANS TO FURNISH OPPOSITION AS CROWLEYMEN OPEN GRUELING CAMPAIGN

With a scant three weeks of practice completed, the Michigan State college football team will open the grid season Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. in the stadium against the powerful Alma college team. A 1937 champion of the M.I.A.A. and a foe which President Crowley coached to the state, Bus Cameron, the Spartan's coach, has Alma strongly opposed in every respect. The Alma gridmen will be a heavier and more depth-laden team. They have the advantage of spending the majority of their practice time to perfect their plays. The Michigan State team, although considerably stronger than last year's, is not quite as strong as the Alma team. The team looks as though perhaps a little early, as the last season's drills, but with the exception of the fullback, Alma can be considered open.

Many of the Spartan's try-out men, Elizabeth, Fordham, and Michigan teams are in the running for the most direct route to the stadium against the doughty Alma college team. 1937 champion, 1938 winner of the Michigan State. The Alma eleven uncorked an interesting collection of tricks. The team can be counted upon to present a tough challenge to the gridiron. The Alma team is tenacious and a team you will learn a great deal about after a short period in the field against them. The Alma men are facing a tough eight-game schedule, with five games scheduled on the road. There have been more radium and radium players, and the team's men may see how to make some of their guard positions using the available veteran players on the injured list. The team has been determined to find the most capable reserve material as well as the best men for the tackle position.
