SPARTANS MAY BE MINUS SERVICES OF VAN FASSEN; CINCINNATI TEAM STRONG

Japanese Team Comes Here on American Tour as Season's High Light; Not Vandenhouse Will Play at Centre of Van Fassen Fall to Rescue From Illness

Friday with the possibility that the University of Michigan basketball team may be without the service of star center and all-American Howard Otley, the Wolverine-North Carolina basketball game becomes more interesting. Otley is expected to play Friday night, but he may not be in condition to insist on the Michigan victory. If Otley is unable to play, the game loses much of its appeal, for the two teams are playing for the championship of the Big Ten Conference, and it is expected to be a close one.

The Michigan team, which will be known as the Otley team from now on, is expected to be strong, with a number of players from the State Basketball. The Michigan team has a record of 13-1 and is expected to tie or defeat the University of North Carolina, which has a record of 12-2.

The University of North Carolina will be playing its first game after a long homecoming period. The team has been practicing hard, and is expected to be in top form for the game.

Vanderbilt University, which has a record of 11-3, will be playing its last game of the season. The team has been practicing hard, and is expected to be in top form for the game.

The game will be played in the University of Michigan's State Basketball, and is expected to be a close one. The Michigan team has the advantage of playing in their own home court, and the Michigan fans will be out in force to support their team.
