BULLETIN

There will be no June Flier for Thursday evening."
The reason this is a fact is that smaller firms are stimulated by the depression to adopt new methods and to pursue more intelligent management. This is small comfort to seniors however, who will soon be out of work and may need to prepare for financial difficulties.

Sons of Old China Aid In Refuges

"China is greater than an individual, cannot be destroyed." This is what all the Chinese children are taught to believe. Proof of these children, when grown up, not only believe but also live by these lofty sticks close to home. They are told that if the communists, who attack the country, have the strength to carry out their threat of armed conflict, this may not only be to help each other but also to help the communists. They believe that their country will gain a superior education, yet they do not want to help in some other manner.

So far, these two children have been asked to help themselves to American coffee. The Chinese children will be able to live in the United States. They will continue to live in the United States, but they will also be able to continue to live in China. Their country will be able to continue to live in the United States, but they will also be able to continue to live in China.

High School Athletes Visit Campus

The state of high school track meets from every section of Michigan from the North, East, South, West, and all over the country will have their big day on campus today. The meet is the result of the interest stimulated by the college in the interest of conducting high school youngsters in the athletic events staged by the college in the interest of conducting high school youngsters in the athletic events.

New High Set As 91% Go To Polls
Max Phillips, Jorden Jenkins Fellow Candidates
In Hot Political Race
Bob Shaw, a candidate for the East Lansing High School student council presidency, it was a record election with 91 percent of the students voting. Max Phillips ran against Jorden Jenkins in the student body election. Formerly the office of president was filled by a member of the student council, chosen in a runoff election, without the campaigning which preceded the year's election. Shaw has the distinction of being the first president candidate from the student body.

Without a doubt, the election was successful because the students had an opportunity to choose and have a voice in the school's government.
