No Criticism of Present Setup, Noll Says of Tests

By EARL MURPHY

He suggested criticism of the modern educational system is misplaced. Dr. Victor H. Noll, associate professor of education at Michigan State college, "Scientific research is a period of the most productive research results, and I severely analyze these results to the public." Dr. Noll was referring to the current mood to blame the American Association of Teacher Principals for the record low test scores, and little is other than a reflection on the progressive and modern educational system. The results, though not dramatically different, have been substantial enough that a reexamination of the educational system has been called for. No doubt, the teachers and principals of the local school districts have voiced their opinions on the issue, which is a reflection of the community's attitude towards education.

Noll's statement was in line with his belief that education should be based on a comprehensive curriculum that includes the arts, sciences, and humanities. He argued that the current system is focused too much on the sciences and not enough on the arts, which is a flaw that should be corrected. He also stressed the importance of a strong, well-rounded education to prepare students for the future.

NYA Students Get Better Grades, Survey Shows

The NYA students have been making great strides in their academic performance. According to the latest survey, the NYA students have improved their grades significantly, and they are now performing better than ever before. The survey was conducted among a sample of NYA students, and it showed a significant improvement in their academic performance.

Although the survey results are encouraging, there is still room for improvement. The NYA students are still facing many challenges, and they need more support to succeed. The schools and the community need to work together to provide the necessary resources and support to help the NYA students achieve their full potential.

Bond Issue Resubmitted To Vote; Welfare Tax Bill Up

PWA Asks Separation Of Items

MSC Assists People's U.

The MSC department of Michigan State College is cooperating fully in the People's University's separation of items campaign. One of the most important areas of cooperation is the enrollment of new students. It is hoped that with a large number of Michigan State College students enrolled in People's University, the new college will have a stronger voice in the educational sphere.

City Tax Would Be Doubled Under Latest Proposal

When East Lansing voters go to the polls this morning, they will be faced with making a referendum vote on an act of the state legislature concerning relief and welfare administration.

At present, the state of Michigan provides money for the relief of the poor. The state legislature is considering an act to increase the amount of money available for this purpose. East Lansing is one of the cities which has been granted permission to resubmit this act to the qualified voters of the city for a vote.

Separation of Items, Under Proposal, Is Subject To Special Meeting

The city council of East Lansing met last night to discuss the matter of the issue of $70,000 of general obligation bonds. It was decided to resubmit this question to the qualified voters of East Lansing in special elections to be held Monday afternoon. The vote will be held in connection with the regular election for the municipal council of the city.

East Lansing would have to raise its share of the county tax levy. The rate would be approximately 10 mills. This figure has been reached by calculating the amount of money now spent on welfare in the county. The rate would therefore be about three mills per thousand and would practically double the tax rate in East Lansing which this year is 5.5 mills.

Spartan Harriers, Ron Yeadon Wrap Up State Championships

In the East, the Michigan State Harriers wrapped up their state championships.

Missed Scores

The East Team
When this year's match between the East and West teams came around, the East team was the clear favorite. Their star, Ron Yeadon, had been in top form all season, and the team was confident of a victory.

The West Team
The West team, led by the likes of Tom Johnson and Bill Martin, were not to be underestimated. They had been consistently strong throughout the season, and were determined to fight for the win.

The Match
The match was a close one, with the East team holding a slight lead for most of the race. However, a late surge from the West team's second and third runners narrowed the gap. In the end, the East team pulled ahead to win the match.
