Carl G. Mose, noted sculptor and second-year student at Washington State College for Teachers, will discuss "The College Student Sculptor" as Tuesday's topic in Michigan State College's Thursday Lectures, according to Miss H. D. Barr, director of the College Department. The lecture will be given at 7:30 in the second-floor auditorium of the College Hall.

Mose is a native of New York State and has been a student at Washington State College for Teachers since 1928. He is a member of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity and has been active in various campus activities.

The College Department sponsors the Thursday Lectures, which are open to all members of the college community.

Flunk List Shortens

Efforts of a recent campaign by Michigan State College to keep student participation up and enthusiasm high for the annual Winter Term have paid off, according to Professor R. E. O. L. who reported that only 15% of Michigan State College students were asked to leave at the end of the term.

Complained with those due to failures in previous years, only 15% of students in the college were asked to leave. This year's efforts to reduce the number of students asked to leave were successful, according to O. L.

To reduce the number of students asked to leave, the college administration has taken steps to improve the quality of instruction and to provide better counseling services.

The college administration has also been active in encouraging students to participate in campus activities and to take advantage of the opportunities available to them.

Spartan Society Swings With George Duffy

With the formal season in full swing, the hand-drawn last night by the men of George Duffy, also of the Michigan College of Agriculture, was the event of the evening. High-battice and their guests, including band president, Arthur Reiche, and bootlegger, were the main attraction. They were dressed in black, with red bands on their hats, and were singing their songs as they walked through the hall.

GIVE THE STUDENTS A CHANCE TO READ

For too many times, when the latest book comes on the market, the demand is immediate. While the conditions are met with in an effort to supply the public, the supply is often in the hands of a limited number of dealers and is not available to the general public. This results in the stock being sold out before it is available to the public.

LUMEBURG FARM

This is a small farm on which there are no other things than the land. It is kept by the proprietors, who are the farmers of the farm, and the land is the only thing on which the farm is dependent. It is not far from the school, and is the only place where the farmers can live comfortably. It is not far from the school, and is the only place where the farmers can live comfortably.
Gallup is Honored At Testimonial Dinner

By JOE WALKER

Edward R. Gallup, for twenty-five years a prominent Michigan educator, was honored last Saturday at a testimonial dinner presented by the Michigan Association of Teachers of Agriculture, at the Social Hall of Peoples church.

A large group of state school instructors and friends of Mr. Gallup attended to hear and give testimony as to his service and friendship to the state of Michigan, as teacher, as president of Hanover Academy, and as past president of the American Association for the Advancement of Agriculture.
