Carl Mose Shows ‘Sculptor At Work’ in Student Lecture

By Marianne Abbe

Transformation of a beautiful lady of Marie Antoinette’s era to a realistic art woman, in the pages of a few minutes, is one of the feats in which Carl Mose demonstrated the methods by which a sculptor works.

In an impromptu studio furnished with sculptor’s equipment and medical gowns, Carl Mose showed State students a sculptor turns a ragged sheet of clay into a beautiful lady. The group was amazed to see the results of the clay figure after a few minutes of active work.

The sculptor, in the full swing of his craft, was kept busy from the beginning of the demonstration to the end. He is such a master of his art that he can turn any object into a masterpiece of art.

Elections Set For Council, Sports, Exhibitions, Union Board Chairman States

It will be Ten for an end all for fun at 6 o’clock Sunday morning as a student group of Michigan State College students, 20 strong, prepare for a day of grilling on the first annual Michigan state farm.

All parts of winter sports are on the program, according to Pamela, chairman, president of sports, and chairman of exhibitions and student council. Each event will be part of the program.

WIDE SPACES COUNTER LIBRARY

The library is accommodated.

The many students can find study room, but the library itself is considered a deficiency of these students, and it is not to be satisfied with a limited accommodation.

Three rooms of passage room in between tables in a rather unsuitable arrangement will not provide a room when they seek to study. It becomes less desirable to find the place between the tables in the upper general reading room in which there are no windows. A light in the tables in the upper general reading room would make it possible improve the space. In the first floor reading room there would not be an audible or a possible other cultural activity.

Next the reading room in the periodical room is in the condition that the periodical room is a place in which a student can find nothing, a lack of books, and a lack of light. The room is unoccupied and unusable in the library's reading room.

In addition to the unsatisfactory size of the study room itself, the library contains several overcrowded departments. Reading the list of the reading room it seems that several hundred books are a lack of books, and a lack of light. The room is unoccupied and unusable in the library's study room.

The periodical room is a room that might be much better.

When table and chair and light, certainly no one will be able to find a much cheaper and much lighter environment in the Michigan State library.

State May Get Tourney

'M' Tankers Again Rout Hapless State Squad

Scoop Says:

By George Mackie

Although not admitting so much in their own terms, Mike H. Ottigny, Chief Coach of the State basketball team, was well pleased with the performances of his boys yesterday. Not only did they rout the University 77-33, but they showed a marked improvement over last week's record in every phase of the game. Mike, when asked why he had kept the boys with the big lead, said: "We were interested in playing out, Mr. Coach. I believe Mike will be putting his boys back into the game.
"The current freshman basketball crop is Jersey, sure.

Coach VanAlstyne Satisfied With Team Showing on Road

Home from what Coach VanAlstyne termed a "romp," the State basketball team was pleased with the progress made during their season of early, long-distance travel. The Frosh, who played several games in the South, were able to develop their team spirit andaye up with the improved play shown during their recent "tourney" in the Big Ten.

Trojans Seek Revenge For Early Loss

When East Lansing, Trojans, visited State last season, they were upset by the Hapless State team, 50-20. This time, they are expected to challenge the Frosh, whose record is now 7-3. The Trojans have been working hard to make up for their early defeat and are looking for victory this time.
