Too Much Play...

In recent nights the class of '12 has been having a great time in surrounding the dormitories and matching down the trees of the city and raising a general racket. Apparently the fresh are oblivious to their duties.

The only three weeks remain before midterms. That is time every year when freshmen are forced to leave school because of inferior work. A careful survey among perfectionists shows that the first six weeks of freshman year are the most difficult. The reason for this is simple. During the first term every freshman has to make adjustments in his new environment.

Here, the student finds no instructor chasing him when he does not get his work. There is no old high school teacher did. Unless the fresh takes the initiative to ask his instructors in regards to his progress, six weeks may pass without the student knowing his status.

Many freshmen are in fact out at sea on their own.
No parent domination, no close watching, and no one to make their decisions. The new man may feel his freedom is too much, but it is well to remember that prize pursuit before the fall. And fail they will if the touch does not.

Some freshmen say "it is too difficult to acquire the right study habits," others say "I have to study but don't seem to have the will power." But this is all the more reason why the freshmen should study hard. It is far more important to settle down and obtain good marks after all this is the prime purpose of coming to State.

So, fresh and#are to themselves having difficulty to study, the thing to do is to get out and do something but clean and stay at the books.

Remember midterms make or break hundreds of freshmen every year.

Plan to Augment Union Cafeteria Service Announced

Dining Room Adjunct May Be Installed To Alleviate Crush

Double Serving Line Also Proposed

By Marian Althe

A plan to provide a dining room adjuct, which would run counter to the State Union's cafeteria and double the serving line, has been announced by Althe, dean of women at Michigan State College. The plan, which will include a second serving line, is designed to alleviate the crush at the cafeteria and to provide a more efficient service.

The proposal is based on the idea of having two separate serving lines, each with its own kitchen and food preparation area. This would allow for a more efficient distribution of food and would also provide more space for customers. The second line would be located on the second floor of the Union, and would be accessible from the main entrance.

Michigan Coaches Forced to Fight Over-Confidence

By BOB HATTON

Michigan’s supposedly mighty grid machine is looking the State game as a breather this year, according to reports from the Wolverine camp.

In spite of Coach Fritz Crisler’s efforts to free off the stigma of over-confidence, the Maize and Blue gridder seems fairly certain of victory, over the inexperienced Spur fowls.

With the story of the Western one still running, and Mr. Michigan’s coach still so enthusiastic, the Maize and Blue gridder seems fairly certain of victory, over the inexperienced Spur fowls.

The Michigan-Spurs game is scheduled for Saturday, but a drizzling rain forced a delay until Sunday. The Wolverine players, whether dressed in Maize or Blue, went through a light practice session, and the first team passed the test in a real field of top-notch talent, as the others were put on the bench.

FOOTBALL

Paul Kramer will team with Jack Weaver at the halfback spots, the Michigan-Arthritis Kramer was a star in Maize’s last game.

Eddie Siato, Spur halfback, was the only one of the crew who did not make a trip to the bench, and is expected to continue as the team’s top man.

Only two changes were made in the starting lineup, a new guard for the left side, and a new tackle for the right side.

LEAVE "NODULES"

An old switchboard was used in the leaving room, and the Wolverines left with the team. All the players were in a jovial mood, and the Michigan-Arthritis team was expected to continue as the team’s top man.

A morbidity of the departure was the leaving of Coach Kramer, who seemed somewhat nervous, as he took off for the airport.

All freshmen interested in a football team report to the leaving room in the gym Friday, at 2:00 p.m.
