No War—No Bugle

Small hands may some times have a few non-bugle instruments, but Washington at Valley Forge may have had to whistle his call to arms, but with both a 100-piece band and a military department at M. S. C., it seems that there would be a bugle somewhere in the vicinity.

But when the third interruption of the hour came, he voiced, "Well, I think I'll have to put screeches out into the hall to inform people what class this is."

A Worthy Change

Action taken by Interfraternity council abolishing party assessments upon the fraternities has evoked favorable comment. In the past this has been a source of great annoyance to many fraternities who for some reason or other could not sell all of the tickets for the annual formal party during winter term.

But under the direction of Jim Thorburn, IFC president, this practice of assessing each house a certain sum for tickets regardless of whether or not the fraternities sold their tickets has been changed.

The plan of this year's council calls for no definite number of tickets to be allotted to each fraternity but purely voluntary sales. Each house, to be sure, will be given ducats to be sold, but if not sold, will be given back to the council without any assessment or penalty.

Contract this with the compulsory sales of previous years when every house was allotted a definite number of tickets, if they were sold, all was well, but if not, the fraternity had to take out of its treasury to make up the difference. Connected closely with this evil was the defensive policy of fraternities in order to protect themselves.

During the first few days that the house had tickets to sell, the price of ducats remained normal. Fraternities sold as many as they could at that price but if ticket sales in the house was dragging down would come the price as the formal date approached.

And in many cases the price would continue to drop until a ticket could be bought for as low as a dollar. Those who had fraternal spirit to buy early were unjustly penalized. This situation caused more ill-feeling than the party was worth. One fraternity man last year was heard to say, "Why buy a ticket for three dollars when one can secure it for less. It pays to wait."

But no longer is this true. No longer will the person who buys early be penalized. Nothing compulsory about any feature of ticket sales—either with fraternities or individual members. To fully demonstrate the enthusiastic response of fraternities toward this change, a glance at ticket sales for IFC's formal January 19 shows a decided increase over last year.

Finding 'Lost' Articles

Something should be done to prevent picking up of articles which basketball spectators drop under the temporary bleachers.

It seems that considerable number of gloves, scarfs, and small personal articles are stolen every basketball game or lecture by persons who walk about under the bleachers solely for that reason.

Not so strangely, either, few of these articles are turned into the lost and found department.

The solution to this should be comparatively simple. Why cannot a half dozen men students be hired to patrol the section under the bleachers to keep others out and to pick up items that are dropped by spectators? A temporary lost and found department could function after the game, and losers could get back their lost articles. Anyone except officials, who would be found under the bleachers could be ejected from the field house.

Quotable Quotes

"Democracy will not be saved by sending the cream of our present generation to Europe to fight. To save democracy we must clean house in the United States. We must gain unity of purpose and solve our pressing problems. All the slogans in the world will not help a useless democracy." Dr. C. A. Dykstra, Representative of Wisconsin, votes against participation in a foreign war.

"College tries to educate all sides of our personalities, the mind, body, spirit and a social sense which is a duty to the community. There should be four years of happy life, and when the student is through college, ways of serving her country will open up through music, medicine, housing and politics." Bernard's column's Dean Virginia C. Gundersen urges today's undergraduates to prepare themselves for service to the nation.

The DAILY WASHINGTON

MERRY GO ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Tip-off to the much discussed ousting of Leslie Hore-Belisha as Britain's Minister of War is the fact that his successor, Oliver Stanley, is one of the most pro-German members of the Cabinet.

Stanley is the son of Lord Londonderry, educated in Germany and a member of the Cliveden set which was responsible for the Munich pact and encouraged a rapprochement with Hitler before war broke. Oliver Stanley, now 43 years old, has been promoted to high position solely through the influence of his father.

Add to this the fact that Hore-Belisha is Jewish, and was the most active member of the British Cabinet in presenting the war, and you get the main reason why Chamberlain ousted him.

That reason is CHAMBERLAIN AND THE OVERWHELMING MAJORITY OF THE CABINET WANT TO MAKE AN EARLY PEACE WITH GERMANY, THEN TURN AGAINST RUSSIA, and Hitler will not take a Jew as heading the British army's drive against Germany. With a pro-German Minister of War, the chances for peace are better.

POPULAR BELISHA: Also, and this must have been a contributing factor, Hore-Belisha was the most energetic, one of the youngest, and decidedly the most popular cabinet member in Britain. As such, he constituted the chief political threat to Chamberlain. He had greater popularity than any other man in leading an effective opposition to Chamberlain. Many people predicted that he would be the next Prime Minister.

Thereafter, you will better let Chamberlain to pull himself and place him on the sidelines, no matter how often he is called for his part.

It is interesting to remember that the Chamberlain Cabinet, composed largely of men of 40 years and over, and including Lord Arthur Balfour, the oldest member of the cabinet, has been a remarkably youthful cabinet. It is a good omen for the future of the British Empire.

Manly, Massachusetts, U. S. Senator, William Borah, has been elected to the U. S. Senate for the 1937-1941 term.

THE OLD ORDER: When Doll General, the last of the Admiralty, left Hore-Belisha made a cabinet and headed the British war effort.

These facts, with many others, show that the British Empire is in a state of transition. The old order is passing and a new order is being established.

Medical examinations for boys students will be given at Thursday, January 11, at the village hospital. Women will be examined at 4 p. m. sharp and men at 10 a. m. sharp. No students are exempt from this requirement. Please do not fail to keep this appointment.

Huffman to Speak in New York

As an international authority on dairy cattle nutrition, Dr. C. F. Huffman of the Michigan State college dairy department will appear Tuesday evening, January 16, at Washington, N. Y., at the annual meeting of the New York Feed Dealers and Manufacturers Association.

Dr. Huffman's talk, "Feeding Livestock," will portray four distinct phases. He will discuss some of the work he has done in research in studying the varying abilities of various farm animals to digest typical feed fibers such as are found in alfalfa, straw, hay and best pulp.

In another phase of his talk he will cite the role of fat in the nutrition of farm animals. He plans also to offer some facts on the feeding of minerals and vitamins.

Lafayette park, across from the White House, is a place where old men and tired stenographers and total strangers sit in the sun and naps. The other day an old man dropped his feed into a fountain and squirrel. Another man slipped to water.

Very true, remarked the onlooker. "Does he know you?" "Yes, but he would do this for anybody." So would all the other men there. They all pondered, they're all on the same level, the level of the old man.

1939 Important Year For MSC. News Files Show

Jerry Dewar
The year 1939 has faded out of the picture in favor of his former protege, 1910, but he has left memories in collegiate files that have been preserved in the files of the Michigan State News. Some of the biggest stories ever to appear in the News have broken this year.

Headlining the news of 1939 was the Michigan State campus strike, which was contracted by the Michigan State News in the first quarter of a hundred days in February and March. The strike was led by Arthur Goldberg, secretary of the Michigan State News, and the strike was a major event in the history of the college.

OUTLAW COSSAGES

"Cossage" Outlawed After All-Campus Poll read a headline early in February after students had voted down one of the side-traditions on the campus. At the same time college officials were hearing their hair as they worked overtime in an effort to effect a drastic grant cut.

When students returned to school a year ago to begin the winter term they found a new set up in registration. Budget 5.75 had been elevated to the status of registrar, and a new system of registering had been introduced. Machines for the first time in the history of the college were being used for this important work, and students were waiting numbers, such as 100, 200, 300, in a more crowded institution.

MICHAEL PRESS DIES

Returning students were saddened by the news that Michael Press, world-renowned student and leader at MSC, had died. The student term of 1939 had been elected to register in the college in 1938, and he had been a member of the Michigan State News staff. Hecko to Head Finnish Relief Drive Here

Cooperating with the national Finnish relief drive to aid war-stricken Finnish refugees, the Lansing chapter of that organization has elected Dr. John E. Hecko, dentist of East Lansing, as its chairman. Ray E. Ruotsala, business administration graduate of M. S. C. in 1933, is serving as vice chairman.

Honorary members of the committee include President Robert S. Snow, Guy Loren Dickinson, Prof. Lewis E. Richards, head of the college music department, and Murray D. VonWagoner, state highway commissioner. Greatest necessities for Finnish relief are food, clothing, and medical supplies, states Dr. Hecko, who is engaged in receiving contributions of money, as well as clothing and bedding at his East Lansing office. Lansing fire department stations and Peoples church in East Lansing are also taking contributions.

Local Phone Service Will Be Enlarged

$71,600 Expenditure Planned for Lansing, E. L., Okemos Areas

Plans for the expenditure of $71,600 to meet the rapid telephone growth in the East Lansing, Okemos, and Lake Lansing areas were announced today by the Michigan Bell Telephone company. E. W. Bree, local manager of the company, is deciding that existing cable facilities serving these areas are "grossly inadequate" and that additional facilities are needed to meet the anticipated future growth. There has been a sharp increase in student registration at Michigan State college and a corresponding increase in the number of calls to the area.

Records Show War Was Very Real Thing to Class of '18

By Peggy Trout
Members of the class of 1918 were thinking about war, too.

Headed, student publication at M. S. C. for that year says. "This year we have a graduating class which has for every member who is to receive a diploma, more than one man wearing a uniform. Nearly every man wearing a cap and gown is enlisted in some branch of the service and will be called very soon after graduation."

Thinking through the pages of these early issues one comes to understand student attitudes during the World War and how an acute adjustment of academic activities and academic life at home.

On October 20, 1918, during the first war-time issue of the Herald, "The Turkey class of '18" was the first issue of the Michigan State News. "Fat" was the title of the issue and the class of '18 was the first issue of the Michigan State News. "Fat" was the title of the issue and the class of '18 was the first issue of the Michigan State News.

It was interesting to learn the class of '18 had just been drafted and will report to boot camp. Students to be placed in military reserve corps. Part of emergency war time courses were reported followed the close upon the draft, after the month of December, 1918.

Was changed course in the war-time of college life. How business and industry prospered.

Secretary of State Elucidates On License-Plate Gibberish

What does GB mean on my license plate? Why are these letters assigned to my county? Why do they differ from letters on the license plates in the next county? These and a dozen similar questions have been recently directed to Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state.

To remove any doubt regarding letters appearing on license plates, Kelly recently went to some length to explain reasons behind adoption of the new 1919 plate.

Primarily, the letters are the identification number. Kelly said that these letters are assigned to each county and are used to identify the license plates of that county.

Intramural Basketball Opens Warfare With Activity on Three Fronts

An intramural athletic program which will draw some 2,500 participants before the terms are completed, opened Tuesday with the Independent and Dormitory basketball teams drawing first blood, followed by action in the Fraternity league last night. It is estimated that basketball alone will attract nearly 1,000 of this number during the course of the term.

Four Games Open Dorm Festivities

Dormitory quintets opened their basketball season with four games in Demonstration hall Tuesday night.

In the opener, Wells D. swamped Mason 5 with a 15-8 score. Rismates with 8 points and Verger with 6 paced the Wells team. Anspigale led the Mason five with two field goals.

About 100 cheered victorious over Wells A. as Roberts and School collectively accounted for 9 of Abbott's 13 points. The Wells A aggregation was able to penetrate the Abbott defense for only 8 points.

Wells B. aided by the sharp shooting of Andrews, Craig, and Kierpe, triumphed in the battle with Abbott 15 by scoring 16 points to Abbott's 8. Rich, with 3 field goals, seemed to be the only Abbott player capable of finding the basket.

Mason 4 edged out Wells F by the narrow margin of 16-9 in the final game of the evening. Lee and Polheim sank two field goals each to account for eight of Mason's points. Page with 6 points was high scorer for Wells.

Ralph Vaughan, Southern California forward, is being hailed as successor to Hank Luzzetti, crown as the country's greatest center. Vaughan racked up 100 points in 12 Pacific Coast conference games last season.

Low Scores Hold Sway in Frat Openers

Low scores featured the opening of the inter-fraternity basketball league last night as Phi Kappa Tau beat Phi Delta Theta, 20-12. Lambda Chi Alpha edged out the FarmHouse, 16-8, and Sigma Nu trounced Beta Kappa, 19-5.

Mumma with 5 points and Smith with 4 led the Phi Tau, while the Phi Delta scoring was divided among Karlson with 4 points, and Gilkin and Harris with 3 each.

Tompson and Key Ellison combined to beat the FarmHouse as each dropped in 3 points. For the losers, Dick Christian made 4 points and Stan McRae 3 in addition to playing a good floor game.

Sigma Nu made a runaway of their game with Beta Kappa as Bob Ballard with 6 points, and Main and Twist with 4 each led the winners. For Beta Kappa, George Steljes and Will Seales combined to score 5 points.

Trojans Gird For Eaton Rapids

With three victories in four games tucked up this season, East Lansing high school's cagers were preparing today to plunge into the heavy part of their 1940 schedule.

The Trojan basketball squad will meet Eaton Rapids on the road Tuesday night, seeking its fourth win. The Cardinals are undefeated thus far in the campaign Tuesday night at Mason with an easy 22 to 9 victory. Strangers for the Trojans were Roy Dwyer, Jim Crozier, Tom King, Don Smith, and Ron Jean.

Former Spartan Stars at Wayne

Don Holby, who was in 1938-39, and other members of Michigan State's 1937-38 freshman basketball team, as they meet here today as a forward on the Wayne university quintet.

It will be interesting to observe what might happen when Don Holby, an eighth grader, meets some of his former teammates next month when the Spartans entertain the Tartan 25 Johnson field house.

Chief Andy Johnson, Max Hindman, Bob Phillips, Bob Morris and Mel Peterson were also members of that undefeated winning quintet.

The card will get under way with Y.M.C.A. and U.P. Teams at 7:15. Mary, Mayo vs. Campbell, 7:35. Buffalo vs. Bison vs. Black Hawk, 8:35, and Newman Club vs. Alpha Chi Sigma at 9:15. Wood Ticks piled up the most convincing margin of the evening by drubbing Bealton, 23 to 1. Every one of the Wood Tick cagers entered the scoring column.

The two other games of the program saw Evergreen Manor top the Eagles, 29 to 4, and Baker's boys beat both Langdon, 14 to 4. In the latter contest Jim Polvin and Harold Simpson each caged 6 points.

Fifty-six games are listed for the Independent cagers, with the playoffs slated to start February 27. Twenty-four teams are in the fold.

Freshman Cagers Open Season With Tech

Another Michigan State basketball team will make its debut in the new Fred C. Johnson, new house Monday.

Captain Tom King will lead the 1940 freshman basketball team against a new opponent, Detroit Tech freshmen, at 7:30 o'clock.

With but five days of official practice behind them, Coach King will pit his starting aggregation against a highly respected foe which boasts some of the prominent former Detroit high school athletes ever to play on any court here.

Due to the lack of adequate time in which to whip his charges into condition, Coach King is not requesting the outcome of tonight's game, nor is he attempting to pick in advance a starting lineup from the 50 candidates with which he has been working.

The freshman plans to meet from 15 to 25 players against the motor city quintet, if an attempt is to get a look at a majority of the promising youngsters.

Leo Callahan, last year's star guard for Michigan State, is coaching the Lansing St. Mary's high school cage squad this year.

State Cagers Reach Half Way Mark

Spartans Face Marquette "5" Monday

By MARSHALL DANN

Weary and crippled from a seige of nine games in slightly more than three weeks, and still panting from that hair-raising fray, with Syracuse Monday night, Michigan State basketballers are poised at the halfway mark of their schedule for a comparatively long rest of seven days from collegiate cage wars.

The Spartans are not scheduled to go back into action until Marquette comes here next Monday to renew a red hot rivalry that has consistently provided topnotch, furious battles for several years. On the following Saturday home fans will see senatorial State quintet gun against a top-flight Michigan team.

STILL PROBLEM
Although his injury problem is far from solved at the present, Coach Ben Van Alstyne can look back with considerable satisfaction upon a very respectable record registered by his crippled charges. The team has not been at full strength since Max Hindman was injured in the California game, but since that time State has won six and lost two.

Right now with a 727 average of eight triumphs in 11 starts, the cagers have one of the best mid-season marks a State team has ever possessed. However, there are still nine games left to play, and every one of those games will be a major test. There is nothing of a set-up in such outfits as Marquette, Michigan, Long Island, Temple, Baltimore, Wisconsin, or Wayne.

According to latest reports Bob Phillips, dependable forward who was called home because of the death of his father, will return next week, and will be on hand for the Marquette battle. Van Alstyne's chief worries are still over the condition of Max Hindman and Bob Morris, but the hospital case.

Hindman was forced into action against Syracuse, and played a good game. However, his leg has not come along as fast as desired, and he is still limping. Hindman's arrival at his home in Michigan, and the securing of a new machine, to be used at high speed, both are desired.

In training exclusively in the future, an indoor Astor ball court be taken into consideration for the rapid work of using the current forward has helped the team in losing the last two games, and the winning basket with seven seconds to play in the Syracuse game, with the loss of the victory, although it is the season. Even more important is the sprained ankle.

By Joe Simck
With light conditioning drill, being the vague the first week, Michigan State's track team is swinging into the second week of training faced with a faster tempo. Approximately 50 candidates are trying out for varsity berths, and a like number has been issued.

While these numbers are not a record for indoor track here they approach last year's record-breaking ones. More may report after the Michigan State track and field practices are completed, but as yet no track is visible.

After a few workouts in the big house the finalists were named from their new home and returned to familiar pounding of the boards in the gymnasium. There is a possibility that runners will be admitted into the field house next week after working hours of the workmen.

NEW ARRIVAL
Last night marked the first appearance of Head Coach Robin H. Young, who had just arrived from the west coast, at the practice sessions.

Following last year's glab, State's shot-putters began workouts in Demonstration hall, making available one corner of the already congested gym floor to the rest of the team.

Plans are being drawn up for the frosh-soph meet which will run over most of next week. This meet annually opens the indoor competition and is the forerunner to the interclass meet.

Hot Stove Confab Reveals Dizzy's Diamond Dope

By Bob Hatton

It may seem a bit early to bring baseball into the spotlight, but to the perennial Hot Stove league, chatter about the national pastime is never far off. Being one of the hardest bench-warmers in the Hot Stove circuit, a second-guesser always welcomes an opportunity to dig in his spikes and hash over the diamond.

With the baseball world quaking at the threats of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis to destroy the minor-league league relationship, talk easily drifted to the Tiger aspect of the affair.

Trout emphatically pointed out that had Landis intended to release a free agent declaration he would have done so before this Forty-five players holding Detroit contracts would have been released. The Coffman-McCoy trade to Philadelphia for Wally Moses called back and the Detroit ball club wrecked. The decision, in the talkative pitcher's opinion, would have destroyed professional baseball.

Conversation then shifted into high gear and the Tiger prospect for the 1940 season got the overview. A much stronger Tiger club will represent the Motor City this year, according to Trout.

The home-sprung finger, who has become more Yankee singer for DeLiggett, says the Tiger and grand new club's line-up that will put them in the thick of the pennant hunt. A trade yet in the offing is one reason "Dizzy" claims his club will be an top money.

The swap would bring back Fred Travis and Kendall Chase from Washington in exchange for "Raps" Rudolph, York.

Chase, an effective outfielder, would greatly strengthen the mound corps, and Travis would hold down the shortstop position in the Dizzy one position. The deal definitely will be completed before the campaign opens, he contends. Dick B... recently obtained from the Cubs for Bill Baggett, but all a little late, Trout said.

The head Indians also looks to have McCovey for an even better year than he had in 1939, a return to form of Hank Greenwald, and a power hitting by Fred Fox and Frank Higdon to bolster the Tiger power front and supply on a general improvement among the youngsters.

Trout's opinion on moving the team to Detroit is also a strong one. He says that he would like to see the team in Detroit, and that he would like to see the team in Detroit, and that he would like to see the team in Detroit.

Boxers Look Ahead to Tournery

The All-College boxing tournament is weeks away, the first dual meet of the year is even farther away, but the old Varsity club-room, converted into a ring, is filled nightly with boxers, getting into shape for the forthcoming fights.

Coach Brick Burhans has announced that the entry sheet for the All-College tournament has been posted in the gym, and will remain up until January 20, when pairings will be made. Although the preliminary bouts will not start until January 22 or 23, more than 20 aspiring champs have already signed up.

Along with the tournament men, the varsity squad is working out regularly, and with the exception of some of the higher weights there is plenty of competition. Captain Chet Braidevich leads off at 135 pounds although he will have to account for Harvey Trombley who showed up well in some exhibition fights and in the tournament last year.

Ernie Dunn, with a year's experience behind him, is the leading candidate at heavy weight. Bill Johnson, 240-pounder, was also fighting in the preliminary vision. Howard Fritz, light champ last year, and Glenn Foster will probably fight at 175, the 175-pound spot although there is a possibility that former champion Don Rossi may participate. Joe Cestowski, durable 102 pounder, is all by himself at the spot. Carl Thompson, who was undefeated throughout the season has the inside track in the middleweight division.

Tony Rizzardi has been negotiating between this class and the 145-pound division. He will settle down at one weight or the other and concentrate on the competition which ever he chooses. Herb Sayers, who has been queried his eligibility, stands a good chance of being out Don Wagner for the light weight slot.
