The Skaters' Waltz

Sliding is fun, but...
 Evidently, it's place is not on the wet steps and stairways of various campus buildings. However, while marble stairways are lovely to look at and delightful to see, they are extremely treacherous when snow has melted on them.
 Students and faculty alike slide and slip while going up slippery stairs of such buildings as Ag hall, the library, and Horticulture building.
 And believe it or not, there are such things as anti-slip steps. They are expensive, it is true, but they are available, nevertheless.
 New treads can be inlaid with carborundum strips, and they help more than chains and the proverbial "hog on ice." Perhaps officials of the college could investigate possibility of installing some anti-slip treads.
 Because, sooner or later someone will fall and break a leg or an arm. And the lamentation will be great and the sympathies will be sincere. But they will not do what a few strips of carborundum would have done.

All for the Fans

Every possible factor has been considered for spectators witnessing the Michigan State Michigan game tonight. Director of Athletics Ralph H. Young, with the assistance of L. L. Primodig, have undertaken to arrange seats in the new Jensen field house in such a way that every person, regardless of seat, will be able to have a perfect view of the game.
 Of the 8,500 seating capacity in the field house, only about 1,100 are reserved. All others will go to "first come, first served." Primodig announced that doors will be opened at 7 p. m. to accommodate the crowd.
 Spectators tonight will witness for the first time here the addition of glass backboards instead of the antique wooden ones. This should prove popular with the fans because those people sitting behind the backboards will be able to see the actual shot-making without looking up at the scoreboard.
 Favorable comment has been virtually unanimous in regard to the new electrically operated score boards. It is a far cry from the conditions which existed in Demonstration hall. One, in order to see the scoreboard, had to sit directly opposite. Furthermore, a modern public address system now keeps the spectators informed of the score and person making the goal.
 Congratulations are in order for Mr. Young who is called by many the "father of the new field house," and all others who have assisted in making it possible for Michigan State to have "the most modern field house in the country."

Quotable Quotes

"It is not at all essential that a college teacher should have reached the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in his university course of study. What is essential is that he should have a sound and scholarly comprehension of the subject matter of that which he is to teach, as well as skill and tact in its interpretation to younger and less developed minds. The high degree of specialization in study to which the doctor of philosophy has become accustomed is precisely that which is to be avoided in college teaching." Nicholas Murray Butler, famed president of Columbia university, asks that professors be teachers as well as scholars.

"Education will not change a person's basic personality; you cannot educate a person out of the life he is born to live." Dr. Paul Popenoe, University of Southern California believes, however, that education can broaden a person's outlook on life and help him to appreciate the world he lives in.

Mrs. R. T. Ohl Likes to Eat In Unusual Places
 By Margaretta Preyer

Eating in out-of-the-way places where unusual foods are served is something to which Mrs. R. T. Ohl, wife of foreign language teacher, Ohl, looks forward.
 Special national dishes, such as French onion soup, "real Chinese foods, not just chop suey, which is really American", Swedish smorgasbords, and Italian foods, especially meat balls and spaghetti, are relished by Mrs. Ohl.
 Travel east, west, north, and south, in Canada, Mexico, and all over the United States is another accomplishment of Mrs. Ohl. In summer 1933, the Ohls traveled to Mexico City, and last summer they went to the Pacific coast.
 Dreaming seems to be Mrs. Ohl's pet interest. She makes most of her own clothes and thinks that "fashions at the present time are very interesting and with much variety." But she does feel that some modern clothes can "make a person look very fresh."
 Different shades of green are among her favorite colors, though she doesn't feel she has been working enough with them lately. Rutgers university in Mrs. Ohl's alma mater, though she did graduate work at University of Pennsylvania. In school she studied interpretative dancing and became interested in music and drama. "Tristan and Isolde" is her favorite opera.
 Mrs. Ohl taught English and German in high school for three years following her graduation.
Voices in the Dorms
 West Mayo girls defied zero weather Thursday night and donned formal to honor their officers at an installation dinner Margaret Jensen, outgoing president presented the traditional regalia worn for the past 24 years by West Mayo presidents, to her successor, Kathleen Lockwood. As hosts, Mrs. M. J. Coburn received the guests: Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shaw, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Holland and Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Mead.
 Other officers who were installed were: Jean Hardy, vice president; Marjorie Riley, secretary; Lucille Lemmon, treasurer; Dorothy Kincaid, social chairman; Stella Gould, assistant social chairman, and Phyllis Robb, five chief.

You Say This
 Student Opinion Column

All opinions voiced in this column are those of the writers of letters, and not necessarily those of the newspaper.

Dear Editor:

As an organization, we grab a couple of broom sticks in handsets and go about trying to lay a rumor. It has been mouthed around campus that all the plays have been cast beforehand, that the so-called tryouts are just a perfunctory courtesy extended to the student body at large.
 "Some students haven't come out for roles because they felt they didn't have a chance" against the more experienced talent on campus, and even if they had come out, it would have been to no avail. So and so has already been picked for this role because he is the best; plenty of box office appeal, or a first year student here at M. S. C. has a chance.
 Nothing could be further from the truth. Dramatics is not a closed corporation on this campus. The fellow or girl who can cut the back, no matter how many times in how few times he has been used, will be the one who gets the role. The plays are cast by Dr. Thompson, the director, after an exhaustive system of personal tryouts, and depend on the results of the tryouts.
 Looking over the 1934-35 season, which included the plays "Lady Procuress" "Spring Dance" and "The Taming of the Shrew" we find that there were 200 acting and technical roles available. To fill these positions, 124 separate individuals were used. The number of persons used twice was 36, and there were only seven people used more than three times.
 Dramatics is not a closed corporation. Participation in any play by any person, is determined only by the ability to play the part or perform the given task, and the parts are not given before the play is put on.
 Tryouts were held for the coming play, "High Five," for the last three nights. The results are out and final. Several people will be asked to return to re-read roles for the final casting.
 Next week tryouts will be held for "Henry VIII." Everybody is welcome. Everybody has a chance of getting a part. Officers and Members of Theta Alpha Phi.

ALL GOSH!
 From the Iowa highway safety patrol we hear that Chief C. A. Kree has requested that all college students cooperate with the safety patrol in preventing one-armed driving. The chief modestly admitted that when, especially since it is leap year, have more power-over-reckless drivers than safety patrol officers.
 "Tell your boy friend," the chief requested, "that if he really loves you, he will keep both hands on the wheel, will drive slowly, and will keep his eyes on the road." Maybe the chief just doesn't understand human nature.
 Of them again, maybe he does. He states further that the type of temperament that makes a reckless driver generally tends to make a reckless, unbearable, hard-to-get-along-with husband. He adds that the same type would make a poor head of the house. The modern coed would probably come back with the query, "But who said we wanted him to be head of the house?"
 EVERGREEN MANOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—Of the many and diverse pawns of the New Deal, you can count on the fingers of one hand those which have remained unscathed by criticism. And foremost among these is the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, whose chairman, Leo T. Crowley, soon will retire to private life.
 The public has heard very little about Crowley. But neither has it heard very much in the last few years about long queues of frantic depositors standing outside of closed banks. That once quite common tragedy has disappeared completely from the American scene.
 Today, when a bank shuts its doors, it does so as part of an orderly, regulated process of liquidation. There are no runs, no distraught depositors, no depressing personal and economic aftermath. Depositors get their money immediately and in full up to $5,000. Those with accounts above that figure have to wait for the balance, but in the end they get their cash.

Student Council Delegation Reports to Group

Herewith is submitted the report of the Student Council delegation which attended the 15th annual congress of the National Student Federation of America. In this report, the agendas of the several discussion groups are accompanied by suggestions which the delegation wishes to recommend to the council's consideration.
 (Submitted to Student Council Tuesday, January 16).
Revitalization of Student Government
 This delegation commends the following suggestions to the council's consideration:

1. That the council appoint a board preferably composed of hotel or students whose duty it shall be to examine local student eating places, private and public, on or off campus, with a view to insuring a satisfactory standard of food. In case these conditions are found to exist the board shall have the power to demand their improvement, and if action is not forthcoming to publish their findings in the college paper.
2. That should there not be some immediate action on the part of the administration with regard to the establishment of a revitalized placement bureau, the council be prepared to sponsor a lobby in the state legislature in Lansing for the purpose of obtaining an appropriation to establish such a bureau.
3. The delegation recommends that Michigan State college join the National Student Federation of America.
4. Whereas a majority of the schools represented at the congress, appeared ardently in favor of student governing boards, handling problems of student discipline in both academic and social relations, the committee recommend the investigation of the advisability of incorporating such as the duty of the student council or a subsidiary board.
5. That an annual award be made by the faculty of Michigan State for good teachers.
6. That an annual award be made to the person who, during

New Store Is Open Today

M. K. O'Connor's new store on the corner of East Grand River and Abbot road was opened to the public this morning.

The five-and-ten, occupying the entire ground floor of the new $40,000 two-story Goodspeed building, provides a floor space of approximately 45,000 square feet. Frontage of the store is 75 feet on the Grand River side, and 60 feet along Abbot.

O'Connor's old location, at 115 East Grand River, was established in East Lansing in March, 1930. The building has been vacant for the past two weeks. Future occupants were unknown.

Featuring the new store are the greatly increased lines of stock and modern designing which is brought out by recessed lighting and counters in natural finish. A large women's room is among the conveniences provided in the store.

The structure is situated on the site of the first business establishment to be erected in East Lansing. Choice building occupied the corner from 1872 until it was razed a short time ago to make way for the Goodspeed building.

Second floor is to be used for office space. List of prospective tenants was not available.

Temple university students have names for their plays, instead of using numbers.

Church This Week

Rev. N. A. McCune has chosen "Light From Revelation" as the topic of his two sermons January 21 in the auditorium of the Peoples church.

The discussion, "What are the basic urges which underlie our nation's warship?" introduced a week ago in the 9:30 seminar on warship, will be continued Sunday morning in the east student parlor.

J. D. Gibbon of Lansing will speak at the evening vespers service on the subject, "What Do You Want Most of All? Is It Money Enough for Comfort?" A violin solo, "Strabande," by Handel, will be played by Dick Williams. He will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Irene Culver. The services as a whole are under the direction of Alfred G. Hagel.

Following the student supper, Mr. Gibbon will lead a business discussion on "The Same Steps Chosen for the Vespers Service."

Here, something new in the department is being planned for these days. The editor of the Wolverine College Record received a letter which said "Dear Editor (You Democrat). We never trust you nor coming when Gough and Hoover were present."

Heads Relief Drive

DR. J. E. HECKO

Six hundred pounds of clothing and $483 left East Lansing Wednesday for Detroit as East Lansing's first contribution to the Finnish relief drive. Dr. John E. Hecko, local drive manager, said today.

Hecko also stated that every dollar collected in the local drive is forwarded to aid women and children in Finland. All expenses, he explained, are paid by the local committee.

Financial contributions for the drive are being received by H. S. Lous at the East Lansing State bank or may be mailed to Hecko, Finnish Relief Fund, 208 Abbot building, East Lansing. Clothing contributions may be left at Peoples church.

Since inauguration of an improved out system, Williams collected a steady improvement in the grade average of students.

Talk of the Town

Mrs. V. H. Noll, of 152 Orchard, opened her home to members of Central Mothers Club Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Marie D. Marshall was in charge of the program which consisted of a discussion concerning "The Child and What the Parent Expects of Him". Tea was served with Mrs. Ernest Harper pouring.

Rev. Fr. Gabriels was guest speaker at the Social Study club Friday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. The topic covered Swedish-American customs, with emphasis upon the government and people of both Sweden and Russia.

Mrs. Rosemary Edgely of 11700th at the home of Mrs. Charles Huntington read her lecture, "S. S. 1935," Wednesday evening at an informal dinner served at the Country club followed by Mrs. M. J. The last time the Spartans defeated a Michigan cage squad was in 1932 by a 41 to 34 count. Rain poured down the entire evening of the contest and by the end of the first half water was pouring profusely through the roof of Demonstration hall where the tilt was played and inundating various sectors of the playing floor.

While approximately an 8-inch flood swished around the outside walls of Dem hall, managers were kept busy inside rushing out on the court to mop up, gathering pools of water. Several times during the battle players went down in a heap after stepping on a towel.

By DON ANDERSON

Should the custom of the past few years hold true tonight, the University of Michigan will defeat Michigan State in basketball at the Jenison fieldhouse.

Spartan-athletic teams have an aggravating way of losing to Wolverine teams even though they may rate pre-game favorites. Past records mean nothing when teams from these two schools lock horns, and the results of recent years bear out this point.

In the two games played last year, State was given the edge in ante-battle predictions in each instance, yet Michigan won both times. Why should this be true? Spartan coaches would be more than a little glad to know themselves.

Nor has this condition been limited to basketball alone. Last year State was supposed to have a better football team than the Wolves, yet the final score of 14-0 did not bear this out. This fall Michigan was a clear favorite, yet but for a first half in which the Spartans could do nothing right, the outcome might have been a lot closer.

Stage fright, awe, or whatever it might be, is a jinx which will cast its cloud over the proceeding tonight. It worked to perfection a month ago to give a Michigan team which didn't figure to have a chance a 33-27 victory over a reputedly powerful band of Spartans. State fans hope the cold weather will discourage its appearance this evening.

First Meeting

It will be the first time that Wolverine and Spartan have met in the new fieldhouse. Should the first meeting result in the same type of thriller as one played in the first game in Demonstration hall back in 1930, there will be a few nervous prostrations resulting.

Michigan State won that one 27-26, but it was one of those contests which saw the lead reverse repeatedly. The Spartans winning simply because they happened to be ahead when the final gun sounded. Had the game been one second longer, Michigan would have won, for a Wolverine long tom split the meshes just too late to count.

The Grove brothers, Haga, Denbender and Scott made up the Spartan front line that year. The first names of the latter two escape us for the moment, but we do remember Roger and Don Grove and Art Haga. Roger Grove was also quite a football player, starting with the Green Bay Packers after graduation.

The Grove boys were the forwards, Denbender the center and Haga and Scott the guards. Don Grove was the smallest basketball player we ever saw, by comparison even Chet Aubuchon would seem a Gulliver. He was too small to keep up the pace set by his larger compatriots, so that a pre-game meal of sugar lumps was necessary to bring his energy store on a par with their. Scott or Scottie as he was called, would set the pace for the team, his exertions coloring his face to a hue resembling a ripe tomato.

Steadied Others

Denbender and Haga were the steady influences. Haga was a "smoothie" in his floor work, while Denbender was the ideal center, adept at the important job of feeder to the others on plays around the foul circles. At that time, the center was allowed to remain in the foul circle as long as he wanted to.

It is more than an even bet that Ben VanAxtene would call this aggregation the best he ever caught. It had everything, height, speed, shooting ability and deception. The Grove brothers were the highscorers, their basket eyes being little short of deadly, while the other three dazzled the opposition with footwork and ball-handling.

It was a great bunch, and we have a feeling that the present Spartan team is a worthy successor to it.

In spite of the apparent difference in height between the two teams, State will carry an edge of exactly one-half inch per player. The five spartan starters average two-fifths of an inch over 6 feet, while the Michigan quintet averages 5 feet 11 1/2 inch per man.

Wolverines Called Ideal Team Despite Height Deficit

Short Cagers Give Speed To Attack

The Vicious Circle, Athletically Speaking

Michigan boasts fine record so far this year.

By Marshall Dann

"Michigan is an ideal basketball team."

It was Al Kircher, State's little-publicized, hard-working assistant basketball coach speaking. Kircher wasn't letting his own Spartans, nor was he building up the Wolverines. He was just commenting on the Wolverine's apparent lack of height from a coach's point of view.

"When you first see that Michigan team on a floor they seem small, because they have three sawed-off players out there most of the time," Kircher explained. "But they also have a couple of real big ones out there, and it just about makes the team as a whole ideal from the physical set-up."

These two big boys are all that are needed to give Michigan its share of rebounds and control the pump, while with those three short, but fast players, Coach Osterhan can work a smooth and deceptive fast break.

It's that quick functioning fast break that has carried Michigan along all year, with the result that they will bring one of the best records in the mid-west here tonight. The Wolves have won nine and lost two, and have averaged 43 points a game while doing it.

That 43 point average in comparison with State's 36 point average indicates that those small boys haven't hurt Michigan's scoring power at all. However, the Spartans, although they haven't been doing as much scoring, have a better defensive record. State's opponents have scored a meager 29 points per game on the average, while the average Michigan total is 35 markers.

It has been one of the big players, 6-foot-4 Jimmy Rae, who has paced the Michigan scoring machine. Rae has tallied 119 points, most of them on rebound, and pivot shots, to lead 5-foot-8 Charley Pink, who has 90 markers.

BROGAN IS THIRD

Lansing's Herb Brogan, who stands 5 feet 10 1/2 inches, third in the scoring race with 76 tallies, one point ahead of Mike Sofiak, with 75. Sofiak is of the same dimensions as Pink. Bob Fitzgerald, the fifth regular, and fifth in individual scoring, is the tallest player with his 6 feet 4 inches.

BASKETBALL

(Continued from page 1) and Jeff's quintet from Michigan that also carries a respectable record of nine victories and two losses.

The Wolverine team, made up of two tall men, 6-foot-5 Bob Fitzgerald and 6-foot-4 Jimmy Rae, and three short men, 5-foot-8 Charley Pink and Mike Sofiak, and 5-foot-10 Herb Brogan, will be the best outfit that has faced State at home this year.

Presenting the fast break at its fastest, this speedy outfit specializes on going through prized defenses, while its two tall players are excellent men on rebounds.

Although that 33-27 game between these two teams is the lowest total scored by either outfit this year, indications are that this game should be in the high-scoring bracket. Michigan has averaged 43 points in its 11 games, while the State average is 36 points in 12 games. If both teams can get over "Big Game" tightness, the clash should be a true scoring duel.

Leading the attack of the two squads will be high scorers Captain Rae of Michigan and Chet Aubuchon of State. The lanky Wolverine has netted 119 points this year, while "Aubie" has dropped in 107 tallies.

Varsity Grapplers Look To Wildcat Meet

With only three days remaining before the meet with Northwestern university Monday night, extensive workouts ruled the hour yesterday in the gymnasium wrestling room as Coach Fendley Collins put his wrestling forces through their respective paces.

The squad's injury list remained at a low par with the exception of Dave Pietry, MSC grappler of two seasons, who has been lost to the mat squad for the remainder of the season because of a leg injury.

There is every indication that Pietry's leg will not be felt too severely by the Spartan team, and team manager Coach Collins has packed an able 165-pounder in Jack Orr, who split his Wheaton opponent last week in the annually short time of 1:15.

STRENGTH UNKNOWN

Little is known of the Wildcat competition which will probably come off in the Collins gymnasium on the gymnasium floor Monday night in the first home match. The Wildcat's record is impressive, however, in that they have piled up two wins, defeated Greenell and Bradley Tech, while dropping their lone decision of the present season to Iowa State in a closely matched meet.

In last season's encounter, the Spartan aggregation disposed of the invaders, but the Wildcat squad at that time was crippled by an influenza epidemic. In addition, the Evanston, Ill., matmen have several new names on their 1940 roster and should provide a mighty tough assignment for the undefeated Spartans in Monday's tussle.

Capt. Jim Rae of Michigan will be the top scorer of the game on basis of results turned in already this season. Rae has dropped in 119 points to top State's Chet Aubuchon with 107 points.

DZV Displays Power In Easy Win

After dominating touch football on State's campus last fall it looks very much like these athletic brothers, the DZV, are planning to repeat their performance in basketball.

Starting out their campaign 10 days ago by defeating the Volunteers, the DZV cagers further established themselves as the power of Block 3 in the Independent men's basketball circuit in triumphing the Bloom, 36 to 9, Thursday night.

The DZV five had little trouble in chalking up victory number two as Eric Bremer, former Spartan guard, counted 10 points to lead the attack.

V. M. C. A. DREBLED

Newman club barely gained its second victory in the best game on Thursday. Independent slate by turning back Deadwood 16 to 15 in the first overtime. Carlan Maxwell and John Clapper led the Newman quintet with 10 and 7 points, respectively.

Evergreen Manor also came through with its second straight by overpowering V.M.C.A. 30 to 18. Three cagers, Bob McKelvie, Nelson Potvin and Harold Samson, each racked up six points for Evergreen.

Mason and Abbott Teams Register Second Wins

The Mason 4 quintet triumphed over Abbott 12 by a 21-15 score while Abbott 10 whipped Mason 2, 19-13. Other games of the evening saw Mason 3 and Abbott 13 battle to a 19-10 finish in favor of Mason 5. Abbott 15 also defeated Mason 3 21-8.

Members of Mason 4 sparked his team to victory by scoring four field goals.

Yearling Five Earns Second Victory

By Hal Schram

Detroit, Michigan, January 19—Setting an example for their upperclassmen to follow this evening against the Wolverines of Michigan, State's 1940 yearling basketball team marked up its second consecutive victory of the season last night when they trounced Lawrence Tech freshmen by a score of 39 to 28.

Grabbing a safe lead in the early stages of the game, Coach Tom King's yearlings ran up a 24 to 17 count at half time and were never heated thereafter.

The Detroit quintet drew to within three points, 27 to 24, with 11 minutes remaining, but the Spartan courtmen put on a sudden spurt to settle the issue once and for all.

Leading the winners were four out-of-state boys, Vincent Lombardo, Cleveland, Ohio; Carl Petraski, Schenectady, N. Y.; Dudley Jones, Whiting, Ind., and Ray Penninger, also hailing from Schenectady. These four yearlings netted 8, 7, 6, and 6 points respectively.

So well divided were the scoring honors for the Spartan cagers that nine of the 12 men used by Coach King broke into the scoring column.

Despite the victorious outcome of the battle, Coach King was far from pleased at the showing which the men of 43 displayed before the 600 spectators present.

Ragged ball handling, lack of sufficient team play, and occasional lapses in defense caused Coach King to express dissatisfaction throughout various stages of the game.

On the other hand, the individual performance of a number of youngsters overcast the somewhat dismal performance of the squad as a whole.

The all-around play of Art Marchessault, who contributed 5 points to the yearling offensive cause, Earl May, Howard Pienarski and George Weber, drew praise from the freshman.

On defense the work of Fred Stone and Bob Kennedy was outstanding.

Brogan Rises From Ranks to Stardom

From a reserve at the start of the year to one of the stars of the University of Michigan basketball team is the story of Herb Brogan, former Lansing native, who will come to Michigan with the Wolverines tonight.

Listed as a reserve at the start of the season Brogan, a junior, has gone to a starting position in all 11 games thus far, having scored 70 points. During all last season's contests he averaged 6.4 points a game. Tom Harmon with 69 tallies and Thomas with 79 points being total.

Brogan first hit the headlines as a cage star with the Lansing St. Mary's in 1936, where he was Blue was state Class C champion.

150,000 MEALS A DAY

With a Few on the Side

Farmers are the "eatin'est" people! They are never so happy as when they are packing away plate after plate of well-cooked food.

Week after next there will be 50,000 of these hungry visitors right here in East Lansing for Farmers' Week.

Strangers, they will not know where to go for these all-important meals. The Michigan State News is the only advertising medium available to all these customers. They will refer to it for news, programs, and all information they need. They will follow its advertisements to local establishments.

They are the ones who are going to eat the 150,000 meals a day.

They will bring extra profits to the merchants who advertise in the Michigan State News.
