

Special Second Annual Winter Sports Carnival Issue

Throws Plenty of Leather

Chuck Healy, who fights in the 145 pound class for Syracuse University, is one of the stars of the unbeaten team which the Spartans boxers face tonight. Healy is the eastern intercollegiate champion at his weight.

Spartan Fans to Have a Go At Twin-Bill Sports Fad

While Michigan State may not go in for the current college basketball craze which is sweeping the country, the twin bill wrestling and boxing show to be staged tonight in Jenison Fieldhouse is at least an indication that the Spartans in that direction.

The Spartan matmen will show the curtain at 7:30 p. m. The first 1940 opponent will be the Michigan State team. The second opponent will be the Michigan State team. The Michigan State team will rank the Michigan State team in both classes.

Dorm Journalists Bring Out Sheet

The "East Campus Times" pointed out the lack of campus publicity from this week. The "Times" newspaper of four sheets is the official publication of the residents of Mason and Abbott halls and is published weekly.

Headed by Gordon Jensen in the role of editor-in-chief, a staff of 12 residents of the two halls compose the editorial staff of the paper. The paper, which has the approval of the Board of Publications, is devoted exclusively to the two dormitories.

L. H. Geil, assistant professor of journalism and resident faculty adviser in Abbott hall, is adviser to the "Times" staff.

Under the Wire

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Efforts for world peace continued to enter in Washington today after Britain had signified its willingness to enter the problem. Action followed Secretary of State Cordell Hull's announcement yesterday that United States had begun negotiations in an effort to secure "world peace on a sound and lasting basis."

PORT HURON, Feb. 9.—Port Huron laid plans to celebrate Thomas Edison Day today without the presence of Governor Dickinson. The port executive, who has been suffering from a cold all week, however, will deliver a speech from the capital and will be unable to appear at the celebration. Secretary of State Harry F. Byrd will represent the governor. Henry Ford and Mickey Rooney will be present.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis retained his title today after winning a championship over Arturo Godoy of Chile. In a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden last night, Godoy dropped the champion who had expected an easy bout and stayed to full distance.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Members of the Young Republican Club were to hear President Roosevelt and CIO President John L. Lewis today in the second of a four-day citizenship session held in connection with the Lincoln Day banquets.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Speculation over Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia's action in the 1940 presidential campaign became deeper today when a representative of a Chicago firm filed a petition of candidacy with more than 4,000 voters. The formal notice of intention to run was missing, however.

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—The condition of Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada who has been critically ill, is expected to take a turn for the better today after physicians had discovered a brain condition which they believe can be remedied. Tweedsmuir had undergone two operations for a brain condition he suffered from a fall Tuesday and was reported resting easier.

Winter Queen to Be Crowned Tonight

Snow Sports Draw Many To Grayling

Train Will Leave Lansing at 8 a. m. And Return at 10

With weekend weather forecast as "snow and cold" a large number of Michigan State students will leave Lansing on the annual snow train to Grayling for a day of winter sports.

OFFER NEW FEATURES

Students will leave the train at 7:30 a. m. to transport students to the Michigan State Hotel where the train will leave at 8 a. m. The group will return to Lansing at 10 p. m.

Bobbi Tompkins, Detroit, U. S. G. representative and manager of Grayling park, reports that the new toboggan slides and recently completed ski jump will be open to the public.

Albert G. G. American-born, who plans to organize a half-hour party free of charge to State students.

The general chairman of the event reports that entertainment will be provided in the form of an organized sing, individual performances and recordings.

Arrangements have also been made for participants to purchase toboggans, sleds and skis on the train.

GUESTS NAMED

Guests of the evening will be Mrs. and Mr. A. H. Gower and Mrs. Dorothy Parker.

The "Times" released today at the train stop and the snow jump. The train will include the snow jump to Grayling station, the park and transportation from the train station to the park.

Art Exhibits Open Soon

Beginning February 11 and continuing through February 25, the art department of M. S. C. will exhibit two shows simultaneously.

One is a collection of 20 original drawings and illustrations on loan from the Associated American Artists of New York. The other show is an exhibition of Limited Edition Sculpture by leading contemporary Americans.

These shows may be seen in the art gallery of the main building from 10 to 5 p. m. each week day and from 2 to 5 p. m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Some of the artists being represented are Peggy Bacon, George Hiddle, Thomas Hart Benton, Arnold Blanch, Aaron Bohrod and Alexander Brook.

Among the sculptors are William Anshutz, Maxfield Parrish, Frank Epping, Anita Wheeler, Alice Jaeger, Robert Laurent and Warren Wheelock.

Faculty Women Set Dance Date

A Valentine day party for members of the Faculty Women's association will be held on the third floor of the Union building on Thursday, February 15.

Plans Underway For Next Year's Ice Carnival

With an eye to establishing the winter sports carnival as a traditional State event, the general committee of the year's carnival plans to set up the grounds for the event in 41. Proceeds from the day's activities are to be retained in a winter carnival fund as a starting basis for next year.

Chairmen of the various committees, some in number, who have charge of the widely varied aspects of the production, are to meet in reports week after next, telling how they carried out their duties and making suggestions for the convenience of next year's workers.

There has been no general chairman this year, but rather a coordinating committee, made up of the heads of the sponsoring organizations. Before disbanding, the committee plans to appoint a chairman for next year, making for more smooth and efficient organization.

J-Hop Ducats To Go on Sale Wednesday

Tickets for the 1940 J-Hop will go on sale by phone Wednesday, February 14, at the accounting office, 121 Alden, ticket committee members announced today.

Members of the junior class may purchase tickets at the accounting office, receive tickets if they cannot be seen by students, other than students by the same method as a first come first served basis.

Identification cards of juniors may be checked from Thursday to Monday for eligibility and identification cards will be put on the dance tickets.

Monday students may complete purchase of tickets and pay up identification cards, passes and tickets at the accounting office.

Sale of J-Hop tickets will be limited to 350 copies. Adu. and identification cards are to be presented with tickets at the door on the night of the J-Hop.

Coast Guard Man To Visit Campus

Lieut. G. D. Weed of the U. S. Coast Guard will talk and show pictures of life at the U. S. Coast Guard academy and in the service at 4:15 p. m. Wednesday.

Military officials stated, Weed will discuss what opportunities a career in the service offers and will explain steps necessary to enter the service and the U. S. Coast Guard academy.

Fruitmen's Bible Off Presses

Known as the "fruit growers' Bible," the M. S. C. spraying manual is now on the presses, according to Donald Cation of the pathology staff.

The spraying calendar, revised and published every two years, is compiled by the horticulture, entomology, and pathology departments.

Her Majesty and Her Court

MSC Winter Queen of 1940 will be chosen tonight from this court. Remaining four will be ladies-in-waiting to the queen for the duration of the season. The chosen one will be crowned tonight at the Queen's Ball by State Auditor General Vernon J. Brown. Intruding from left to right standing: Doris Buzzard and Sarah Jane Baxter, sitting—Margaret Larson, Bette Koronicki and Betty Townsend who will be the contestants.

Carnival Goes to See Varied Events

In a ballroom made by the handiwork of Mother Nature and the skill of man and finished off with a powdery decoration from the paintbrush of Old King Winter, night before last, thousands of skaters and spectators will swing out today in an exhibition of skating skill that calls for everything from the traditional to the sublimely beautiful.

Here at the Michigan State college campus, speed and fancy skaters will display their skills in a setting that might have been transported from any of Minnesota's northern winter wonderlands.

Thrills of the race will be felt in the afternoon event when both students and Joe College and even the kiddies sprint and glide for the fun of the race and the thrill and glory of the prize.

Events will get off to a flying start at 2:30 p. m. when men skaters line up for the gun in the 220 yard dash. Races scheduled for the 220 yard dashes and quarter mile race for both men and women, general skating, an obstacle race, a hockey game, will all follow and will close at 8 p. m.

The color of the program will be heightened when the evening program opens under the floodlights. After the queen and her court have been presented, an ice show will be presented.

Number of the queen's court has been reduced from seven to five this year. Committee chairmen are bringing Vernon J. Brown, auditor general, to the carnival to crown the chosen queen.

Snow train to Grayling, sponsored last year as part of the Winter Carnival, is entirely independent in the present carnival program. The queen and her court will reign in state on the train excursion Sunday, however according to Outing club plans.

Balkan Little Entente Meeting Is Flop Of Week

Small Countries Feel Big Power Pressure; Pledge Cooperation

Irish Continue Squabble With British

From Other Worlds

As was expected, the Balkan Little Entente, in its annual meeting early this week at Belgrade, Yugoslavia, pledged its cooperative existence for another seven years and at the same time quietly saw to it that members may individually act as they please.

Thus, say international political wise-men, the Little Entente exists on paper and nowhere else.

Reason for the split-up is pressure being brought to bear by big European powers on members of the entente—Turkey, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Greece. Turkey is already partially allied with England and France, Rumania has succumbed to pressure from Germany and her ally, Russia, and the hand of Italy was also felt at the conference.

The irrepressible Irish were doing things rather hot for the British at mid-week over the execution of two members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army for the slaying of five persons in London. Over 1,000 persons attended a peaceful demonstration in London and there was some talk of marching over the northern Irish border, all under the British flag, while Great Britain is occupied with the war.

WAA Sportlights

W. A. A. just can't seem to lay away from Ann Arbor. Jane Schmidt, president of the Michigan State chapter, *Marjorie Baldwin, junior delegate, and Beth Hack, sophomore delegate, will go to the state convention February 16-18.

Problems occurring on all Michigan campuses will be discussed and suggestions given for their solution. This conference will also prepare questions for the national convention to be held in April.

International sports will hold the spotlight in W. A. A. Bowling, basketball and badminton were attempted in past parties.

W. A. A. is sponsoring the efforts of the next year, which probably will be held at a general meeting February 15. Present constitution will also be voted upon at this meeting.

Here at Home

Reports over the alleged "P.C. letters" to the Dies committee were dropped this week when it was proved, for once, that they were not very clear what they intended. Rep. H. H. Hoot, of Michigan, who had the letters in the "Congressional Record" originally, this week had them taken out.

It seems that a Washington newspaper man, a former associate of William D. Pelley, head of the "Shirts," contacted the committee. They found their way into the hands of Hoot through a very liberal, Gardner.

Speaking before the Dies committee this week, Pelley, who had letters allegedly linked with the committee, told of his military organization's anti-Semitic expressions admiration for the work of the Nazi party in Germany. Said Pelley, if the Dies committee continues its investigations, the "Shirts" will "fold up like a blessing."

Senate foreign relations committee approved in mid-week the extension of "non-military" loans to Russia and China of $20,000,000 each. On Thursday, Secretary of State Cordell Hull revealed to the committee that Russia has refused to live up to two provisions of its treaty of recognition with this government.

Reorganization of American society along "guild" lines was suggested late in the week from Washington by the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare conference.

Michigan Pick-ups

Federal indictments were handed down in Detroit this week against 16 alleged Communists and fellow-travelers for recruiting soldiers for the Spanish Loyalist army in the late Spanish civil war.

On the local political front this week state Republican leaders, E. S. Barnard and Frank D. McKay, were retained in those posts by the Republican state committee as Democrats at Michigan announced in Washington their intent to back any third-term move by President Roosevelt.

State Dairy Man Addresses Club

Dr. L. A. Moore, research assistant in dairy husbandry, spoke on "The Effect of Vitamin A Deficiency in Calf," February 7, at a banquet of the Detroit Ophthalmological club.

This Woman's World Through Coed Eyes

With midterms over, and no more worries until term papers start piling up, women's organizations have announced an extensive program.

WAA Sportlights

W. A. A. just can't seem to lay away from Ann Arbor. Jane Schmidt, president of the Michigan State chapter, *Marjorie Baldwin, junior delegate, and Beth Hack, sophomore delegate, will go to the state convention February 16-18.

Farm Groups Will Meet On Campus

The fourth annual reliability conference of the Farm Security Administration takes place February 11-14 and is being sponsored as part of the Michigan State farm security education series.

Members of the M.S.U. faculty and governmental officials, as well as advisory agents and regional directors of the F.S.A. at the three-day morning and afternoon sessions in the Spartan hall, will be the guests of the Michigan State chapter.

Headlining the speakers will be President Roosevelt's speech on the extension of the Tuesday morning meeting. He will follow Extension Director R. J. Baldwin, who is to make the final address.

In the afternoon, following Paul M. M. Knapp's address, the background of the present European war, a Year in Europe Review, will be the subject of a talk by Paul E. B. Hill, of the Farm Security Administration.

Dr. Lema Goss, head of the same management and child development department, and L. J. Suckler, of the soil conservation service, will speak on farm problems during the Wednesday afternoon session. Also included will be a discussion by Paul E. B. Hill, of the research department of the effect of the war on American foreign trade.

Dean of Agriculture, Ernest L. Anthony, appears on the Thursday morning program with a talk on "What's Together." Paul Root, soil extension specialist, will follow with an address on study of the farm.

Paul Barrett, state representative of the bureau of agricultural economics, ends the list with an explanation of county programs for the final session on Thursday afternoon.

Lower Guard Says

News of the state's lower guard groups in this county. Tompkins, who was the origin of the group, will be present during the fall of 1938. He will also attend from the company the remainder of the year.

Co-sponsoring with Green Hall, the student faculty office, Wednesday, February 14, an important event in the "Lower Guard" calendar for next week.

Lower Guard held its meeting in a home economics classroom. It will feature a treatment of point and shot and the group will hold their next meeting in the music building.

SWL Patter

S. W. L. interest groups will hold joint meetings February 14 to present the programs of various groups and to discuss acquaintance among the members.

The social group, with Stella Gullis as chairman, will present a Valentine program for their guests, the publicity group, at their meeting in room 104 Ag hall.

The art group and membership group will meet in room 107 Union annex. From there they will visit and study the art exhibit in the music building.

Betty Allen has been appointed director of the drama group play "The Owl." Rehearsals will be held in room 130 Merrill hall. Patricia Platt, chairman of the group, has asked all members to attend the meeting and help with stage management and properties.

The radio group will meet in room 112, Union annex, while the social service group will meet in room 13, Union annex.

Will Offer Music And Refreshments At Ice Show

"Eat, drink and be merry" in going with music at the ice carnival this afternoon.

While recordings are being played at the rink, hot dogs and coffee will be served for those interested in following the dictates of their stomachs.

In case any find dancing thrust provoking, ginger ale will be available at the queen's ball in Demonstration hall.

Church This Week

Sunday morning Rev. N. A. McCune will preach the first of his series in the "New Sunday Morning With the Master." The series will continue through Easter Sunday.

Martin H. Harvey, Jr., director of young people of the African Methodist Zion Churches of North America, will be guest speaker at the 5 p. m. vesper service. Mr. Harvey has traveled around the world en route to and from the Christian conference in Madras, India. He has studied youth movements in thirty different countries.

He also attended the World Conference of Christian Youth held last summer at Amsterdam, Holland, and traveled extensively throughout Europe while there.

Mr. Harvey's topic, "Can We Be Brothers?" will be another in the series, "What Do You Want Most of All?" now being studied by the vesper group. The guest speaker will lead the outside discussion following the student supper.

Dr. Walter H. Free of the Michigan State college history department will review the book "Union Now," by Stuart, at 7 p. m. in the women's parlors.

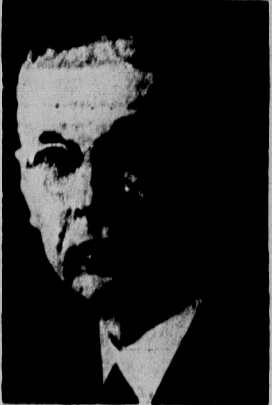

Band Formal Top Party Of Week

With colored lights focused on "Band Formal" in an atmosphere of chimes and lyres, Victorian Antilla, band sponsor, was honored last night in the Woman's clubhouse ballroom.

Directed by Jim Ladd, party chairman, Miss Antilla was a charming in side skirted net with blue tulle and white sparkling silver tulle. Ann DeCamp's orchestra played. Patrons were Miss and Mrs. M. H. Doty and Mrs. and Mrs. Keith Sloan.

Among the special guests of the committee were Capt. F. L. Ladd, executive vice president of Reserve Officers' association of Michigan, and his guest, Miss Virginia Wisley.

He Will Crown Winter Queen

VERNON J. BROWN

Boxers In Opener Tonight; Matmen Guard Unbeaten Record

Traditional Foes Invade Spartan Athletic Lair

Syracuse, Michigan Point to Victories

Eastern Champs Grapplers Rated As Underdogs

A real test confronts the Spartan boxers tonight when they come up against a potent Syracuse team in Jenison fieldhouse immediately after the wrestling matches.

Leading the Orangemen is the colorful Americo Woyaczes, brilliant 175 pounder. Not so colorful but rating as much or even more respect from his opponents is Charles Healy, who fights at 165.

Their team as a whole is well balanced, taking second place in the Intercollegiate last year. In addition to last season's stars they have Loren Schoff, hard hitting welterweight, Milford Fahy, 120 pounds, and Jack Roland at 127. The last two mentioned beat out veteran varsity men to earn their positions on the squad.

HAVE GOOD RECORD

In competition this year they have fared excellently, defeating Army, last year's eastern champs, 5 to 3, and a highly regarded Coast Guard team, 6 to 2.

Rounding out the team are Paliopoli or Ronsavale, at 155 pound, Paskovich, heavyweight, and Knouht, 135 pounder.

Although Coach Brick Barham's team will not be at top strength, they are hopeful of a victory. Joe Cestowski, who lost a hair-splitting decision to Healy last year, stands a good chance of evening accounts. The 175 pound slot is as yet undecided, with either Ernie Dunn or Glen Menter getting the call. If Dunn can make the weight limit he will probably get the sign from Barham, because Dunn's main offense is a sharp left hand and Woyaczes is known to be vulnerable to this punch.

BRADWOOD OUT
Capt. Clint Bradwood, out with injured ribs, will be replaced by Harvey Trombley in the light weight class. Carl Thompson, who was undefeated in dual competition last year, will try to maintain his victory string at 155 pounds.

Lloyd Frain, who showed up well in the recent tournament fights at 127, and Herb Zindler, much more durable than in previous years, fights at 120.

Varsity Swimmers Seek Third Victory Against Purdue

SPARTAN SPORTFOLIO

By DON ANDERSON

Those of you who don't think Michigan State is lucky to have a place like Jenison fieldhouse in which to play its basketball games should consider the case of Southern California. The Trojans, with an enrollment around 20,000 students, found themselves without a home for its basketball team at the start of the season.

In fact, this situation seems to have been the mode for quite a number of past years. In 1930 Southern California played all of its games in the Shrine in Los Angeles, but was forced to move to the Olympic auditorium. Then, after using the Olympic for a few years, the Trojans moved over to the newly-constructed Pan-Pacific auditorium.

But the ice-skating craze struck Los Angeles and the Pan-Pacific was turned into an ice rink. That again left the Trojan basketball team homeless.

Playing Conditions Are Poor

Last year they went back to the Olympic, but found the playing conditions next to impossible. The floor was bumpy and springy, and the seating arrangement was such that the spectators were often unable to see either basket.

At close of last season there were rumors of the construction of a sports pavilion but nothing of the sort materialized, and the gym was provided too cramped for good playing. Thus, when the present season rolled around, the Californians were out in the cold for sure.

After weeks of meditating, it was decided to play all games in the Shrine once more, with the court set up on—of all places—the stage of the auditorium! We can't imagine just what it would be like to witness, or play in for that matter, a basketball game in such a location.

So, we think Michigan State is very fortunate in having a building like the one across the river for such affairs. Not that we've heard any one complaining about it.

Ramblings. Those who should know are saying that Roy Cullenbine will develop into a better big leaguer than Benny McCoy. They say that Roy has the makings of becoming one of the best outfielders in the business; if given the chance to play regularly he'll get that choice with the Dodgers. When Buck Newsum, the Tigers' garrulous moundman signed his contract recently he had this to say: "It sure was nice to get that pay increase, but look at the headlines I missed by not becoming a holdout!"

Hilltopper Coach Saved by the Bill!

Have you heard this one: When the Marquette basketball team was enroute to Detroit for a game recently, their train broke down necessitating a long delay. . . . Coach Bill Chandler, wishing to avoid too long a wait sped to a telephone in a police squad car to ask about other connections. While he was away a rescue train came along and picked up his team. . . . seeing that the train wouldn't stop where he was waiting, Chandler pulled a laundry bill from his pocket and lighting it, frantically waved the train to a halt. . . . a few days later Chandler received a flashlight from the engineer with the following admonition: "Use this the next time!"

Lytle Rockenbach and Bill Rupp, Spartan grid stars, had ever picked the same game for their families to attend last fall. Charley Bachman might have experienced a little trouble getting tickets. There's a grand total of 30 in the two families. . . . Bill has seven sisters and five brothers while Lytle boasts six brothers and seven sisters. . . . add in the parents and you have a pretty fan sized cheering section.

In the story that came out of New York on the State Long Island game, frequent mention was made of the fact that the glass backboards seemed to be bothering the Spartans. . . . evidently the man on the other end didn't know about those new backboards in the fieldhouse. . . . Joe Holsinger spends most of his spare time diagramming grid plays. . . . almost any time you walk into the coaches' office in the gym you're certain to see Joe at work with pencil and pad.

Cagers Relax As But Three Tilts Face Them In 26 Days

Coach Ben Van Alstyne and his basketball lads are relaxing all over the place these days—just plain relaxing. It's not that they're lazy, but now the Spartan cagers have become gentlemen of leisure.

What with three games scheduled over a 26-day stretch at this time of the season, it's no wonder the cagers don't know what to do with themselves. Both the players and fans have been accustomed to having games on hand every other day or so during the last month of the campaign, but that's a matter of the past now.

Up to this year the basketball team has always been told to finish off their schedule and then get out of Demonstration hall no later than February 15. That date was set as the start of baseball practice, and the portable floor had to go. Coach Van Alstyne didn't like all the rush to get his team out of the armory, and Baseball Coach John Kobs didn't like to wait so long before he could turn loose his diamond candidates for indoor practice.

Now both are happy. Van Alstyne has his Jenison fieldhouse court just as long as he needs it, and this year will have a game played there on March 1, an unheard-of date in previous years. And Kobs moved into the armory with his batterymen in the middle of January.

The basketballers will have their routine of practice sessions interrupted briefly next Wednesday when Wayne comes here for their first test in 10 days. Following the Tartar clash they will have another 10-day layoff before making their flight to Marquette.

When the State squad enplanes for Milwaukee, it will mark the first time a Spartan team has made a trip by airplane since 1931, when the cagers flew to Milwaukee.

VAN SMILES
The announcement that his players would be able to fly to Marquette again this year has Van Alstyne smiling. After making two trips this year that covered more than 7,100 miles by train, the Spartans are getting weary of sleeper jumps.

Then there is also the factor of missed class studies. Traveling by train would mean that the team would have to leave Friday and cut two days' classes. Present plans call for the team to leave at 10:30 Saturday morning.

Tankers Set For Purdue Invasion

Spartans Seek Revenge Over Boiler-makers

Holding one intercollegiate victory already this season, Michigan State's swimming team will face its second test of the season this afternoon in Purdue's Boiler-makers tankers from Lafayette, Ind. Starting time for the meet is 2 p. m. in the college pool.

In their first appearance of the season last Saturday the Spartans turned back Ohio Wesleyan, 52-23. They also held a 38-25 victory over the freshmen.

In the matter of all-time competition the Purdue aggregation never has proved much of a stumbling block for State. The Spartans earned a 44-31 victory in the first meeting of their rivalry in 1930, stopped the Boiler-makers 49-35 again in 1932, but dropped a 48-36 decision last year.

The invasion of Purdue today will also mark State's first meeting of the season with a Big Ten swimming team. Three other Western conference members, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan are scheduled in succession by the Spartans in the next three weeks.

Coach Jake Daubert won't so much as hint that the tankers probably have a better chance of beating Purdue than they have had since that convincing victory in 1932.

The Spartans will go into today's meet with a squad which smashed three varsity marks in the first intercollegiate meet this season. New standards were hung up by the tankers in both 270-yard medley and 360 yard freestyle relay, 200 yard breast stroke and 440 yard free style.

Possible starters in all events today are: 270 yard medley, Ken Turner, Ladd Loomis, and Don Ladd; 200 yard free style, Fred Hunselman and Bruce Youm; 50 yard free style, Hurlley Johnson and Dale Hansen; diving, Leonard LaFrance and George Rogers; 100 yard free style, Hansen and Johnson; 150 yard back stroke, Don Farnes and Bob Whitst; 200 yard breast stroke, Loomis and Lee Grant; 440 yard free style, Fred Hunselman and Youm; 360 yard freestyle relay, Ladd, Johnson, Hansen, and Farmer.

Polo Team Drops First League Game, 11-12

The Lansing Red Wings handed the Michigan State polo team a 14-12 setback Friday night in the Spartans' 1940 bow to Michigan Indoor Polo association play.

Eight goals by Jack Boss of the Wings set the contributed six to the State cause. Moved up to the varsity after a stellar demonstration in Wednesday's "B" game, Norm Spatz collected four markers at No. 1.

Six counters by Fred Gibson sparked a scoring spree by the Spartan "B's" as they trounced Pontiac Tom Acres, 14-6. Hunsell's three goals were high for Pontiac.

Frosh Trackmen Increase Lead

Tuning up for a triangular meet with Michigan and Michigan Normal at Ann Arbor Tuesday, Michigan State's varsity trackmen will wind up the interclass meet today with three events.

Freshmen continued their powerful showing and are practically assured of a victory with 48 points for the ten events completed to date.

Summaries:
Two mile run—Won by W. Koles (Sr.) Sports (F); second, Sullivan (F); third, VanVleet (F); fourth, Time 10:18.

pool. The State mermen hold decisions over the frosh and Ohio Wesleyan so far this season, and should win handily today, providing their new good luck charm is in proper form.

D.Z.V. Cagers Star In Independent League Play

DZV again proved to be the team to beat in the Independent league as it swamped the Tigers by a 40-12 count Thursday. With Ernie Bremer and Lou Baker leading the way with 12 points each, DZV had too much for the ball for the Tigers to cope with. Bakerboro was also impressive in its one-sided 34-10 victory over Abbot Manor. Playing steadily on the offensive throughout the game they had little difficulty against the Abbot lads. Alex Ford, Bill Roman and Lou Bucci combined to give the victors 20 of the 34 points.

In the final game of the evening, Evergreen downed Hamilton House in a low scoring 11-8.

Score by periods:

Tigers	6	12	12	32
DZV	2	18	0	20
High scorer DZV, Bremer, 12 points
Abbot Manor	8	10	16	34
Evergreen	2	10	2	14
Hamilton House	2	6	3	11
High scorer Evergreen, Potter, 10

Freshman Basketball and Mat Teams in Action

By Hal Schram

Hoping to end its season the proper way, Michigan State's freshman basketball team will take to the road today when the yearlings travel to Kalamazoo to return a home-and-home engagement with the Western State Teachers frosh.

Coach Tom King's Spartan freshmen have a season's record of four wins as against one defeat, and a victory tonight would not be unwelcome.

However, if a victorious outcome is to be achieved in tonight's battle against the Bronco cagers, it isn't going to be easy.

The Western State frosh have been priming themselves during the past week to avenge the 50 to 47 defeat handed them earlier in the year by the State basketball shooters. This is the only blemish on an otherwise spotless season's record.

Coach King will take about 15 players on the trip, which is to be played as a preliminary to the Western State-Ohio Wesleyan encounter.

DETROIT WRESTLERS HERE

Another undefeated record will go on the black this afternoon when Michigan State's undefeated freshman wrestling team tackles the Detroit West club in the college gym at 4 o'clock.

Victorious in their first three meets of the season, Coach Collins yearlings are not expected to have too much trouble with the invaders. Although the Detroit grapplers are not to be classified as setups, the Spartan matmen have been improving with each match and should take their fourth straight.

Believing in the theory that it is unwise to break up a winning
