Marriage Lecture Planned Again

Mortar Board is to be congratulated on the work it is doing to advance the status of this year's marriage lecture is to recegnize a weakness and to find a strong solution are separate items—but Mortar Board accomplished both, as is shown by the manner in which the lecture is the status of the st be conducted this year.

Interest in last year's lectures dropped off after each so it was decided that possibly the one-lecture-aweek idea was at fault. Consequently, this year's course will be completed in four weeks, with lectures being held twice weekly, on Mondays and Thursdays. Even though only four weeks will be consumed by the lectures, eight separate programs will be presented, as in past years.

Another good item in this year's course is that students will register for it at spring enrollment, in the same manner they would for any other course. No credit is given for attending, but the lectures should be of great aid to all seniors in college. It is proposed that cards will be given put to those enrolling, and that admittance will be based on

The entire idea of marriage courses at Michigan State college is a good one. Students have before them a great prospect of learning more about marriage-all interest they can show toward the lectures will be to their own benefit Whether senior students contemplate marriage in near future r not, is unimportant, for they will learn something from ese courses that will be of value to them for the rest of f their lives.

Don't Stop Now

Addition of signs in East Lansing to slow down speeding notorists is a worthy project but signs alone will not solve the problem.

Weeks have elapsed since highway and city officials conferred in regard to the traffic situation. What happened to the proposal changing the light at Grand River-and Abbot

Admitting that East Lansing needs signs to alleviate traffic conditions, it also must be admitted that other improvements must be made. Is the movement to install other lights

According to one highway official, the traffic fault in last Lansing lies with the students and not with motorists. Ie believes that pedestrians are responsible for traffic inasmuch as they cross improperly. But granting that udents and townspeople are at fault in crossing, it is only half-truth. What of the motorists who speed through ast Lansing as if it were a speedway? What of drivers ho fail to come to a complete stop at certain intersections? The only caution necessary is for officials not to stop in lleviating traffic until every means has been utilized. Make cal streets safe for pedestrians and motorists alike.
