Paging Diogenes

The refreshing candidness of Dean Conrad and the courteousness of freshmen women are both to be complimented.

Spare That Blade

But They Made It

Migrants were treated to the sight of 25 hitchhikers lined up at the place the other day, all headed for Chicago.

That Depends

Professor Ewmann's class in Robert Browning's poetry (not just "Browning" as it is so commonly called) argued for 15 minutes about the problem of happiness the other day.

Blinking Right

If you are walking across campus and happen to see the red blinking light of the new radio building at high noon, don't blink at the radio department.

Final Session Voted Down

Due to student expression against it, plans for a final "question session" in the marriage lecture course have been discontinued, Rebecca Lord, course chairman, announced yesterday.

A poll of students attending the lecture on Thursday, April 18, showed by a 2 to 1 vote that students are satisfied with the information already obtained from the course. Student comment showed that the extensive question periods held at the end of each previous lecture had exhausted the need for a meeting of this type.

Bibliographies have been prepared for those desiring further information. They are available at the offices of the dean of men and the dean of home economics.

News Gets Top Ranking For Second Year

For the second successive year, an All-American honor rating has been awarded to State News for 1939-40. Editor Walt Rummel announced yesterday. The News was one of 406 college papers from 45 states entered in Associated Collegiate Press critical service.

Highest departmental award was in typography, which judges rated superior. Vitality and timeliness of news coverage, news stories, features, and editorial columns rated high. Today's Campus column was commended by several judges.

Critics said news coverage and general treatment of news is good. "Headlines are generally very well written, and front page makeup usually very live."

Associated Collegiate Press, of which State News is a member, each year offers this critical service, and furnishes critical reports following examination of the paper. Copies of full term issues were sent for criticism. All-American is the highest rating awarded.

Students Will Ply Chopsticks For Chinese Aid

In recognition of the Far Eastern Student Service fund, the Student Christian Union is sponsoring a rice and tea supper Sunday, 6:30 p. m. Previous to the supper, Winfield Lane will lecture and show pictures of China, Korea, and Japan, which he and his wife, a native Korean, took while abroad last year.

All money taken in at the supper will be sent as a donation to the student fund which is used to help students in warring nations. Special emphasis is being placed on the Chinese situation which is particularly acute due to the Japanese invasion. Of a total of 114 colleges only eight are left on their campuses. Those that have been forced to move are using caves as dormitories, mud huts as class rooms and old temples for makeshift laboratories. It has been estimated that ten American dollars will entirely support a Chinese college student for one year.

The "Sacrifice" meal will be carried out in real Chinese tradition with chopsticks. The first 130 people present will be given their chopsticks to keep at the end of the meal. Michigan State students from foreign countries have been invited as special guests.

Votes cast during spring registration tallied 4,320 in favor of, and 937 opposed to the present setup.

Board Considers Many Problems

Naming of the theater in honor of George Thompson Fairchild, professor of English at Michigan State from 1865 to 1879, was decided upon at the monthly meeting of the State Board of Agriculture, Thursday, April 18.

Long distinguished in college administrative activities, Professor Fairchild was president of the college in 1873-1874. After leaving here he became president of Kansas State college in 1879, and he later held the vice presidency of Berea college, Ky., until his death in 1901.

Staff appointments authorized by the board include Leonard J. Jungwirth as instructor in art. Instructor J. A. Person, of the art department was granted a leave of absence for one year to work with the Michigan WPA art project. Mr. Jungwirth was on the faculty of the Wayne university art department.

The board created a cooperative section for research in the experimental station in animal pathology and the Federal Regional Poultry Laboratory, and an appointment to this position will be made later.

A grant of $500 from the Tennessee corporation, Atlanta, Ga., was accepted for research in sprays, and a research grant of $400 from General Electric corporation was accepted for research in the effect of lights on meats.

Authorization was made by the board of an increase from 32 to 64 in the number of alumni scholarships equivalent to the college $40 term fee each term, for high school graduates. The scholarships will be granted by the scholarship committee and will be available to outstanding Michigan high school seniors, beginning with the fall term 1940.

EDITOR, Michigan State News: In the light of the consistent editorial opinion of the State News regarding the scheduling of mid-term exams, I, too, would like to express my opinion.

Let me first state, not apologetically, that I am probably no better than the average student, yet I can see absolutely no reason for the necessity of scheduling mid-terms. Every student knows about the practice of giving exams and he also knows approximately when to expect them.

If he does not make a practice of keeping up with assignments, an exam schedule only indicates to him a time beyond which further successful procrastination is impossible. If one has a tendency to keep putting off work, no number of exam schedules is going to correct that tendency.

Why not face the fact that we students are here, not to be pampered and coaxed into studying and a summing a few responsibilities, but to prepare ourselves for contact with a world that demands action—not procrastination.

Chinese Should Win War In Two Years, Koo Says

By Harriette Ysberg
Since America holds the one crucial factor that can shorten the war between China and Japan, the present embargo will have great effect on its length, declared Dr. T. Z. Koo, internationally known lecturer and secretary of the World Christian federation, in his address at the Michigan State college peace parley Thursday night in Peoples church.

In explanation of the background of the present "undeclared war" in the Far East, Koo pointed out the problems that faced Japan and China. CONQUESTS CAUSE FEAR
China, Koo explained, has been taking seriously "national reconstruction," and the conquests of Japan have caused a fear that it will be taken away.

One of the immediate problems facing these countries, stressed the speaker, was Japan's demand for economic and military cooperation between China and Japan. This, Dr. Koo pointed out, would force China to reorganize her government.
Although the Chinese fared badly during the opening campaigns, "With the second year of the war," Koo said, "we began to feel that though we might not win, we would not lose."

Now, he continued, the Chinese feel they will be able to drive the Japanese out and be in Nanjing within a year and a half. ATTITUDE IS CHANGED
This change in attitude, the speaker explained, is due to three main things: The first two, size and Chinese man power, will do much to curb Japanese aggression, he said.
Thirdly, Koo emphasized, the development of "guerrilla warfare" has tied one half of the forces of Japan behind the lines, making it possible for China to still collect 90 per cent of the taxes from occupied territory.
Koo emphasized the fact that the international situation might affect China. There is the fear he continued, that if war in Europe is intensified and Russia drawn in, the latter may stop supplies, whereas England and France may have to obtain help from Japan at China's expense.
KEEP STUDENTS OUT
Since the students of today will be the leaders of tomorrow, Koo pointed out, colleges and universities have been urged to keep the students from going into the war. He went on to explain that although 60 colleges were lost in the first four months of the war, 35 have been replaced.
In conclusion, he stressed the fact that after the war, the people must help to recreate some kind of machinery that will take the place of war. That will be the "idea of hope."

'Hands-off Warning Give Japan by Hull

By Sid Levy
From Foreign Shores
The war of Scandinavia, 1940, continues, with both the Allies and Germany claiming the upper hand. Neither has conclusively proved its right to that claim, as yet.

Great Britain, who has been speeding reinforcements all week to Norwegian troops in the Narvik and Trondheim sectors, has not succeeded so far in stopping the German advance, now in its 13th day. Berlin has laid claim to occupation of the entire Oslo area, extending southeastward to the Swedish border.

A major battle seems, in the making near Trondheim, northern Norwegian port occupied by Germany last week, where British and Norwegian forces have made contact for an anticipated drive to recapture the city. Narvik, important iron ore port, has been in German hands for several days and is now the center of an engagement in which Britain has claimed to have partially surrounded the city in a pincer movement.

The board referred to a committee composed of C. O. Wilkins, treasurer, and Mr. Hannah a representative of a committee representing the American Federation of Labor, 274 stage employees and motion picture operators—that union employees be hired in the operation of the new auditorium and theater. The college committee will meet with a union committee to give the request further consideration and to report to a later meeting of the board.
A demonstration forest was authorized by the board on 94 acres of land east of Eagle, on US 16, which is owned by the college as part of the Fred C. Jenison estate. The board also authorized improvements in the 4-H club building at Chatham, and authorized plans at the Chatham upper peninsula sub-station.

MSC Helping State in Soil Conservation

State program of soil conservation is going forward rapidly with active cooperation of Michigan State college's department and extension workers.
Several hearings on possibilities of increasing number of districts included in the program have been held recently by State Soil Conservation committee, of which Dean of Agriculture E. L. Anthony is a member.
Work in four districts now set up in Michigan is carried on largely by extension service under Director R. J. Baldwin.

In line with general plan of conservation of better farm lands is training program for leaders in 4-H club conservation groups headed by James A. Parter, extension specialist in soils.

Here at Home

The United States this week flatly warned Japan, or anyone else with possible designs on Dutch East Indian possessions in the event of Dutch participation in world war, that a "hands-off" policy is to be considered in force in that area. The pronouncement came from Cordell Hull, who made his reference to Japan clear though indirect.
Both Great Britain and France have expressed concern for the fate of these Dutch possessions should Holland be invaded by Germany. Germany, at the same time, has warned Holland to be on the lookout for an Allied invasion. Japan, too, expressed concern.

EXPRESSIONS DISAPPROVAL

President Roosevelt reiterated this week his extreme disapproval of dictatorships in general, of the German invasion of Scandinavia, specifically. Supporters of a third term for the president feel the present increasing world crisis will force him, however reluctant, to accept the third term nomination. "Don't change horses in mid-stream," they say.
Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota has been named as key contender for this year's G.O.P. presidential convention. He typifies the new Republican emphasis on youth and "liberalism," say Republicans.

MICHIGAN PICK-UPS

Definitely the winner this week was the C.I.O.-U.A.W. in the National Labor Relations board elections held in General officers plants throughout the nation. A P. of I. was defeated about 2 to 1.

Spartan Portfolio

By DON ANDERSON

Shedding around the athletic front to discover:

That Michigan State's football team, as reflected in the Waynesville paper, hasn't hit it stride yet. The Spartans are still a little behind, and it is a matter of time before they will get into their stride.

That Bill Fitzsimmons, since the return from the south, has lightened up at the plate after hitting .055 in the field. Fitzsimmons blames part of his failure to hit on the fact that he hasn't a hot hand enough for him. He is accepting the lighter sticks around the circuits and is sure the ball will hit in front.

Lack Pitchers

That pitching strength is one of the things that the Spartans lack this spring. It is this team's weakness. Since it has no pitcher to hit, the Spartans will have to rely on their hitting power to win. It is a matter of time before they will get into their stride.

That the team has great potential possibilities, and can very well prove to be the best Michigan State team in recent years.

That Ralph Young, track team pitcher, is a pitcher, and will show it in the future. With assistance in the batting line, he can win with the best of them.

That unless something unforeseen happens, State's golf status in the state will be such that it will be of the University of Michigan in the next year, and will be a very good one.

That Yarnall, Coach of D. D. Hall, must have a very capable pitcher to succeed where the other pitcher has failed.

Material Plentiful

That Charles Buchanan, having the accounts will come up with a pretty fair football team next fall. There is no shortage of either line or backfield material. Production number one on the 1940 grid number one. That Michigan State's game next October will be with a double edition prize. For the first time in history, probably State is due to have more plentiful material than Michigan.

That the American League is going after additional talent, and will be in a position to buy the best of the market.

Fresh Rout Sophs In Cinder Meet

While the Freshmen were competing in the meet at the Kansas Relays, the Sophomores were competing at the State meet. The Sophomores had a very good performance.

The big highlights of the meet were the 100-yard dash, the 200-yard dash, and the 400-yard dash.

In winning their 100-yard dash, the Freshmen demonstrated their speed and their ability to start a race.

The Sophomores, on the other hand, showed their endurance and their ability to maintain a steady pace.

Overall, the meet was a success for both teams, and it was a good opportunity for them to gain experience.

The meet was held at the University of Michigan, and it was a very good one.

Seven Day Layoff Faces Spartan Baseball Team

Having demonstrated their ability to play in any kind of weather in two rain-soaked and chilling games with the University of Wisconsin, Michigan State's baseball team today headed into a one-week rest before resuming its schedule with Western State Teachers college here next Saturday.

However, intra squad hits and practice games are slated for the Spartans in the next seven days. This morning the State squad left for Jackson where they are to play an exhibition game against a Michigan team.

Following another training trip to Jackson, the team will return to campus and resume practice.

Given Splash has announced that the gym pool will be open to all women students, free of charge, every Wednesday and Thursday from 2 to 8.

WRESTLING

DEFIANT April 19. Michigan State college wrestlers today defeated 11 victories in the first round of the National Junior AAU meet here.

The wrestling squad, which is coached by Coach John Kuhn, today defeated 11 victories in the first round of the National Junior AAU meet here.

The Spartans, which have been so good in practice games, today defeated 11 victories in the first round of the National Junior AAU meet here.

Although the pitching wasn't overly effective, it was enough to cheer Kohn in the first game. Coach Merrill led five innings of solid work in which the Bulldogs scored all their runs and then here down in a steady downpour to shut out his foes in the last four innings.

On the I M FRONT

By DON MCDONALD

Intra-mural Director E. E. Falming has developed such an extensive spring athletic program that the softball and baseball diamonds are in use almost every evening, and to speak of three tennis courts twice a week. Three softball games contain 37 teams, and 17 tentacles have teams in both the baseball and tennis leagues.

In looking over the W. V. roster, it is easy to see why the best pitcher will be tough to beat this year. One of his best numbers were named on last year's All Independent list, and he was named on the All Independent list.

Saturday morning's schedule for the grouting grid includes and includes, polo, golf, high hurdles, and the 1500 meter run.

Michigan State will also be defending the four mile relay championship this afternoon. The Spartan distance runners were easily last year in 1939 but now a big question mark is present.

Only Capt. Roy Fehr and Bill Mansfield are back from the winning team. Johnny Ed Mills and Warren Anderson have taken over the spots filled by the late steps, Dick Fehr and Ed Van Aub.

The defending champs of the first baseball league, Alpha team, who had the number one team in the State, both back to beat the best of the best.

Most team started in a single game to date, 22 in their history, given the Ag football team. They have been four shutouts, two in the football and two in the basketball.

Chief threats in the Spartan line are Robinson, A. and M. Robinson, and Deane. The Michigan Angel, who were lined in 17 49 while standing in the Texas He.

Campus life at University of Kansas is portrayed in a motion picture now being filmed.

Agony Nine Defeats Forestry Diamondmen. Only one game was played in the Ag softball circuit Thursday night, with Agony Nine defeating Forestry 9-4.

Three Courts. In this building we have seven handball courts, a gym floor which has been divided into three basketball courts, a court for volleyball and badminton, an apparatus room which will be open at all times, an adapted sports room with the latest equipment available, and a six lane swimming pool which will afford open swimming for all interested men students.

Although most of these activities were offered before, the available space was so limited that all interested students were not able to compete especially after the gym games were removed.

Reports from the physical education department already indicate that the handball courts have caught on "in a big way," and that the demand for their use has been extremely heavy.

Two additional basketball courts, which the new building affords, will enable next winter's intramural basketball campaign to be a more wide open and larger affair.

Information coming. Although hours for open swimming have not yet been announced, Young rats such information will be posted during the next week or so.

Arrington Making Bid In Kansas Decathlon

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 19.—Walter Arrington, Michigan State's all-around trackman, posted in second place in the halfway mark of Kansas Relays decathlon with 174 points, 29 less than the total compiled by Lee Todd, decathlon champion.

Competing against nearly a score of top flight performers, the Spartan ran placed first in the high jump and broad jump, third in the 100 meter dash, fifth in the shot put, and eighth in the 400 meter run.

Thanks for the collection in support of a seasonal extension committee meeting, was shown by the fact that the Friday school was a full day of practice.

Brown Predicts Fast Times For Cinder Captain Fehr

By Marshall Donn
"Roy Fehr is just an average runner, yet he's the best mile runner Michigan State has ever had, and he's among the best half dozen two milers in the country."

Lamon P. Brown, Spartan star of the early '30's who went on to develop even greater stars, isn't one who usually speaks in riddles, but he made the above statement in all seriousness.

Now, Parkersbury Brown, who mixes psychology and philosophy in liberally with psychology and philosophy, went on to prove his remark.

Every morning Brown can run, although usually they never find out how fast. For one thing, he is so fast that only the mile and half can be run of this afternoon, and on the second.

Trojan Nine Wins From Mason, 7-0

MASON, April 19.—Making its first appearance of the 1940 baseball season, East Lansing high school's baseball team blanked Mason, 7 to 0, here Friday afternoon.

Don Smith, Trojan pitching veteran, did the meager work for East Lansing and set the Mason nine down with only two hits. The Trojans collected six runs and
