WASHINGTON, May 17—U. S. Intelligence reports have worked out what they call the "Hitler Time-Table," giving the approximate time at which he will attack each country. The time-table is based upon hitherto reliable information received from the German military, who have been extremely frank, if not boastful about their ability to overrun Europe.

With the Modern Greeks

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA—Shirley Cook, Eleanor Mills, and Lois Bolt visited here over the week-end. Marian Durst went to Ann Arbor last Sunday. Jean Seaman of New Jersey visited Autumn Phelps at the house over the weekend. Mrs. R. C. Clark of Syracuse, N. Y., and Mrs. C. J. Schmidt of Rockland, Mich., were guests of the house over Mothers' day. Lois Schaufle attended Phi Kappa Sigma party at Ann Arbor last Friday.

A DAY WITH FDR

It is interesting to compare the old rumors about the President's health with the way he is working under the war strain. He has worn out most of the men around him. Two days before Hitler invaded Holland, there was a false alarm that German troops had crossed the border. So at 11 that night, Sumner Welles, fast asleep, got a call on the private White House phone beside his bed. Roosevelt was up. He asked Welles to come to the White House.

Church This Week

Galabard class for Metropolitan Methodist church of Detroit and the Huguenot society of Michigan will be special guests at the Sunday services, at which time Dr. N. A. McCune will speak on "Some Reasons Why Protestants Are Protestants." Hildegarde Hey, Michigan State student, will sing at the morning services.

NYA payroll closes today. All NYA workers are requested to check their time with supervisors and send it to the timekeeper immediately.

Chin-Fu-Woo is urging a third term for Roosevelt. As editor of the Chinese Nationalist Daily, New York, he plans to rally Chinese Americans. . . . Pinch hitting for Garner in the presiding chair of the Senate, Senator Lundeen of Minnesota dined with a paper knife, then picked his teeth with it. . . . Thirty years ago, a young man named James Mead came from Buffalo to Washington to take a job as a Capitol policeman. He was befriended by another policeman, James Reilly. Today Mead, a Senator, is trying to get a raise for Reilly, now dean of doorkeepers. . . . Airplanes have brought a mosquito from Africa to Brazil which is spreading malaria up and down the Amazon. A Serious Blow

While the activity of a certain element during the last election has shaken the political system on campus it is the attitude of the remainder of the student body as a whole that constitutes the real danger to democratic politics. It is perfectly obvious that the preponderant majority of students do not approve of these violations of election rules, yet while the student council is attempting to ferret out the guilty persons it is meeting constant opposition from students in general. Many students when queried as to the source of the hand-bills have deliberately concealed evidence which would assist the student council. By doing this students have impeded the efforts of student council to solve the problem in a just way. The lack of cooperation shown in this situation springs from the same source as that which leads so many misguided Americans to protect criminals to their own detriment. The college electorate is generally accepted as being more intelligent than any other. Too, it is expected that college students will be the leaders of tomorrow. Granting this as an accepted truth, the training received at college will be a deciding factor as to the rate of future progress. Why not cooperate with student council in perpetrating democratic elections in which everyone abides by the rules for mutual benefit instead of allowing a few to ruin the whole structure?

It's Not A Pleasant Thought, But--

This year's Christmas will find millions of young men standing and dying in Europe's trenches. Other millions will spend their holidays away from home preparing to go into the trenches by work in training camps. Hundreds of thousands will have perished by then, and millions of others will be tagged for the slaughter house. Christmas morning will break to the tune of big guns booming. Christmas night will see additional thousands dead and dying under winter's snow. Not a pleasant thought, but one which confronts every person in the United States today. America will be the place to spend Christmas.

Quotable Quotes

You cannot save democracy by military victories. A democratic government depends upon the disposition of the masses of the people. If the masses have the will and the opportunity to rule themselves, then you will have the democracy. This dreadful school of Hitlerism is teaching German liberals to be more realistic, less sentimental, more aware of their power and privileges. They see now, since the alliance with Soviet Russia, that anti-bolshevism was just a ploy to destroy trade unions, that anti-semitism was a Jew to deceive the German people who do not bear the Jews ill-will. Dr. Arthur Rosenberg, exiled from the University of Berlin, predicts internal strife will eventually end Nazi oppression.

American college students are different from all other people on this planet: they are the only people who try to get as little as possible for their money. They will spend the most valuable years of their lives, thousands of dollars of their parents' money and some of their own if they can get any, in trying to derive as little as possible out of their college courses, provided only that they will receive their coveted diploma at the end of four years of such efforts.

Edwin F. Carpenter of the University of Arizona mediates over "inconsistencies" of the collegian.

It becomes imperative that leaders in education and teachers in education who oppose any tendency or disposition to use the educational system for political reasons, and to insist and demand that control and direction of educational practices be and remain in the hands of those who are professionally prepared. Dr. W. W. Trent, West Virginia state superintendent of schools, cautions education against sacrificing its voice to politics.

Half the persons put through the courses in United States school cannot absorb instructions. Another 10 per cent doesn't know what to do with the information when it is absorbed. Dr. E. A. Hooton, Harvard anthropologist, expresses concern over what he terms senseless multiplication of humanity without economic or social use or reason.

Dr. E. C. Stephens usually cove about having better sleep. In that dancing they can show it by crossing streets carefully.

Coy Eklund and his band furnished "jam" at 15 minute intervals at the pre-election rally Tuesday night. Hundreds of students gathered before the grandstand after the parade of decorated cars drove up and down Grand River avenue. Kappa Sigma German band featured candidates up to the mike for all sorts of "political speeches" by 66 out of 68 candidates for nomination in the annual primary election. Dancing continued until 11 p. m. and women had permission to enjoy the music and entertainment furnished by the annual rally. A public address system made it possible for everyone to hear the candidates' speeches.

Reading from left to right here are Chuck Stewart, Gladys Fennel, Tom Revick, Harry Kinney, both seated and standing on the South River. Marie Tew was chauffeur of "Lizzie" 16, as all made her common way up and down Grand River avenue during the only period during which any advertising was permitted—between 7 and 7:30 p. m., Tuesday. Fennel and Revick were both successful in the primaries and will run in the final election next Wednesday.

Gordon MacFarran and Jane Blair were two of the 1,519 voters who took time off between classes to vote for the persons they thought best qualified for the office they sought. A similar scene will be re-created at the final election.

Both Mary Stone, Home Economics sophomore of East Lansing (left) and the photographer standing beside her, Ed Stewart, Home Economics sophomore of East Lansing, E. T. Hiltner, dean of men, competition and college both have back in the country. The results of the voting on each candidate has been held until Student Council investigations showing vote distribution. Both men report that they have "nothing" concerning the election.

Week Sees Total War End Europe's Wait For Action In West

Italy Believed on War's Brink As Nazis Push Into Belgium; British Fear Air Invasion

From Foreign Shores

Europe's days of waiting along the Maginot and Siegfried lines are now history—total war in all its brutal intensity has developed central Europe this week and threatens to spread momentarily as its effects are felt throughout the world. Next in line for envelopment seem to be Switzerland, as a target for Germany, and Italy, as an ally of Germany.

Sweden, more or less out of the picture now, has made the best of what is called by observers a bad bargain by planning trade pacts with the Soviet.

Italy has issued final orders for general civic mobilization, including time schedules and detailed instructions for war preparation in a minute's notice. Meanwhile, the Fascist press has not let up in its war of words against the Allies. Germany is freely predicting an Italian declaration of war at any time.

DEFENSE MARTIAL LAW

Paris has been put under martial law and London has made preparations for evacuation of women and children from the city. Germany is pushing toward Brussels and the French capital, with Berlin reiterating threats of air attacks on French and British cities, as each new push sees her air buses nearer the British coast.

Admissions have come from France that German drives have penetrated the Maginot line at several points and, by midweek, Holland had been cut in half by Nazi troops. However, the Allies claim, at week's end, to have stopped, or at least slowed down, the German push in Belgium.

The confusion of war abroad has resulted in a confusion of reports here, making it difficult to analyze completely the situation in central Europe, at present.

War of Rome

Total war abroad has had a profound effect on the United States. This week's news indicates. That among U. S. defenses is increasing in government circles is clearly demonstrated when President appeared before a joint session of Congress to request over one billion dollars for augmenting of army, navy, and air force. Legislative wheels were promptly set turning to make money available.

While U. S. citizens in Europe were warned by State department to get out as soon as possible, though not through Italian ports, the nation's newspapers began to talk with building more than the combined armies of Germany and the Allies.

MAGINOT TO SHARE ORDERS

Michigan's automobile plants reportedly long prepared for armament production, are to get their share of government transport orders, according to reports in Washington this week. It was a popular political prediction in previous months that third term for President Roosevelt would be assured, should Europe's belligerents show that they are not fooling. Now that war has come, many political observers of the nation over, lay the nomination in Roosevelt's lap. Demands among them also conceding to the election.

To sum up the U. S. in war, according to some commentaries, not only the political stage is in an election year but many policies have been forced in the rush to rearm.

Michigan Pick-ups

State Republicans meeting in Grand Rapids this week came out in favor of Arthur Vandenberg, Republican presidential candidate this year. Newly increased importance of foreign policy today's politics brought about choice over Dewey, it is said. Michigan senator thought to better versed of the two on foreign affairs.

ELECTION

(Continued from Page 1) Eugene Ends, veterinary division representative to the council and a member of the election board, said that there seem to be "thousands of angles" to the question and that fretting out the guilty parties would be "difficult."

Meanwhile Paul Griffith, senior presidential candidate whose name appeared on the pamphlets, stated, "I know absolutely nothing about it. However, I wish something would turn up." Roger Blackwood, candidate for sophomore president, also stated that he knew nothing about the whole matter.

Bob Page, candidate for junior president, who made a denial in Thursday's Michigan State News, remained steadfast in his statement that he knew nothing about the pamphlets.
