Hitler Predicts Naval Activity: U. S. Envoy Brawls with Nazi

Prophesying an early victory, the German traffic expert and author, Gustav Stresemann, announced early this morning that the Axis powers would win the war and that the British fleet would be destroyed within the next 18 months. The announcement was made during an interview with a prominent American journalist who had been assigned to cover the war in Berlin.

The interview was not without controversy, as the German traffic expert became increasingly agitated and threatened to denounce the American journalist as a spy. The two men engaged in a heated exchange, with the German expressing his belief in the inevitable victory of the Axis powers and the American arguing for a more realistic assessment of the situation.

The interview took place in the presence of members of the German diplomatic corps, who were quick to intervene and prevent any further escalation of the incident. The German traffic expert ultimately agreed to continue the interview, although his demeanor was noticeably more subdued.
