First American Troops Arrive in India

President's Envoy Gives First News
"Shuttle Service" Of Bombers Over Japan Rumored

LONDON, April 22 (TP)—The announcement of American troops in India and a hint of a regular "shuttle service" of American bombers over Japan tonight brought hopes to military circles here today.

The announcement of American forces in India, said by President Roosevelt's personal representative in India, Colonel Louis Johnson, did not indicate the number of troops, British sources believe, however, that Johnson wouldn't have mentioned the subject if only a token American force was to be sent to India. They expect a good-sized AEF to hold back the Japs.

The other cause for British excitement is a rumor that giant American bombers are going to start a "shuttle service" between the Aleutian islands of Alaska and the Chinese island of Chongking.

The rumor claims that the bombers would give Japan a pounding every time they passed over the island empire.

The popular London theory is that the planes would land at the islands in the Aleutian chain, land in Japan, and go on to Chungking. Near the Chinese sea capital the bombers would refuel and load more bombs.

The rumor claims that the bombers would give Japan a pounding every time they passed over the island empire.

Use 'Real McCoy' in Bomb Test

By JERRY TER HORST
They say that incendiary bombs and blackouts are no laughing matter, was the way Capt. Bert Daniels, campus police chief, and Ed Shipley of the building and grounds department summed up the audience's reaction to Tuesday's bomb demonstration in Demonstration hall.

More than 300 persons, mostly students and college employees, witnessed the exploding fire bombs and incendiary leaflets which were used by Daniels and Shipley in the open meeting. The demonstration was part of the air raid warden and police auxiliary defense course.

During a brief intermission, Shipley requested a group of students, both men and women, to aid him in a practical demonstration of the various types of fire extinguishers. The students were allowed to operate the equipment themselves, with Shipley and Daniels supervising.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to a discussion on blackouts and the work of the air raid wardens in such an emergency.

Wednesday morning, a new principle of fire-fighting was employed to snuff out the flames of a crude frame building built specially for the demonstration. The fire was extinguished by means of steam pressure, using an ultra-fine spray on the style of an "orchard sprayer," instead of the usual heavy stream of a fire hose, according to Daniels.

The new method is an improvement for it works more effectively and quickly than the old method, with less damage than a powerful stream of water, he added.

Davis Twins Spark MSC Batting Attack; Wy Hits Long Homer

State Is Host to Wisconsin Friday

By Tom Riordan
DETROIT, April 22—Preparing for the Wisconsin contests this week-end, the Michigan State nine shook their batting slump here today with 11 hits to beat the University of Detroit 5 to 3. Dick Bernitt, credited with the win, lasted only four innings, having to retire because of a charley horse at that point.

Home Ec Day Brings 1,000 Girls Friday

More than 1,000 Michigan high school girls will be the guests of Michigan State college at the seventh annual Home Economics Day, Friday, according to Evelyn Bergstrand, professor of home management and child development and chairman of the event's committee on arrangements.

Upper class home economic students from all the high schools in the state have been invited to participate in the day's activities. Miss Bergstrand said.

Set to a patriotic theme, "The High School Girl Plays a Part in Defense," Friday's program will open with a general meeting in the auditorium, where Pres. John A. Hannah and Dean Marie Dye, of Home Economics, will address the group.

Other highlights of the morning schedule will include skits presented by the women's physical education department and a play, "Small Town Girl," directed by Don Buell, of the speech department. Pipe organ music will be furnished by Wendell Westcott, college carillonist.

Second V-Dance Will Be Held Tomorrow

CDC Reports Loss on First Party

Last night's Coordinating Defense council meet divulged that Friday's Victory dance resulted in a net loss of about $100, according to Dick George, CDC chairman. "It's the same old story about lack of student interest," he added.

State's second Victory dance will be held tomorrow night in College auditorium, featuring S.S.O.'s—Spartan Service organization—gradiose plans, with 100 soldiers from Lansing to be provided with "dates" for the evening, according to Bill Monroe, Ag. '44, dance chairman, and Dick George.

Tickets are available at fraternities, sororities, dorms, co-op houses and the Union desk. Monroe promises novel lighting effects for the dance, in the way of illuminated Vs in red, white and blue.

"Attire for the dance will be on the same strictly informal note as last week," Monroe said. "Cokes will also be available."

Music will be again provided by the "New band combination of Charles and Quayle, which is a 15-piece group, including two vocalists.

CDC disclosed at its meeting last night that a canteen course for girls or men will be inaugurated if enough students apply. "The Prof. P. C. Morrison almost had to have a man to man talk with one of his geography students yesterday. When he asked a student why desert flowers were so highly scented and had such brilliant coloring, the student replied he didn't know.

"Well," said Professor Morrison, "it seems that nobody has told you the facts of life. The boy looked up and said, 'What's that?'"

What was that question again? Maybe I can answer it now."

Woman in Abbot
Marking the first time since the starting of the custom of having dinner at Abbot hall, a woman will be guest speaker tonight. Also another first will be that Dean Elisabeth Conant, the guest of Abbot Hall, has never before addressed an all-male audience.

Trees Go
Maybe it was too dry out, and the wind blew smoke in his eyes. Prof. J. C. Clark isn't sure. But he does know his pine trees are burned down. Last fall Clark planted a group of small pine trees on his plot of land south of town. The other day he went out to burn the weeds in the field, and succeeded in burning down all his trees. What makes him more angry is that some of the weeds are still standing.

Rifles to Drill At Columbus
A convoy of field artillery trucks will carry the members of the Rifles to Columbus, O., in afternoon, to take part in the regimental drill meet there, according to Al Muelke, drill guide. Rifles drill competition with the other companies in the regiment will take place Friday afternoon. Tomorrow night there will be a regimental dance.

Fighting Frat Nines Open Season With Grim Will to Win

Phi Chi Breaks Leg in Initial Tilt

Rat Kowalsky
A season full of keen competition and determined aggressiveness is promised in the interfraternity baseball league this year as 12 of the 17 teams have already made their debuts. If the games of the last two evenings are any indication, all teams show excellent hitting, hard hitting, and field play.

The Sigma Nu nine and the Phi Chi team staged a bit of a battle on the freshman diamond Tuesday evening which ended in a 2-2 tie at the end of six innings of play.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

BY TRANSRADIO PRESS
Lumpy Leo Durocher and his adored Braves went rolling along looking about as foolish as the Allies did for the first two years of this war for 11 innings in their game with the Boston Braves today. Suddenly they pulled a Mack Arthur and got out of the trying part to win 4-0.

Hugh Case, who went onto the mound for the Braves in the 10th inning, was the hero of the game. He held the Braves to only six hits in the entire game.

DETROIT DROPS ONE
Bill Drexbach finally won a game for the Chicago White Sox, but set down the Detroit Tigers with eight hits in six innings, while the Sox made their eighth victory of the season.

THREE-HITTER
Detroit Chi Alpha boys delivered eight strikes and gave no free passes. Lower struck out five and Rex Gannell and Thompson each delivered a home run to account for the two hits.

To fast track school he always looked up the feet of Bob Mead, the best sprinter and half-mile relay man in Michigan last year.

Lower positions untried
George Zimmerman, Tom Willis, Winford Barnum, Phil Goodrich and Jim Davis round out the eight-man team. None were starters last year.

Wanted: More independent softball teams.
Lysman I. Frimodig is still trying to find more teams to enter the independent softball league so that he will be able to draw up a schedule as soon as possible.

14 Cindermen Leave For Drake Struggle

Coach Confident, Skips Penn Relays

By Bill Maddox
With no Spartans going east to the Penn relays, 14 cindermen, tops in their individual fields, will at noon today leave to carry State's colors in the Drake relays at Des Moines, Iowa.

Coach Karl Schlademan figures that the expense involved in the Penn trip and the general superiority of the Drake meet justified accepting the Iowa relays. The tradition of the oldest relays in America is offset by the class of the better-trained southern teams drawn to Drake.

SPARTANS SCORE

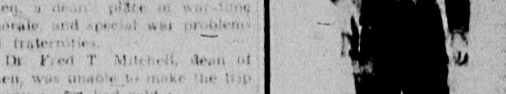

The play proved important because a moment later Joe Neilson's grounder to Don Hughes was fumbled and both Andreoli and Ciolek scored. Anti-Aircraft Fire Frees Corregidor from Bombs

WASHINGTON, April 22 (TP)—General Jonathan Wainwright reported today that the skies above his Fort Mills headquarters on Corregidor were free of Japanese bombers. No mention was made of enemy artillery action.

Enemy raids on the Manila bay bastions were limited to dive bomber raids on Fort Hughes, a mile from Corregidor, and Fort Drum, five miles distant. It appears that the enemy has withdrawn high-level bombers until the anti-aircraft guns can be silenced. The job of knocking out the AA guns is up to the dive bombers which can swoop down on their target before dropping bombs. Yesterday, however, they missed their mark and the bombs fell harmlessly into the water.

The length of time that the island fortresses can withstand the siege cannot be shortened by Jap attempts from the air. Time is limited by the ability of the American garrison and the Bataan refugees to get food and medicines.

Tonight, Washington anxiously awaits word of the new Philippine development. The Japanese have landed on Cebu and Panay. Between them is the unoccupied island of Negros. General Wainwright relayed a message to the war department that the enemy was making reconnaissance flights over the island. The Japs probably plan to invade Negros as soon as they can end the heroic resistance of American-led Filipino troops on Cebu and Panay. No word has come from Cebu, but the Japs are meeting stiff resistance on Panay.

Gas Rationing Hits Atlantic Coast Region

Temporary Plan To Be Followed By Coupons

WASHINGTON, April 22 (TP) — Price Administrator Henderson announced today that a temporary gasoline rationing system will go into effect May 15 in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia, to be supplanted by a permanent coupon system to start July 1.

Earlier in the day the Office of Price Administration issued regulations for sugar rationing, setting aside May 4, 5, 6, and 7 as registration days. Stamp No. 1 in the ration book will be valid for sugar purchases on May 5. One pound of sugar will be allotted each person every two weeks.

The amount of gasoline available to civilian users will be announced at some future date, but estimates range from five to ten gallons a week. Registration days for all passenger car owners will be May 12, 13 and 14. Operators of trucks and other motor vehicles of a commercial nature will not need cards to buy fuel.

Five types of card will be issued. The first is a basic card, issued to any car owner on presentation of his registration certificate. This will resemble a commuter's ticket and will contain seven squares, each representing a unit of gasoline which can be purchased between May 15 and July 1.

Doctors, war workers and others whose professions require greater than average mileage will get cards allowing purchase of more gasoline. For essential community needs a card will be issued allowing unlimited purchase of gas.

The half-pound a week sugar allotment will remain in effect until the end of June, after which it may be raised or lowered, as sugar supplies permit, Henderson said.

Woodsman, Spare That Beard—Foresters' Shindig Is Coming

"Bud" Jordan, decorations chairman for the Foresters' Shindig, emphasizes that the well-dressed forester can't be unkempt at the party, as he gets a light trim from Mike Becker, sophomore forester. State News Photo by Hank Prosser

Admission to the Foresters' Shindig Saturday night will be limited to the 300 hardy souls who get the first tickets. Chairman Lloyd Schemenauer said yesterday.

He said the party was open to all and urged foresters to get their tickets early to make sure of admission. Tickets are on sale at the Union desk, the Smoke shop, and the Forestry building.

Schemenauer said decorations and decorum would be strictly informal, with free refreshments served at a "bar" bedecked with beer signs.

Bud Bell's band will play to dancing, with June Hays as vocalist.

THE WOMEN'S WORLD

By CHARLOTTE WHITTEN S. W. L.

Spartan Women's league, acting as central secretarial office for defense, divided into four groups at Wednesday's meeting, according to Pres. Helen Swanson.

In charge of the personnel group which sees that an S.W.L. worker is in the AWS office every day from 1 to 5 p. m. to give information and write letters are Joy Randall and Mary Jane Holmes.

Merrith Rowlett, L.A. '44, and Vera Gardner, H.E. '44, are supervising the office files where cards on all students enrolled in defense and on defense instructors will be kept.

Heading the contact group which handles emergency situations is Dorothy Potts, L.A. '45.

The clerical group handling class rolls for defense courses, is headed by Winifred Lucas, L.A. '44, and Peggy Hall.

President Swanson reports that though 75 campus women are now working in the S.W.L. defense project, still more could be used.

The eight interest groups of the organization are being continued, Miss Swanson says, but subordinated to the defense effort.

A. W. S.

AWS council held its first meeting of spring term last night, according to Pres. Margaret Jensen. The women's governing body now meets only once a month, in keeping with the movement to support M.S.C. defense activities by eliminating unnecessary organization meetings.

Dr. C. E. Holland, health service director, will speak to the men and Prof. Lydia Lightning, women's physical education head, will address the women.

The attendance this year has exceeded that of former years, Miss Anthony added, explaining that at least 600 students have attended each meeting.
