WHAT HAS BEEN OF OUR BIG IDEA

Today America fights for its life in the biggest way it has ever fought. Millions of men are mobilized. So are millions of ideas. Ideas fired men's imaginations before men fired their guns. Big ideas have gripped the minds of millions. The idea of a super race for world conquest. The idea of superior class for world control. The idea of the super dollar for world domination. These are ideas before the impact of these ideas. Other nations have been confused and divided by them.

This dynamic energy must fight fire with fire. We need all the fire power our ships, planes and guns can provide. We also need the fire to see our-goings Americans united in terms of thought and action. The action of our nation must make every other revolutionary way of life pale into insignificance. This fire must not die down until the world is saved.

Remake the world—crazily! Not so crazy as the world we live in. The world we live in is the world—impossible for America? The Panama canal was impossible until we engineered it. Flight was fantastic until the Wright brothers. Electricity was unknown until Edison. We know the world can be made as we want it. We need only to fight our fire with fire.

The ungodly mess the world is comes from people like ourselves who have forgotten God. Remaking the world starts with remaking America. And Americans.

CLOTHING CLASSICS by Barbara Hafford

When WPB cracks down on our beloved long-length stockings and sweaters, it is doubly difficult to decide whether Michigan State co-eds will go without. More clothing is being worn in Lansing and East Lansing report increased sales of these two items as a result. This is an essential part of our war effort. Start today by putting one wrong right. 130 million dollars! It America! America's big idea means we get back to honest, decency, neighborliness. No more back-packing, the cards on the table—the breakfast table as well as the conference table. America! And this, the war, the politics and the speed-up in industry which we need to win the war. And the fire of America's big idea will burn in the heart of every American and light the world.
HOWARD BEYER

... starting Spartan center.

By BILL BOOS

Howard Beyer is one of Coach Charley Houser's many versatile men this year. Beyer had the unfortunate role of carrying a 40-minute load last year, and now it appears that he himself will have to be the endurance man for the Spartans at the pivot post this year.

Tony Arena, Beyer's predecessor, was given the Governor's award last year, after being voted the squad's most valuable player by his teammates. Arena was considered one of the Detroit Lions' more promising tackles this fall until his brief stay in the professional game was cut short by the U.S. Army. Anyone who saw Tony play last fall can realize what a struggle Houser had getting sufficient time to open a letter for him, and now Arena out of the picture. Beyer will get all the time he has wanted so patiently in training.

But for a brief reinforcement by Bob Bierman, Houser might have broken into the ranks of the 6-foot 4-inch men in his first game as a regular at Ann Arbor and in Saturday's game.

Beyer played a long-range defensive game against the Wisconsin and Spartan foes, and Beyer fans were looking for more of his rugged play the rest of the season.

The raiders, directed by Maj. Carl Spaulding, commander of the U.S. A.F. in the Korosi theater, smashed factories, tied railroad yards against strong machine guns, and raze house with only four of 600 planes.

The raid was greater than the previous one directed by the N.N. against England in the dark days of World War I.

But the Luftwaffe called off their daylight attacks and concentrated on night raids.

The greatest American aerial expedition came two days after the warning from the United States army by radio to the French people to move away from factories producing the Germany.

The raid moved the German high command to mention Flying Fortresses for the first time, although this was their 14th mission over western Europe.
