Kick-Back

State News editorial comment on the anonymous letter signed "One for the Underdog, North Campbell hall," has brought more of a kick-back than a mere letter to the editor, as evidenced by a notice on the North Campbell bulletin board which asks that girls in the dormitory having "ideas or opinions . . . out of line with the present emergency or patriotic duty" had better leave these things "unsaid and unwritten." Signed by house council, the notice asks further that when such things are written the name of North Campbell be omitted.

Nothing New

A new precedent for flower arrangements was set yesterday when the ingenious decorations committee of the Woman's day luncheon used as vases, huge silver trophies won in 1927 by the Ag department for prize heifers. It seems the vases adorn the walls of Dean Conrad's office. Must be a memento of the good old days.

C'est La Guerre

Etiquette very up to date is the rule in the Home Economics division. A sign on a Home Ec bulletin informs passersby that the R.S.V.P. (Answer if you please) of former days is now "Refuse Sugar Very Politely" to fit these days of sugar rationing.

'Keep Values for Post-War World' State Women Told

"In our hands lies the world of tomorrow . . . that is the challenge of college women today," Dr. Helen Pool Rush, dean of women at University of Pittsburgh, told more than 2,400 who attended the first women's convocation yesterday during the Woman's day program. Relating her address to a first aid course, Dean Rush said that every woman needs a backbone, a funny bone, and a wish bone to help her do her share in winning the war and planning for the post-war world. Women have a double duty today, Dean Rush emphasized. In addition to their present duties, they must determine the values for which the war is being fought in order that these values may be preserved when the war is over. Dean Rush, formerly a director of extra-curricular activities on the University of Pittsburgh's campus, outlined the part such activities should play in campus women's life when she said, "There is no room on any campus for extra-curricular activities which do not contribute to the war effort." Developing the first aid theme, Dean Rush added that women need a backbone, the ability to do something hard for a long time, "for chances are that the war won't be over in 1942 or 1943."

GENERAL MAC-ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Thursday, Oct. 29 (AP)—Allied bombers hit two Jap ships in the harbor at Rabaul, on New Britain island northeast of New Guinea and also bombed Buks, island at the northern tip of the Solomon archipelago, the Allied high command announced today.

Frosh - Sophs to Hold Annual Clash of Skill

Refreshments and All-College Dance to Climax MSC's Famed Brawl

"A strenuous and competitive contest with only a minimum of danger," is the theme of the Frosh-Soph brawl scheduled for tonight, according to R. B. Daubert, physical education supervisor.

The brawl, held for the first time in Jenison Fieldhouse, will begin at 7 p. m. and is open to the public. A special request is being made that those persons not participating in the contests remain in the balconies, in order to avoid confusion, Daubert said.

Will Bury Hatchet

Highlight of the contests will be the traditional burying of the hatchet, in which Jack Fenton, sophomore president, and freshman representative Tom King Jr., will participate. Other contests, which will be scored on a point basis, will include physical skill contests with a number of 20 man teams competing; pull across line in which contestants will pair off to test their individual strength; poison ball in which all men will participate in

State Women Rule Campus

The women of Michigan State held their own on the campus yesterday at the first M.S.C. Women's day. Women were everywhere—at the Union desk, in the deans' offices, and even in the military department.

The rightful owners of the gray jackets with the maroon X, the men of Excalibur, relinquished them to the women of Mortar Board for the day.

Beginning with a convocation in the auditorium at 10 a. m., with Dr. Helen Pool Rush, dean of women at the University of Pittsburgh, as the main speaker, the women took over regular functions of the college usually dominated by men.

Luncheon Held

Doris Bennett, H.E. '44, was mistress of ceremonies at the luncheon yesterday at which Vera Deane, A.W.S. president; Peg Burhans, Student council president, and Mrs. J. F. Eichorn, district inspector of Mortar Board, were the speakers.

Navy Reports Lull In Solomons Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Japanese trying to take the vital airfield on Guadalcanal are being mowed down in far greater numbers than the American defenders, the navy announced today in a communique which also described the damage to enemy equipment as "very heavy."

Possibly because of the losses they have suffered since they launched their full-scale offensive on Oct. 23, the Japanese reduced their operations on the night of Oct. 26-27 to several "small scale thrusts" against the American positions. All of these attacks were thrown back.

Otherwise, naval officers interpreted a communique making these announcements today as indicating that the fighting in the Solomons was in a lull. They emphasized, however, that there was nothing to indicate that Japanese naval forces had withdrawn from the area of the fighting.

Describing the losses in the land fighting, the communique said:

Enemy losses in men and equipment in troop actions on the island since Oct. 23 have been very heavy as compared to our own.

Coeds Prove Ideal Employees; No Strikes, No Errors

By BARBARA DENNISON and JOAN MEYERS

Despite all predictions to the contrary, it took M. S. C. coeds only one day to prove that if ever this becomes a women's campus they will know how to run it—and efficiently.

Women had to give visible evidence today of their brains and brawn, since they represent one of many generations who have subscribed to the adage, "A sensible girl is too sensible to appear sensible."

Activity began promptly at 8 a. m. on all seven fronts and male employes took a holiday from the Union desk, grill, check room, the offices of dean of men, dean of women, military department and police beats, as women staged their field day.

Although more than one student munching his daily hamburg held his breath as feminine "busboys" labored under huge trays full of crockery, Miss Alice Walters, grill superintendent, declared that casualties were few and has only one tray of broken dishes to report. Moreover, perennial grill bounds enjoyed the unusual treat of table service in mid-afternoon.

Women at the Union desk proved that they could count, too—and although a skeptical male was posted in the background to protect finances of the institution—the women gave the right change all day.

But the women had the last laugh when aforesaid watchful male, in a frantic desire to avoid the handing out of wrong change, took over an important looking customer and promptly passed out two candy bars for one nickel.

The only time the coeds really

Advance Tank Force Battles Through Desert Minefield Gaps, Widens Path for Major Test of Rival Strength

By Don Whitehead

CAIRO, Oct. 28 (AP)—The advance tank force of Britain's eighth army has won the first round with Field Marshal Rommel's armor in battles through the Alamein minefield gaps and dispatches from the desert front said today that the British onslaught was steadily widening the way for the major test of rival steel and gunpowder.

Nazis Force Reds Back in Stalingrad Factory District

MOSCOW, Thursday, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Russians today acknowledged their second withdrawal in the battle-torn city of Stalingrad in 24 hours, but reported that the Red army had made gains northwest of Stalingrad and on the Black Sea front of the West Caucasus.

The midnight Soviet communique said the Germans had advanced about 200 yards at one point in the factory district of north Stalingrad after gaining about two blocks during the previous night by throwing in huge masses of men, tanks and planes.

At another point, the communique said, a company of motorized infantry broke through Soviet lines to the southwest outskirts of one factory, but was completely wiped out.

The intensity of the fighting in Stalingrad was indicated by Russian claims that Soviet artillery and mortar fire and air attacks had destroyed 12 companies of German infantry (more than 2,000 men), 30 tanks, 90 trucks and 18 artillery batteries.

Moscow radio reported that the Red army's relief attack northwest of Stalingrad had resulted in further Russian gains after fierce hand-to-hand fighting which cost the Germans 1,200 dead.

Nazis Demand Ships

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Germans in another of a series of ever-heavier levies upon Vichy have demanded that the French government turn over to the Reich navy all merchantmen now in French harbors without regard to their nationality, a reliable European source informed the Associated Press today.

United States fighters reported their biggest day of the campaign, downing seven planes out of yesterday's Allied bag of 18. Three of them were shot down by Lieut. Lyman Middle-ditch, Highlands, N. J., fighter pilot in the Black Scorpion squadron. Ootal Allied losses were six planes.

Dispatches from the front indicated that Axis losses already had been heavy, both in tanks and men. There was no authoritative estimate, however, on the number of Rommel's tanks put out of action in the first five days of the fight, and it was clear that by far his main armored power was poised back of the battlefield.

Groups of prisoners trailed back over the British supply lines told of the terrific barrage the El Alamein line has been under day and night since the start of the offensive as British artillery blasted a way through the minefields and barbed wire for infantry of the army of the Nile.

Ag Queen to Reign at Harvest Ball

Queen of Agriculture, Lois Luecht, is to be the honor guest at the annual Harvest ball this Friday, first semi-formal dance of the term, which is being sponsored by Agricultural council. Accompanied by her court, Dee Carle and Mary Elizabeth Kerth, she will be presented with a key which will make her an honorary member of Agricultural council.

Patrons for the affair are Prof. and Mrs. V. A. Freeman and Prof. and Mrs. E. B. Hill. Among the guests invited to attend are Pres. and Mrs. John A. Hannah, Sec. and Mrs. K. H. McDonel, Dean and Mrs. F. T. Mitchell, Dean Elisabeth Conrad, and the deans of the various divisions.

Dick Charles and his band are scheduled to provide music for the ball and Harold Mitchell, general chairman, is being assisted by Ted Ross, in charge of publicity; Warren Vincent, decorations; Jack Weaver, tickets, and Allyn Van Dyke, refreshments. Tickets may be obtained at the Union desk, or from any Ag. council member.

No Ration of Responsibilities

State women took part in a new experiment yesterday that may soon become a reality as they took over offices and activities on campus usually belonging to men.

As more men are called to Uncle Sam's armed forces, women will gradually be called upon to take over men's positions and responsibilities.

In realization of this and with a desire to create a feeling of unity among women on campus, A. W. S. sponsored the first Women's day.

The outstanding part of the day was not the work the women did, but how they did it. By their cooperative and willing spirit, in accepting responsibility, State women showed that they are willing to take over when they are needed.

A. W. S. council and committees merit congratulations for their fine work in planning and carrying out this first Michigan State Women's day.

In Campus Quarters

By Helen Schmidt and Helen McAfee

CONGRATULATIONS are in order to the Sigma Kappas and the Delta Sigs on their winning the Homecoming trophies. A fine job they did... Exchange dinners are well underway this week... the Delta Zetas had one with the Theta Chis last night... the Sigma Kappas have one with the Phi Delt tonight as do the Kappas with the Sigma Nus... last night the AGRs and the Alpha Gams had dinner together.

Barb Hafford, Theta, got a ring last Sunday from Lieut. Dave Jones, who is now stationed at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. They will marry July 2... Lloyd Lester Sparks (Sparky), AGR, dumped his pin from an old Pfeiffer's can, for the 5th time, to give Tina Foster, Alpha Phi... this time she's wearing it... Kitty Hellman, South Williams, took Bob Weir's Hespia pin Sunday night... Henry Pfeuffer, Alpha Chi Sigma, has pinned Genevieve Ellis from Pontiac... Sally Owens, Kappa, is going steady with Bill Martin, long-standing pledge in the Hespia house... his fraternity brother Dean Cornwall, has pinned Marg Hovey, Theta... the Phi Tau's George Hackman pinned Delta Zeta, Carol Edmondson... not long ago, Les Taubman, AEPi, whom we affectionately call the "State News wolf," passed his pin to Adele Kruss who attends the Chicago art institute. The ex-prexy of Kappa Sig, Dean Harrington, now an American consul, unexpectedly dropped in this week-end all the way from Buenos Aires.

The Alpha Phi's district governor, Mrs. Campbell, was visiting the house this week. The actives and alums held a dinner for her Tuesday night.

Alpha Chi Sigmas going active this week are: Richard Ebrans, Fred Bayer, Herbert Craig, Dan Dzioba, Ted Sprague, George Paige, Robert Branch, William Hoffman, Douglas Eisenlohr, Thomas Kennedy, Howard Malpass, John Guenther, and Bud Jarvis.

Best news of the week concerns Nancy Mandy who was finally 21 last Tuesday. Poor Nancy had been waiting five long years for the day to come.

Freshmen and sophomores participating in the brawl are asked to come early so that the contests can be organized and the rules explained. Freshmen should wear M. S. C. gym shirts and their pots, said Jim Barbour, freshman organizer.

Late Permission Given
 After the contests, refreshments of cider and doughnuts will be served at 8:30 p. m. in Demonstration Hall, followed by the all-college dance from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m., featuring the music of Bud Bell's band. Dean Elizabeth Conrad has granted all women 11 p. m. permission for the event. Patrons will be Prof. and Mrs. O'Neal Mason, and Prof. and Mrs. A. A. Applegate.

"Each year the number of injuries has increased and lately there has been some attempt to cease having the frosh-soph brawl," said Daubert. "If our scheme this year works out, the traditional contest will probably be continued, otherwise it will not."

All students, whether participating or not, must have their identification cards to present at the fieldhouse. Admittance only through the north doors, Daubert announced.

Milk Foods to Be Discussed

Miss Millicent Atkin of the Irradiated Evaporated Milk Institute will give a lecture demonstration today at 7:15 p. m. in room 101 of the Home Ec building.

Included in the demonstration, which is sponsored by the foods and nutrition majors will be the preparation of six recipes using irradiated evaporated milk. Miss Atkin will also discuss the various uses of evaporated milk in cooking and in the diet.

EDITOR FOR A DAY

By NEVA ACKERMAN

Every dog has his day—even the women—and all on account of Women's Day the State News has a new editor—but just for one issue—Thank heavens! It didn't take me long to discover that an editor of a college newspaper is not just an impressive executive with a BMOC rating and nothing better to do than wolf the women.

My observation is that nothing short of an overdose of stamina will ever keep an editor out of a strait jacket. In the first place people are always coming in and asking the editor for a "nice little writeup" about a meeting to be held next month, and the next day they come in ready to damage the editor because the story didn't make the front page or even get printed.

Then the telephone is always ringing—most of the calls are from people who insist that the editor personally take their want-ad which is none of the editor's business. Just about then an irate student strides in and demands "Why haven't I been getting my State News?"

There are also people who don't write letters to the editor about the car situation or the like, but go around talking behind his back—just loud enough for him to hear. As if that weren't enough, reporters never bring their stories in on time, and in addition to the general confusion of two teletypes and a half dozen typewriters, people are always yelling at the editor. Nobody ever talks to him in anything under a 50 kilocycle shout. Besides that the editor stays up until 3 a. m. putting the paper to bed.

Now an editor is supposed to find a gripe and write some brilliant editorial on it that will incite the student body to reform... but I was so busy I couldn't find an issue to write about. If only the Thanksgiving vacation question hadn't been settled yesterday what fun I could have had with that!

So the second best thing I can do is to hand out a few words of praise to people on campus who have done work lately worthy of merit:

To the ROTC men who gave such a fine demonstration at the game. This exhibition should have compensated for the zero weather and embarrassment of sitting beside your date in a basic uniform Saturday.

To the SSO for their patriotic work in helping entertain service men each week-end.

To all the faculty members who cooperated to give women responsible positions on Women's Day.

And especially to the male members of the State News staff who surrendered their positions to the women for a day.

CLOTHING CLASSICS . by Barbara Hafford

Carrying out Women's day to its fullest extreme were Mortar Board girls who donned those in the wardrobe of Rosemary flashy Excalibur jackets for the duration. They filled the men's shoes a little better than the jackets, which were "zoot."

Jini Taylor does them one better. She bought a two-tone blue, beige and rust plaid jacket which is a duplicate of Gordon Smith's. They wear them together, Jini in a rust skirt and Smitty in rust trousers.

More plaid—and lots of it this time. Sherry Wales has a red and white dress with a jacket of the same material. It's gaudy, check-up indicated.

The average first-year college girl spends $108 for room and board, $120 for clothes, and $120 for food.

Overconfidence Can Damage Spartan Chances Saturday

By The Associated Press

Michigan State coaches sought today to brew an antidote for symptoms of overconfidence appearing in the Spartan camp as the squad primed for its battle with Temple university at Philadelphia Saturday.

"The boys seem to forget," commented Backfield Coach Joe Holsinger, "that the psychological advantage they had before the Great Lakes game now is on the other side of the fence."

Coach Ray Morrison's defensively strong Owls, Holsinger pointed out, have a stinging incentive to spill the Spartans Saturday—last year's rousing 46-0 upset by State of a favored Temple team which boasted an All-American candidate in ambling Andy Tomasic.

Using freshmen this season, Temple has at least three first year performers likely to see action against the Spartans, including center Johnny Timko, halfback Harry Postupack and Bill Walitis, 200-pound fullback. Timko is regarded the best Owl pivot since Capt. Pete Stevens, who led Temple to the Sugar Bowl several seasons ago.

Although the Spartans hope to be able to employ their ground attack extensively for the first time since the Wayne game, State's passing game will not be neglected Saturday. Halfbacks Dick Kieppe, Morgan Gingrass and Elbert Stark have been limbering their pitching arms throughout the week in hopes of improving a Spartan aerial record which currently stands a shade over 500.

Kieppe, who missed the Marquette game because of illness, has succeeded in maintaining a respectable triple-threat role despite State's weak showing in the Michigan opener. The Lansing senior has an average gain of 4.2 yards in 35 ball-carrying attempts and has kicked an average of 37.5 yards in 11 boots. The players named to make the trip follow:

Ken Balge, Dearborn; Bill Beardsley, Beaverton; Howard Beyer, Muskegon; Louis Brand, Grand Rapids; Alger Conner, Pontiac; Fenwick Crane, Ferris; Glenn Deibert, Pontiac; Jack Fenton, Richmond; Peter Fornari, Detroit; Roy Fraleigh, Detroit; Russell Gopin, Detroit; Moran Gingrass, Marquette; Harry Haber, Detroit; Glenn Johnson, Grosse Ile; Ernest Keekonen, De Witt; Dick Kieppe, Lansing; Don LaClair, Wyandotte; Dick Mangrum, Durand; Bob McNeil, Phoenix, Ariz.; Edo Menotti, Detroit; Mike Mikefanie, Hermansville; Bill Milliken, Chicago; Frank Manko, Pontiac; Vincent Mroz, East Chicago, Ind.; Barney Neubert, Chicago; Bob Otting, Flint; Walter Pawlowski, Cahmet City, Ill.; George Radulescu, Inlay City; Barney Roskopp, Mt. Detroit Bus Crash Casualties Reach 16

DETROIT, Oct. 28 (AP)—Sixteen persons were killed and more than a score injured, several critically, today when a Detroit street railways motorbus, jammed to its doors with school children, office workers and factory employes, was ripped in two by a passenger train.

The bus halted at the Caniff avenue crossing of the Grand Trunk western railroad to permit a northbound freight train to pass, then moved directly into the path of a southbound passenger train.

Suburban Hamtramck police took into custody for questioning the bus driver, William F. Cios, 25, who has been a regular motor coach operator for two years.

Fred A. Nolan, general manager of the municipally owned DSR transportation system, said the accident was the worst in the system's history.

Dee Says —

Football boys—ah yes—they come out every fall like mosquitoes in spring—they're the ones with piano legs who always look as if they were ready to smash through the Michigan line, which really doesn't go over so well when you're out on a date. If you still don't know whom I mean—they are the ones with chests.

And here's another laugh—three hours a day, seven days a week, they wallow and sweat all over Macklin field knocking the stuffing out of each other, so they will be able to knock h—out of their opponents Saturday (by the way, they did it, too).

What gets me is to see these human beer-barrels in action. After one of those pile-up plays, they peel the pile down, and the poor sucker on the bottom just shakes his head—St. Bernard fashion—gets up with alacrity, and resumes play. Black eyes and broken noses roll off him like water off a duck's back. It may seem OK for some, but personally, I'd much rather have the Joe who sits quietly in the stands, and screams every five seconds, "Watch out, State, this next play's tricky!"

They claim they've never found the missing link—pardon me while I laugh—not casting any reflections—naturally—but you get what I mean.

Football boys are noted for being heavily muscled, and especially in the upper story, which always puts things on an intellectual basis. You can have your perfect specimen of muscular manhood, but until some miracle occurs and they start growing them with brains AND brawn—I'll take Hank; he drinks buttermilk.

P. S. Dee sez any resemblance to people living or dead is purely meant to be funny.

BRAWL RULES

Following are the rules to be observed for the Frosh-Soph brawl events:

Rope climb: Start from a point 10 feet from rope, climb up and touch top bar, climb down and touch next man.

Tunnel relay: Start from point 30 feet from tunnel, go through tunnel, return and touch next man.

Wall scaling: Start from point 30 feet from wall, scale wall, return and touch next man.

Pull across line: Man-for-man pull. Field is width of the fieldhouse; loss of footing eliminates contestants.

Poison ball: Field is a marked 60-foot circle. All balls must be thrown from outside circle.

Soccer: Ball must be kicked, but a ball kicked into the air may be caught and thrown. A ball thrown over goalposts counts. Only one goal tender.

Quick Kick May Pay Temple

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28 (AP)—Coach Ray Morrison has spent plenty of time teaching his quarterback Jimmy Woodside the art of quick kicking and he hopes it will pay dividends Saturday when the Temple Owls travel to East Lansing, Mich., for their annual game with Michigan State.

Ready to play left as well as right half, in addition to his regular position of fullback, MORGAN GINGRASS will carry a heavy load in Saturday's game with Temple.

Women Predict Job-battle Between Sexes After War

By ELLEN STEGENGA

If Michigan State women represent the rest of the feminine world there will be another war after this one is ended, a war between women firmly entrenched in factories, professions, and politics, and job-hunting men returning from the fields of battle.

Women, according to Virginia Rohr, L.A. '45, are going to be hard to dislodge from any position they have gained during the war. "Once they've tasted economic independence," says Ginny, "they're not going to give up $60 a week jobs for a routine of washing out the baby's diapers and cooking three meals a day, seven days a week. Women, as a formerly underprivileged class, will have raised their standard of living. Once they're used to fur coats they will never go back to last year's bargain basement cloth models."

Desire for Home Will Prevail

Mildly to the contrary was Marilyn Dixon, H.E. '44, who is certain that the majority of women will return to the pre-war standard of a normal life. "Any woman would gladly give up a factory job for a home and family," declared Marilyn, adding that the family institution will take a long time in making up for the setback received during the war, even though women do quickly return to their roles as housewives.

Will Have to Support Family

Carol Courtney, L.A. '43, put men in a peculiar future position when she said: "Women will want to go home, but they won't be able to because they'll have to support their men. Anyway, just as long as they have their men they'll be happy, even if they do have to work."

An optimistic note was set by Grace Soper, H.E., who believes there is nothing to worry about since the male population will be so decreased that the remaining men will have no difficulty finding jobs.

ADDRESS

(Continued from Page 1) a kind of resiliency that will help them to see future events in proportion. "We must set our minds to the idea of change" so that when men don't come back after the war or come back changed "we won't snap," Dean Rush said.

The wish bone is important so that women can dream dreams that will make the world after the war worth fighting for.

In setting forth the realities of the war, Dean Rush pointed out that many women will not marry because following the war there will be four women to every man. Therefore she suggested that women lose themselves in something so worth while that it carries them away from thinking about their own personal worries.

Virginia Bruce, Veterinary Science, '44, was definite as she said, "There are no women who do not want a home and husband. When the men come back women will want to keep house for them."

Women Will Be Sensible

In the interests of sanity Margaret Sullivan, L.A. '44, summed up the question by saying: "Those women who have been outstanding and created places for themselves in either industry or the professional world will naturally hold their positions. Most women are merely replacing men, on a temporary basis, and will give up their jobs when the men return."

However, Margaret believes women will never step as deeply back into the isolation of the home as they have before. Their interest in the outside world will be broader and will result in increased political activity through more widespread use of the right to vote.

WOMEN

(Continued from Page 1) of all organizations were present in the Union ballroom yesterday afternoon to meet girls who were interested in becoming members. "Five for Bad Luck," a play directed by Jill Jope, was the main feature of the evening program in the Union ballroom. A musical program was also presented.

Female Cops

The "long arm of the law"—feminine for the day—continued to issue tickets to violators of campus driving rules. Mary Jane Albright, chairman of the group, reported that "several" summons or tickets were issued by the girls. At least one of these was for a faculty car incorrectly parked, one for a student car without a permit, and one motorist was told to "slow down."

The feminine touch was still in evidence this morning when the women's issue of the State News was distributed. Working with an all-woman staff, Neva Ackerman, L.A. '44, was editor.

MEA Conference Attracts 3,000

Approximately 3,000 teachers from surrounding counties will gather on the campus of Michigan State college today and Friday for the annual meeting of the Michigan Education association.

Pierre Van Paassen will speak at the general session today at 10 a. m. with sectional subject meetings planned for the afternoon, according to Professor E. H. Thorne, regional secretary.

The evening program beginning at 8 p. m. in College auditorium will feature the Men's Glee club in a half hour concert and Julian Gromer, noted photographer, who will show the colored pictures, "Hawaiian Paradise." Students are admitted free to this program, Thorne said.

Pipeline to Send Oil

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—At the rate of 300,000 barrels a day, oil to lubricate the Allied war machine and take some of the squeaks out of eastern transportation troubles will start flowing out of swelling southwestern stores through the world's largest pipeline next June 1, federal officials announced today.

First link of the underground lubrication line—a 530-mile leg from Longview, Texas, to Norris City, Ill.—will be completed in December, and for the next few months the oil will be shipped on eastward by barge and truck.

for Friday. Only MEA members are admitted to the general sessions and meetings, Thorne announced, but students interested in attending can become associate members by paying the year's fee.
