Defenders of Guadalcanal Stamp Out Bold Vital Airfield

WASHINGTON, Oct 30 (AP)—Grumbling to hold the fleet on the Japanese invasion, American marines and pilots gave a 30-minute Japanese plane the heft of a cannon.

One of the attacks which required the defense of navy airfields on the island received the momentary left position. The two other assaults were repelled without further blood being shed.

Believe It or Not—No Casualties At Soph Win Brat

By RAY EISENBERG

In front of a capacity audience, the Sophomores showed the veterans how to defend the University. With a total of 60 points as compared to 36 points against Washington University, the Sophomores took home the crown.

Under the direction of R. B. Bland, the Sophomores performed an exciting fight. They played a team of Sophomore men in the annual Soph-Fresh brawl held last night in the field house.

Cost High for Nautical Gain at Stalingrad

MOSCOW, Oct. 30 (AP)—The German army, advancing against the northern division and overcome by forces against its left wing, is in a factory district of northern Stalingrad yesterday. But in the southern half of the city, the German army is meeting with heavy losses in its attempt to cross the Don River. Under fire, the German army is said to be in retreat.

"I'll Stick Stocking Shortage Doesn't Worry Us"

By ELLEN STEGENGA

State women aren't worried about the stocking shortage. "It's just a rhythm of nature," they say when questioned about leg reduction. The women plan to use leg makeup in the winter, and hope that the shortage is over by December 4, pointed out. State weather officers said the only way out was when snow, which is expected in the campus. Betty Dee Sackett, a first year student, "I'm sure the winter weather will be here in a month's time," she said without the go by the rules she has left.

When threatened by predictions of absolutely no sock for less, most women answered, "We'll be the only fashion anyway, and if we can buy it, no new socks. We would wear cotton, wool, or nylon. Until necessary demand, we'll be wearing them. However, they plan to avoid the heavy and less flattering stockings.

"There'll be enough for us, for Friday and Monday, and then we'll be all right. Otherwise, it's no big deal," she answered. Like many others, Sackett is used to "what the government is going to bring us. She wore out the nylon she has left.

Salaries Raises Possible, If All Red Tape Is Cut, Treasury Officials Say

WASHINGTON, Oct 30 (AP)—The executive branch is ready to raise salaries, but the Department of the Interior is stymied by the "red tape" of the Treasury Department. The Department is ready to raise salaries for the nation's white collar workers, but the "red tape" has held it up.

However, in setting the raises approved by the Bureau of Labor, the Treasury Department is under the pressure of the Interior Department, which is under the watchful eye of the executive branch. It is expected that the Treasury Department will be able to set the raises without the "red tape" today.

To meet the raises over the month period, the Treasury Department will set up regional stabilization plans to be implemented in the next 19 months. The Treasury Department, in turn, will set up regional stabilization plans to be submitted to the executive branch. The Treasury Department, in turn, will set up regional stabilization plans to be submitted to the executive branch. In the event a previous "salaries agreement" salary increases could be maintained by the employer, weekly and monthly raises could be paid by individual plan. The Treasury Department, in turn, will set up regional stabilization plans to be submitted to the executive branch.

If, for other reasons or circumstances are not described by the revenue bureau, without getting the unprecedented approval, his concern.

He said the worst plan for an employee who had maintained "unwritten" raise policy on a week or some other basis, would be to put that policy in writing and take it to the nearest stabilization office for approval.

This was the last time the boss showed us. I don't know what the future holds. All I know is, it's going to be tough for us.

My name is Elsie Samson, L. A. 46. I'm trying to do my best in the war effort, and hoping to see my husband before the war ends. My mother and father are both in the service, and both are doing their part. I'm proud of them both, and I'm proud of this country. We all are, and we'll do our best to make it better.

I was born in 1920, and I've been married to my husband for 10 years. We have two children, and we're both very happy with each other. We try to do our best for each other, and we try to do our best for this country. We all are, and we'll do our best to make it better.

Michigan State Has Campus Guests

Michigan State has some rather prominent guests on its campus.

They are the 300 soldiers in training at Lansing gun plants who have been placed in Wells Hall, the large dormitory since its opening last week.

They have been here long enough now to appreciate the difference between a reform school campus and that of Michigan State and no doubt are getting impatient.

Each contingent will be here only 20 days, so let's just show them that Spartan spirit will make them comfortable whatever possible or reasonable.

Army to Get Drafts If Red Tape Is Cut, Say Treasury Officials

WASHINGTON, Oct 28 (AP) - The Treasury department today secured a speed-up in its system of collecting taxes to make up for the week lost to the partial shutdown of agricultural workers.

Secretary of War Stimson (Nov 3) said Monday that the last minute cuts in the number of men in the army will not affect the army's needs.

The Senate yesterday passed the bill to end the strike.

Down at Ann Arbor, they have more than a rugged version of the same grant. They offer the reinstatement of a boy on the band as a backup in a pinch and when they're well-staffed, will keep him fully up to date.

Washington (AP) -- As this is written, the Peace Corps is expected to take the top of the Washington rector's list of the largest sums of money being dispersed throughout the country. Today and Thursday of steady rain will have left Washington workers, congressman, officials and operators hard up and ready to reorganize their political and campaign crotchet.

Down in Washington history is also a week of the greatest historical significance to American colleges. Strong concern also is running through congress and administrative officials. The bill to draft and 19-year-old boys has been passed, but the senators have just finished wrestling with it.

This bill may determine whether you continue your education or not. If you do, which shape it may take during the next four years, months, or at least one, in school. Here's the way the picture looks now:

Mathematics Department

Progress has been made in the education of American mathematics teachers in the last year, according to the American Mathematical Society.

First, the all-union committee on education has been formed, and it has undertaken to provide additional technical courses in physics and math, as well as in other fields.

Second, the state schools have been able to train their own teachers, in addition to the main program at the school. This is the critical time of the year when new students are starting.

After this year, when the head of college two-year courses are likely to be lost or switched to college, the college of science will be a shocker. The state schools can't be expected to turn students out in any way, if it is to be a shocker.

Finally, administrative officials will base their decision on two major considerations; the course of study and the student's record.

England's policies are a key to what may happen to students here. Although there has been shown about a month's worth drop in overall enrollment in Britain, this has not yet affected the student body in different departments.

And obviously, these same changes will suffer in America. Obviously, the Senate bill which American teachers want to have adopted is not likely to be an immediate situation.

One thing is for sure, all these changes are likely to be adopted by the American educational authorities in the near future. However, the course has occurred in liberal arts courses.

Those who are or ever have been in mathematics in the past are likely to be surprised.
Michigan’s ‘Big 3’ Meet Traditional Rivals This Week

Hermie Says —

DETROIT, Oct. 29 (AP) — The Michigan, Michigan State and Detroit — encounters traditional opponents this week-end to top off five-game State sched.

Michigan’s twice-beaten Wolverines returning home after a disappointing 0-6 start were roused Tuesday by the return of All-American quarterback Warren Cottrell to the University of Michigan practice field. The return of Cottrell and the desire to win the Big Ten championship, could spell disaster for the Spartans and Tigers.

Injuries Jinx Spartans in Temple Tilt

Spartan football fans will have six opportunities to look into the future Saturday when the雲, Michigan State and Detroit could each be jinxed by injuries.

Detroit’s game today against Boston College of the Atlantic Coast Conference, will meet Temple at 2 p.m. today in Philadelphia. The game will be played on campus.

Injury may prove the downfall of the Michigan State football team, which will meet Temple University in Philadelphia this afternoon.

Detroit’s May Play

In the event that Cottrell has to be used sparingly, it’s Detroit’s international and local youth who will step into the tackle assignment. The blocking that will take care of it will be handled by Morgan Brothers, Bob McNutt, and Gillis and will probably be adequate.

Temple is expected to be the defense of the Miami Hurricanes. It’s probable that the Spartans will be able to handle it.

Rickey Named Head of Brooklyn Dodgers

Brooklyn, Oct. 29 (AP) — Branch Rickey today announced the release of the New York’s 35-year-old fling with Rickey who holds a record of 19-5 and the American National League with a 13.4 batting average.

Rickey has been named to the 25-man roster for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Van Paassen and Gromer Lecture to M.E.A. Conv, Concl. Today

The Michigan Education assoc. held its annual conference yesterday and today, in the Calvue auditorium at 812 E. Michigan Ave. Dr. K. J. Van Gromer, photography, travel, and adventurer, spoke at the opening session of the conference. His program, "The Background of Art," was designed to bring new life to the world of art. Van Gromer has been the director of the art department in Michigan State University for the past six years. The conference was held at the Calvue auditorium and was attended by approximately 500 people.

(Continued from Page 1) The sponsor of the program, Miss Freeman, has been active in the field of education for the last 15 years. Miss Freeman is a member of the Chi Omega sorority, which has sponsored many functions, last year's sponsor.

The event was attended by Betty Jo Ann Youngman, Alpha Chi Omega from Lakeland, and Miss Joanne Reed of Virginia Tech, who will sponsor the event. The program will feature units of signal corps and communist corps of the military, and it will be held in the Calvue auditorium.

Chosen as the program representative, Betty Jo Ann Youngman, who has exhibited in the military, will replace Mary Lou Johnson. A second program will be held by the Military Brotherhoods, Miss Hemsley will be the program representative. Betty Johnson will serve as the chairperson of the event.

Kennel Club Plans Annual Dog Show

Dogs for Defense will be held at the Kennel Club Kennel Club dog show to be held in the Calvue auditorium on Oct. 18 at 8 p.m. Paneling a dark but realistic picture of the war today, Van Paasen emphasized that war is not a human problem, and churches must think today about post-war peace, ideas on which to build the future and make lasting peace may be written and maintained following the war. The Kennel Club plans an annual dog show to be held in the Calvue auditorium.

Faculty Briefs

Acting as the official representative of President Hannah and the university, President C. E. Knecht of the Liberal Arts division addressed the students of the military academy on behalf of the administration of the late army's new president, Dr. Harvey Turner.

Dr. Turner who was formerly associated with the war, the Michigan Teachers Education study, succeeds Dr. William McCarthy. The average cost of a war is 14 deaths.
