Enemy Counts 15,000 Dead In One Day

Three Nazi Generals Are Among 12,000 Made Captive by Reds

MOSCOW, Wednesday, Nov. 25 (AP) - Russian troops cutting through through weakening Nazi flanks above and below Stalingrad killed 15,000 more Germans yesterday and captured 12,000, including three Nazi divisional generals, and their staris, the Soviet high command announced today.

The huge Russian attempt to encircle a Nazi army of 300,000 stalemated on the frozen approaches to Stalingrad already has cost the enemy 77,000 in dead and captured, not counting huge numbers of wounded, and a special communique said that the Red army winter offensive was gaining steadily in power.

Cut Communications

In the Don river elbow directly west of Stalingrad the Red army already had cut direct Nazi army communications with their faltering forces inside Stalingrad. It was inside the strategic Don river loop that the three Nazi generals were seized.

Twelve more Russian villages were taken in this huge pincers movement. (The German high command in a unique communique finally has admitted the gravity of the situation by acknowledging Soviet penetrations of German defenses.

(The following salty lamentation was written by Joe Neiman, as editor of the Connecticut Campus, during one of the periods of strife and trouble that frequently beset college editors. At the time the paper was conducting a campaign against undesirable conditions in the college dining hall, making relations with some members of the administration strained. Also Neiman was in conflict on many points with the student senate, the body that acts as publishers. The editorial attracted considerable attention at the time of its appearance, and was read at the annual campus banquet, at which time the president of the university, Dr. Albert N. WE HAVE seen the dawn four times this week, and some day shall wax literary over the bright blue colors in the sky and the cold shivers that run up and down the spine at-that hour. We have come out of exams with an empty feeling that betokens no good unless by divine intercession.

We have seen the time for reports come and go, and have watched helplessly or worked feverishly toward the deadline and torn the pages still hot from the typewriter scant minutes before class time. We have met our faculty. and looked up guiltily and wondered if they knew we had Self imposed reflection: just cut the class.

We have gazed enviously at engineers because they work as hard as we do but nobody gets mad at them. We have envied the chem students because they can leave the lab and it does not follow. We envy the football players because they are bruised physically; our soul is seared.

We have said kind things about people because they deserved to be said and unkind things because they were true and people have remembered only the unkind things. We have found 99 mistakes and have corrected them, and the 100th has slipped through and been there for all to

We have run a "campaign" to correct that which we have found is bad and have found that we are imperfect ourselves. Yet we cannot remain at peace with this world; for people view us as knights on white chargers who must bear the never-ending crusade against wrong and injustice.

We have tried to teach our staff the ABCs and been often discouraged; and realize that we will be lucky to learn them ourselves by the time of graduation. We have been promised "copy" by Sunday and it has come in on Tuesday; and we have been blamed for not being able to find and correct the errors in the rush to get a paper out at all.

We are tired in mind and exhausted in body. Willingly would we transfer the cares and duties of office to other shoulders, so that we may sleep. But man must accept his destiny; there are no other shoulders.

At least, this week, we hope WE shall make no enemies. In our editorial column we publish a piece on "The Beauties of Autumn." It is written in basic English, with the kind help of Professor Tilley, so that hidden meanings and implications may not be found there by those who would look for them.

acts. Krebs, who wrote "Out of the Night" under the name Jan Valtin, is accused of illegally entering the country-after once having been arrested and deported and after committing a crime (perjury) involving moral turpitude.

The author had been at liberty on $5,000 bond pending a decision by the Immigration Board of Appeals on his appeal from the deportation proceed-ings. The board voted unanimously for the deportation order on the ground that Krebs had not been a person of good moral character during the past five years and that he was otherwise deportable.
