ONE MAN'S OPINION

By ELLIS BRUNDY

MAN'S MISSION as a Pistons' follower is not easy. The first duty is to support the team and to always look forward to its future. A team's future is always uncertain, and there is a risk of disappointment. But, if a person is a true fan, he should be willing to accept the team's failures and to hope for its successes.

Most Piston fans do not take the team's failures lightly, but they do not give up hope either. They continue to follow the team, and to support it in any way they can. They are aware of the team's weaknesses, but they also see its strengths. They are not afraid to admit that the team may not always win, but they believe that the team can improve, and that it will eventually become a winner.

The mission of a Piston fan is to be a constant source of support for the team. He should be there for the team, to encourage its players, and to give them the confidence they need. He should be a source of strength, to help the team overcome its difficulties, and to guide it to victory.

The mission of a Piston fan is also to be a source of entertainment. He should enjoy the game, and to be able to laugh at the team's mistakes, and to appreciate its good moments. He should be able to see the game in its entirety, and to appreciate its beauty and its complexity.

The mission of a Piston fan is also to be a part of the team, to feel a sense of belonging, and to be a part of the team's history. He should be able to connect with the team, and to feel a sense of pride in it. He should be able to share his experiences, and to be able to pass them on to others.

The mission of a Piston fan is to be a leader, to be a role model, and to inspire others. He should be able to set an example, and to show others the importance of supporting a team, and of being a part of it. He should be able to show others the value of perseverance, and of hard work.

The mission of a Piston fan is also to be a source of inspiration. He should be able to show others the value of having a dream, and of working towards it. He should be able to inspire others to follow their dreams, and to be able to overcome their difficulties.

The mission of a Piston fan is also to be a source of hope. He should be able to show others that, even in the most difficult times, there is always a way forward. He should be able to show others that, even when things seem impossible, there is always a way to achieve success.

Wolverine Power Vested in Big Pitching Staff

From the Bleacher Seat
By JOHN MAHIS

So, from here it seems like this is the time we're asking student body to turn out en masse in support of the team. It's true—we have a great staff, but after being downed to WVU, there's a feeling that the spirits have not yet come back. But after all, it was not a bad game. We had a good offense, and the defense, although it gave up seven runs, was not as bad as the score indicates. But the real key to the game was the pitching. And this is where we have the advantage. Michigan State has a chance to win this game, and I think we will.

Probable Pitcher
Kobs stated that he would consider pitching against WVU. But after being down, he decided that he would not. He did not want to be the one to lose the game. Instead, he would let someone else have the honor. But after all, it was not a bad game.

Supplies for HIM...

help get them through on time!

Last year he was treating some old wounds that you cross every day. This year he's giving all he's got to Uncle Sam.

You're proud of him, of course, and you want to give him all the backing you can. One way you can do it is to help keep telephone lines clear for the vital war calls that affect him. So please follow these suggestions:

1. Make NO long distance call unless it is extremely urgent.
2. When you MUST use long distance, give the number of the called telephone, if you can.
3. Keep ALL your calls - local and long distance - as brief as possible.
