WLBCalls-Halt to Bargaining: FDR Has Case

Effects of Coal Strike-Cramping Fuel Supply Needed for War

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Advise at White House conferenee, President Roosevelt tonight urged coal men and union leaders to save the war, saying that the unions are more important than the strike. He warned that the U.S. would go to war if the coal situation continued.

Within a few hours of the meeting, a union meeting was held in the House of Representatives. The President warned that the U.S. would go to war if the coal situation continued.

Two Allied Blows Strike Pantelleria Harbor

B. D. DANIELS, Des Moines

Criteria for the role of Pacific areas in the Northern Atlantic Ocean, which has 64 miles of the island, included the fact that the island was a key to the Allied air and sea routes.

Despite the capture of the island, the Japanese continued to occupy the island.

Little Opposition

The harbor area, which has been occupied by Allied forces, was held by the Japanese. The harbor area was captured by the Japanese on the 15th.
