Bicycle Bollard

We have learned that professors got tired of stopping and starting during their morning classes along the bicycle path. To remedy this, they have had mounted on the path these guards which automatically block it whenever a moving bicycle comes near them. The guards are not completely foolproof, as this morning Mr. Ogden, the Salad King, met one of them head on. He was not hurt but the bicycle was damaged quite seriously.

CD to Open Drive to Speed Up Sale of War Stamps

J. C. MontBeth

A variety of stamp drives is being started on campus to speed up the sale of war stamps. Members of the CD, according to Professor Stein and Abigail Barlow, the president, are expected to sell stamps to students from morning to night. The stamps will be sold at the entrance and exit to the old gym from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Student Places First in Safety Contest

Though many students have not been able to attend classes because of the war, a few have been safety speakers in various classes. The best speaker was an assistant in the history department.

You'll Feel

Rothley

WETHER it's a slack suit—or separate slacks and shirts, you can be sure that the Rothley label means better style, better tailoring, better fabrics, better quality and better fit. It's the greatest name in quality sportswear and we're proud to feature it in this store.

Grin and Bear It

By Lichty

THE TITLE of "most unoffended" for 1941 among college campuses is given to the B.J.O. group.

This week one of the leading female groups on the campus was featured by the B.J.O. group. The group's president, Mollie Hahn, was the guest of honor. The group's motto is "Never too busy to smile" and the members are known for their good humor and charm.

Personal Thoughts Reflected in Works of Gomer Jones

Gomer Jones, associate professor of composition and theory in the music department, is many things: composer, pianist, scholar, organist, church director. Recently, however, an aspect of Jones' career has been neglected in the paucity of recognition of his musical work. Jones is a composer, pianist, scholar, organist, and church director. Recently, however, an aspect of Jones' career has been neglected in the paucity of recognition of his musical work.

Jones is known for his compositions, which have been performed across the country. His works include several choral pieces, a symphony, and a number of smaller pieces for solo piano. Jones has been active in the music community for many years, serving on committees and panels for music competitions.

Non-coms Win Softball Game from CTD Officers, 22 to 4

BY ANNE HUGHES
Players in the Lansing AA league were agog when the cadet team manager presented a score which put the non-coms in the lead. The team manager, William J. Brown, was euphoric when he announced the score. The cadet team, under the leadership of Sergeant John A. Smith, was defeated by the non-coms, 22 to 4.
