Aloha Baker Will Lecture on 'India Now' Tonight

World's Most Traveled Woman" - Own Film as Illustrations in Discussion of Indian Independence. Part in War Effort

Bringing with her the story of India's part in the world conflict, Aloha Baker will present an illustrated lecture, "India Now," in College auditorium at 8:15 p.m. to-day, according to U. E. Crowe, lecture series chairman.

Recognized as the world's best-traveled woman, she has been in 60 foreign countries while gathering material for her projects. Since America entered the war, she has been busy lecturing throughout the country, making radio appearances and conducting war drives.

The theme of "India Now" tonight will be the Indian contribution to the war effort, particularly through the services of women in the war industries of India.

...to Snatch the Savage

In the face of a degraded civilization, what is a man to do? At least he can hope to snatch a savage in time to save his soul. This was the experience of D. W. Turner, who was manager of Wells Fargo and Co. in San Francisco for a group of 17 years. Last winter he had to leave the city for three months, and when he returned, he found his office door open and a savage staggered in.

Captured in the doorway by a group of employees, the Savage was not the type of man Turner had met in the West before. With the help of Turner's employees, a group of 25 Indians was removed from the city, and the office was turned over to Turner's dog.

Spartans At War
By JERRY KENNEY

Michigan in action was the theme of the information bureau of the State Economic Council and the Michigan Department of Commerce and Industry, which had a booth at the State Fair. The Michigan booth was located in the Union Building, where visitors could find information about Michigan's resources and industries.

On June 26, 1945, Michigan Governor Thomas M. Butts, Jr., visited the Michigan booth and met with Michigan State Fair Commissioner John B. Martin, who gave the governor a tour of the fairgrounds. Governor Butts was also presented with a copy of the Michigan State News, which was the official newspaper of the Michigan State Fair.

The Michigan State News was published weekly during the summer and fall months, with additional special editions for the State Fair and other events. The newspaper covered news and events related to the state of Michigan, including agriculture, industry, education, and government.

The Michigan State News was supported by a grants-in-aid program from the National Advertising Service, which provided funding for the newspaper's production and distribution. The Michigan State News was produced by the Michigan State Fair, which was a public service organization.

Michigan is in a critical state and its first fruits are only beginning to show signs of life. Many people are moving to Michigan, but the state's economy is still struggling. However, the Michigan State Fair, which is scheduled to start on July 26, is expected to bring increased tourism and boost the local economy.

The Michigan State Fair is one of the largest and most popular events in the state, attracting visitors from all over the country. The fair features a variety of attractions, including agricultural exhibits, musical performances, and carnival rides.

The Michigan State News will continue to report on the fair and the state's economy in the coming weeks, providing readers with the latest information and updates. Readers can stay informed by subscribing to the Michigan State News, available for free at the fair and online.

DEAN HALL TAKES LEADING ROLE
in New Training Program

Dean's House Lecture Series, Farmers' Week.

Demonstration hall, the home of Michigan State ROTC, serves as temporary offices for the armed forces on campus during the summer. The site of the expansion of State in its history, the building was used as a training center and was used for summer courses. The present expansion was not found.

Dean Bell, in charge of Michigan State ROTC program, said the building would be used for the military training during the summer. The building was completed in 1943 and will be used for the Army Air Corps.

THE LADY HAS PLANS

MORRIS O. D'ORLEANS, Manager
Bachman Slates Meeting of Football Recruits Today

Spartans Will Begin Summer Practice Monday

With summer practice slated to begin next Monday, Football Coach Charles Bachman has called a meeting of all prospective football players, to be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. in room 215, Jenison gymnasium.

At this initial practice, plans will be made for the coming practice sessions, and general impressions about the caliber of this year's team formed, Bachman said.

Coach's No-Comment

Regarding his former statehood, Coach Bachman would put a team on the field when the time came and that he would be capable of giving interesting opinion to the scheduled team. Bachman made no further comment on prospective players.

A nine-game schedule has been compiled and approved. It includes Michigan and district games, most of which are to be played in the traditional teens Michigan and at the University. The schedule will be a fair test of Ann Arbor's football as well as other sports.

Army: Students Out

Miller先生: The school is somewhat burdened by the necessity of the approximate team during the summer. The team is required to play minor league games. Many schools include Michigan in their schedules in order to get teams, but the University, due to budget and schedule reasons, can not do the same.

An exception to this is the Federal Aviation, which has been able to include Scotty on its schedule. A football against them.
