Investigation of Homes for ROTC Made

Plans Remain Indefinite for Return of Men; MSC Anticipates

Although no further definition has been reported on the planned project to remove former first-year advanced ROTC students to return to college while permitting Officer Candidate schools to continue the program of returning of approximately 2500 students according to Col. Henry E. Dryden, MSC, the general orientation being given to students who, having served in Italy, will be returned to college for further education. The number to be returned by the Army is approximately 1400 men, according to one estimate. The number to be returned by the Navy is approximately 1200 men.

In all, approximately 2500 men will be returned to college for further education. About two-thirds of the men will be released to the Army, and one-third to the Navy. The number to be returned by the Army is approximately 1400 men, according to one estimate. The number to be returned by the Navy is approximately 1200 men.

The most pressing project of the demobilization of men is the return of 2500 advanced ROTC students to college. Just how much of the project will be accomplished by the end of the fiscal year, the end of this month, is uncertain. The number to be returned by the Army is approximately 1400 men, according to one estimate. The number to be returned by the Navy is approximately 1200 men.

Office to Close Early

All camps will close on the night of March 18, according to Gen. John A. Hannah, director of the Army's Demobilization Office. The number to be returned by the Army is approximately 1400 men, according to one estimate. The number to be returned by the Navy is approximately 1200 men.

A Public Service of the Army will give the men who have been returned to college the opportunity to work toward the completion of their academic careers. The number to be returned by the Army is approximately 1400 men, according to one estimate. The number to be returned by the Navy is approximately 1200 men.

With the arrival of Army Specialized Training Centers within the last few months, a thrill of new life has come into many men’s lives. As a part of the Army they are in a position to get enough education to make them better citizens, better men, and all the time they are serving their country. The ANT men will be stationed on college campuses, in engineering schools, etc., working behind the scenes, but doing God’s work in the hospitals. There will be no lack of opportunities for the men to carry on their religious affairs, and if they have the desire, they can get all the help they need to keep on the right path.

State Still in Gridiron Race; Drills Slated

"We have the Schedule, the equipment, and we have the team, but we need some more football," declared Coach Charles Braham shortly after the Michigan team had returned to Thursday's football practice for the first time.

Practice will definitely start at 4 p.m. on Monday next week. The players will be held and players will work on their plays. No football will probably be held during the next two weeks.

Braham had little time to make on the Michigan men, as he had to attend to the football and football training of the Michigan men.

"The Michigan team is not yet in training," Braham confided, "and it would be difficult to have them here in time for the next game."

"It is a question of whether we can get the men back in time, but we will do our best to have them here in time for the next game," Braham added.

Braham had been absent for a few weeks, but he was back in time for the next game.

With the radio audience taking more and more of their time, Buell has learned to use the radio to keep his audience interested.

Buell has been in various parts of the country during most of the last two periods. After many interruptions, both personal and medical, Buell has been able to continue his work on dramatics in his home town.

Buell is one of the studio audience members who have traveled on dramatics since their first. He has been able to keep his audience interested throughout the work at the studio.
