Point 1?

Some good odds half a year, ask for some helpful hints for life, ask for the first time in up to two months. This is the story of a boy from the traditional world of A&M men whose names are written between second and third fingers. After the name is printed, the man's name is usually printed in class number.

The Michigan State news was sent to the press this week to announce the appointment of Coach Paul S. Hazen to the position of athletic director. Hazen, who has been assistant football coach at the University of Michigan, replaces Coach R. M. Cooper, who resigned last month.

The Michigan State news also announced that the football team would play its first game of the season against the University of Notre Dame on Saturday, September 14. The game will be played at Ann Arbor, Mich., and is expected to draw a large crowd.

The Michigan State news also reported that the basketball team would begin its season on January 1, 1935. The team will play its first game against the University of Illinois.

The Michigan State news also announced that the track team would begin its season on April 1, 1935. The team will compete in several meets throughout the spring and summer.

In a letter to the editor, Coach Hazen said that he was looking forward to the new season and was confident that the team would perform well.

The Michigan State news also reported that the Michigan State University Board of Regents had approved a new budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935. The budget includes funding for new buildings and facilities, as well as increased salaries for faculty and staff.

In other news, the Michigan State news announced that the university had received a large donation from an anonymous donor. The donor, who wishes to remain anonymous, has pledged to donate funds to support the university's athletic programs.

Physics Building Claims Title of 'House of Many Levels' in New Lab Now Provides Soldier Classrooms

By Emily Bashell

The $200,000 addition is the building's first major improvement. The new laboratory is being used by physics majors and students interested in advanced studies in the sciences.

The addition to the building is designed to accommodate the growing number of physics students. The new laboratory provides additional space for lecture halls, classrooms, and research facilities.

Combined State Fair, 4-H Club Show to Be Holiday Attraction

Demonstrations, Exhibits, Judging to Highlight Labor Day Program

A combined State 4-H Club and Farm Fair will be held on campus Monday, Sept. 4. This second annual state 4-H clinic will demonstrate the contributions of 4-H'ers to the war effort.

Bringing the fair to the fore will be 680 4-H'ers, who will participate in the first annual 4-H'ers Days of Service, an event anticipated during the war. The fair will be open to 4-H'ers of all states and will provide an opportunity for all of America to watch a large-scale demonstration of the work of 4-H'ers, both on and off the farm.

The fair will move from the main campus to the state fairgrounds, where it will be held in the latter part of the month. Four judges will be chosen from the state and will be responsible for the selection of the exhibits. The fair will include a large number of exhibits, including those from all of the states. The fair will begin at 10 a.m. and will continue until 5 p.m. The 4-H'ers Days of Service, which will be held on the following day, will include a large number of exhibits, including those from all of the states.
