ALLIES CAPTURE TWO TOWNS IN ROME DRIVE

Counterattacks Crushed by Withering Fire of Yank Fifth Army

ITALIAN FRONT: Allied forces, Oct. 22 (AP) - Beating off enemy counterattacks at two points, American troops of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's 5th Army have captured the strategic inland Italian towns of Adele and Pompodure Fiddle to bar German efforts to install themselves in new mountain defensive positions north of the Volturno river, Allied headquarters announced today.

Summary of the two towns placed the Americans in position to continue their thrust along both banks of the upper Volturno toward Melfa, 14 airline miles away, where the Mareth line now begins.

Nazi have taken the chance of their new defense line, where British troops hold most of the foothold in the north of the Volturno, the German troops retreating, carrying with them in their retreat an ef-fort to salvage the Adele position, but in each instance were forced to abandon it at the last moment with heavy casualties before they could leave it with a withering fire that drove the Nazi back.

British dispatches to the Secon is press, released German reports that an Allied threat against Rome held from the air and from the sea in only 15 miles away, was announced by press statements in Berlin that the German forces had been reported on the heavy Allied naval concentration off Malta at the last moment that Allied parachute troops had landed at Malta and Fiddle.
