Low Allied Shipping Losses Credited to Use of Bases in Portugal

WASHINGTON, Dec 13 AP—Navy vessels from the United States, Great Britain and the other Allies have been able to escape heavy losses from German submarines because of their use of bases in the Portuguese carrying area.

*Germans Suffer Heavy Losses in Tight Battle

LONDON, Dec 9 AP—The Red army attacked within 18 miles of the industrial center of Kirov and Russia today and the Soviet Union was able to push the German forces back towards the Kirov River by nightfall yesterday.

In the evening the young men, who were among the first to return from the fight, arrived in Vitebsk, the capital of the Vitebsk region. They were greeted by cheering crowds of people who had gathered around the railroad station to welcome them home.

Chinese Recover Changta in Rush Against Invaders

COURTING Dec 9 AP—A Chinese officer and his wife were killed last night in an attack by Japanese soldiers near the city of Changta, but the Chinese were able to take the town back later in the day.

AVIATION NEWS

The news from the eastern front as of 6 a.m. today shows that the hard-fighting army group led by General von Rundstedt was approximately 100 miles southwest of Moscow, with the enemy's left flank on the Vistula River. Although there were reports of a possible German advance in the north, the general's headquarters was in receipt of reports that the enemy was moving southward in a determined effort to break through the defense lines. The general's headquarters was also informed that the enemy was moving northward in an attempt to cut off the retreat of the Fifth Western Army Group.
